YOU have to SCARE THEM!

IT WOULD SEEM that the logical necessity of having a safe deposit box in which jewelry and papers and valuables could be placed would be apparent to every sensible man or woman.

But it isn't. You have to tell them "ghost stories" about burglars and their "guns", about sneak thieves and their dangers; you have to picture vividly the real menace of fire.

Be reasonable. Go today to rent a Security Safe Deposit Box, because it is the logical thing to do.

VOTE! VOTE! VOTE!

THERE ARE 572,139 REGISTERED VOTERS IN LOS ANGELES CITY AND COUNTY. Each is eligible to vote in the primary election today, and each, whether casting a ballot or remaining away from the polls, will be directly affected by the outcome. If a sufficient number of well-informed electors register a decision as to the best qualified candidates for Congress, the Legislature, the Judiciary, District Attorney and the Board of Supervisors, government will be improved, with consequent benefits for the entire citizenship. Failure of a representative expression by the electorate will be reflected in disadvantages both to the whole citizenship and to the individual. Meeting of Body to Present Agriculture Program to Congress Planned

General Says Klan Not Topic of Confab at President's Paternal Home

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BELLINGHAM (Vt.) Aug. 25.—Charles G. Dawes, Republican Vice-Presidential candidate, visited for two hours this afternoon with President Coolidge at the latter's paternal home here discussing politics, government business—particularly the agricultural situation—European conditions and conferring with his host for a battalion of photographers.

For the last fifteen minutes he was with newspaper men in the summer business office over the general store, telling them "in so many words" why he came, what he talked about with the President and why he wouldn't discuss the international situation or the political outlook.

Coolidge filling his pipe to one side of his mouth as he entered the sparsely furnished office, followed by more than a score of correspondents, Mr. Dawes turned suddenly, before a question could be put to him, banged his fist on a table and said:

"I've said we did not discuss the Ku Klux Klan question.

"I've said we did discuss the question of agriculture and more particularly the report of the commission which the President expects to appoint to investigate agricultural conditions. That's why I came here."

SEVERAL QUESTIONS

Several questions were shot at him but all asked the nominee puffed silently on his briar, replying only with "ask the President." Until I get on the stump I don't know, I'm no politician," and "I have not been active so far for not saying anything."

Pressed for a statement on the Klan question and the reference to his speech at Augusta in which he announced opposition to the Klan, Mr. Dawes declared, striking the table as he announced each word: "There can be no place in the right which is a right reaction."

BOYS' PLEA CONCLUDED

Parents Blamed in Franks Case

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—Attorney Clarence Darrow this evening finished his eight-hour plea for the lives of Nathan F. Leopold and Richard Loeb.

And then the defendants stepped toward the attorney and shook his hands before they went out with their guards.

BLAMES FATHERS

In his plea that the lives of young Richard Loeb and Nathan Leopold be spared from the gallows, the veteran attorney figuratively dragged the parents of the boys before the bench of Judge Caverly and blamed them for the murder of little Robert Franks. He said they were more responsible for the crime than their sons. He blamed both fathers for cursing their boys with riches and he pictured before the court the two fathers who had succeeded in amassing piles of money, but who had failed with tragic results in the upbringing of their sons.

In the case of young Richard Loeb, Mr. Darrow hinted at an hereditary family insanity. In the case of young Leopold the lawyer blamed not only the father for allowing the lad to study the superman philosophy of Nietzsche, but condemned the University of Chicago, where the boy studied that philosophy, and the publishing house which printed Nietzsche's works, and thus made them available to him.

Turning to young Loeb, Mr. Darrow said with a ring of pity:

"I know there is no better citizen in Chicago than the father of this poor boy. I know there is no better woman than his mother. But I am going to be honest with this court if it is at the expense of both. I know that one of two things happened to this boy; that this terrible crime was inherent in his organism, and comes from some ancestor, or that it came through his education and his training after he was born. Do I need to prove it?"

SUGAR DUTY SLASH PLAN IS OPPOSED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Opposition to a reduction in the duty on sugar is expressed in a letter to President Coolidge signed by Charles W. Holman as secretary of the National Board of Farm Organizers and the National Co-operative Milk Producers' Federation.

Mr. Holman declares that the farm interests are against any cut in duties, as recommended by three of the six members of the Tariff Commission, partly because of a desire for adequate protection for growers on sugar beets, and also because precedents established in the case will have a direct bearing on decisions in cases affecting duties on butter, vegetable oils and casein.

Mr. Holman states that the agricultural groups which he represents are not in sympathy with the flexible tariff system. He thinks that continual investigations by the tariff commission tend to upset conditions more seriously than when changes in duties were made only by Congress.

The Holman letter is understood to be similar in tone to communications from other farm bodies to President Coolidge, who has been studying the sugar report of the tariff commission while at his father's home in Vermont.

RECEIVER FOR WILSON & CO.

Head of "Big Four" Packing-House Announces Plan to Fight Proceedings

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—Wilson & Co., Inc., one of the "big four" packing houses, has been placed in the hands of a receiver on a complaint filed in Trenton, N. J., today.

The complaint came from Maurice I. Klein of Newark. It was made before Vice-Chancellor John H. Backes, who temporarily named State Banking Commissioner Edward Maxson of New Jersey as receiver.

Klein's complaint was a lengthy one attached to an insolvency charge. In it he alleges that the packing concern is indebted to various banking institutions for almost $30,000,000 and has a funded debt outstanding of $47,177,000.

TO BE CONTESTED

The receivership will be contested by the company, according to a telegram received in the Chicago office from Thomas E. Wilson, head of Wilson & Co., who now is in New York.

Mr. Wilson's message stated that the proceedings had been started by a small stockholder and without any notice to the company.

While the company had been doing a large and satisfactory business, its indebtedness had become topheavy and a refinancing plan was announced last February contemplating the issuance of prior preferred stock. This aroused opposition from certain preferred stockholders and that plan was defeated at the time. Then came the formation of a bankers' committee headed by Mr. Wetmore.

ALLEGES INSOLVENCY

Klein states that he is holder of twenty-five shares of Wilson & Co. stock with a par value of $2500, and contends that in at least two recent instances where interest fell due on the company's stocks and bonds the defendant had no cash on hand to pay the stockholders.

Wilson & Co. recently acquired a rending plant on the outskirts of Trenton and has large packing-houses in many parts of the world. Headquarters are in Chicago. Its stock is listed on the New York Stock Exchange and other leading exchanges throughout the world.

WILBUR FOR COURT POWER

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

ST. PAUL, Aug. 25.—"Certain inalienable human rights" might be menaced if final decision on constitutionality of the nation's laws was given to Congress instead of the Supreme Court, Curtis D. Wilbur, Secretary of the Navy, said in an address today.

En route to the Pacific Coast, the Naval Secretary spent the day in St. Paul, once the home of Mrs. Wilbur, and spoke at a luncheon at the St. Paul Athletic Club with "Liberty" as his general theme.

HITS LA FOLLETTE PLAN

Referring to individual liberties under the Constitution, the speaker declared "some are made impatient by the delays occasioned by the constitutional method of amending that instrument," and pointed to Senator La Follette's proposal to make constitutional any law re-enacted by Congress after the Supreme Court had held it unconstitutional.

"The plea is made that this is a government of the people by the people and for the people and that the people should have a right to establish the law," Secretary Wilbur said.

INALIENABLE RIGHTS

"There are two fundamental fallacies in this assertion. The first is that Congress is not the people of the United States and the second is that the glory of our government and its foundation stone is that there are certain human rights that are inalienable and no majority can take them away, no matter how great.

"To permit Congress to pass laws infringing these fundamental rights, after decision of the Supreme Court that they are unconstitutional, is to make Congress supreme in the domain of human rights and conscience."

MARX NEGOTIATES WITH NATIONALISTS FOR VOTE

Chancellor Repeats Threats While Hoping Opposition Will Quit; Robinson on Young Staff

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BERLIN, Aug. 25.—While reporting daily the fact that it will not hesitate to dissolve the Reichstag should the Dawes legislation meet the refusal of this assembly, the German government still is tenderly nursing a hope that the Nationalists will give up their opposition.

Germans in French and Belgian jails as political prisoners have sent telegrams demanding that the Nationalists give up their resistance of the London agreement. Nationalistic emissaries from Germany in the occupied zone are unanimous in their pleas, saying:

SPOKESMAN STUBBORN

"The London agreement imposes a scarcely bearable burden on all of us, but at least it gives us a date of possible liberation. Accept the London agreement for our sake."

Herr Hergt spoke for the Nationalists in the Reichstag today.

"We recognize that the London agreement showed that the Allies are trying for the first time to come to an agreement with Germany," he said.

But, he contended, this is not enough to induce them to accept the London agreement and give up Germany's right to claim the immediate evacuation of the Ruhr.

SECRET PARLEY ON

Herr Hergt indicated clearly that his party would be interested in the London agreement if it could obtain a share in the government. Negotiations between the German People's party and the Nationalists for the eventual cooperation of the Nationalists in the Cabinet were carried out today secretly. Secrecy was necessary, since the People's party knows that the Democrats and Center party, who are in the Cabinet with them, are against Nationalist collaboration. The Democrats and Center party prefer to see the Reichstag dissolved than the Nationalists in the Cabinet. This greatly increases the complications of the German crisis.

HUGE STATE VOTE SEEN

Greater Interest Shown by Voters of California Than for Decade

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 25.—The campaign in California's biennial primary election, set for tomorrow, closed tonight, the record registration of 1,821,653 indicating the balloting will be heavier than that of the usual primary.

There are twenty-seven candidates for the eleven Congressional offices. Forty-seven candidates are seeking the twenty seats in the State Senate, while 214 are contending for the eighty places in the State Assembly.

There are ten candidates for the nine judicial offices, the chief of these being Chief Justice of the Supreme Court.

The election will retire Mrs. Mae E. Nolan, lone Congresswoman, who has decided that she does not want to keep the office she now holds after her term expires. The Fifth Congress District, which Mrs. Nolan represents, is a strong union-labor district, and there are four aspirants for the nomination of the two major parties there. The Socialist nomination is sought by another woman, Isabel C. King.

The legislative campaign has developed a distinct cleavage between the so-called progressives and the State administration forces, the former favoring a return to the policies of United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson.

The registration is the largest in the history of the State. The Republicans lead with 1,084,997; the Democrats are second with 367,277; the Socialists third with 19,544, and the Prohibitionists fourth with 19,059. Those who declined to give their party affiliations number 129,508, and the miscellaneous are listed at 1068. There will be 7319 polling places to accommodate the electorate.

For the nine judicial offices the only contest is in the Third Appellate Court District where Justice J. A. Plummer is opposed by J. Charles Jones, a deputy in the office of Atty.-Gen. U. S. Webb. The Third Appellate District comprises thirty-five counties in Northern and Central California and is the largest judicial district in the State in point of area.

In the First, Third and Ninth Congress Districts the incumbent Representatives will be nominated without opposition. Representative Curry in the Third District, however, will have opposition in the November finals from James H. Barkley, a Socialist of Sacramento, who appears on the primary ballot as the sole candidate of his party.

Interesting contests are expected in the Second, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, Eighth, Tenth and Eleventh Congress Districts where the incumbents are meeting some stiff competition. In every district, except the Fifth in San Francisco county, the incumbent Congressmen are seeking renomination.

Three associate justices will be nominated to succeed themselves without opposition in the First District Court of Appeal and two Justices in the Second District Court of Appeal.

ITALY LAUDS SEA RESCUE

Locatelli Saving Wins Thanks

Mussolini Extends Praise to American Navy for Feat in Finding Aviator

United States Flyers Are to Hop Again Today; Due in Boston by Friday

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—The warmest and deepest thanks for the rescue by the American Navy of Lieut. Locatelli, missing Italian aviator, off the coast of Greenland was conveyed in a message received by the Italian Embassy today from Premier Mussolini.

Directing the charge d'affaires to express these feelings to the Washington government, the Premier said:

"Following the news of the rescue of Locatelli and his companions, thanks to the efforts of the American Navy, I have expressed to the American Ambassador in Rome the gratitude of the royal government for that most noble proof of human solidarity and comradeship performed by the American forces."

The appreciation of Italy for the service performed was expressed by officials of the Embassy in calls at the State, War and Navy departments, and messages of congratulation and relief in the rescue were transmitted by both Italian and American officials here to American officers on flight duty and to Lieut. Locatelli himself.

ALL FEEL RELIEF

Regret that the Italian flyer had been compelled by engine trouble to land at sea, and that he could not continue with the American world flyers was general, but Maj.-Gen. Patrick, chief of the Army Air Service, expressed the common feeling when he said this regret had been overshadowed by the relief felt by all officials when advices were received telling of the rescue.

For this happy circumstance, he added, the Navy deserves all credit.

According to a tentative schedule worked out by Air Service officers the American flyers, commanded by Lieut. Smith, are expected to leave Ivigtut, Greenland, tomorrow on the flight that will land them again on the North American Continent. It is regarded as certain that the flyers will go direct to Indian Harbor, Labrador, where they will take on fuel, and, in all probability then jump to Cartwright Harbor, where anchor buoys have been prepared for them.

Indian Harbor is classed by the Air Service as a restricted harbor, small in size, and, in the opinion of officials there, will not afford the protection from storm that is available at Cartwright, forty miles south. The stop at Indian Harbor, however, is held to be neces-

HOOVER SAYS STATE IN LINE

BY ROBERT B. ARMSTRONG
"Times" Staff Correspondent
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Secretary of Commerce Hoover returned to his office today after several weeks in California well satisfied with the evidence of harmony among Republican political leaders of the State in a concentrated effort to secure the election of Calvin Coolidge to the Presidency.

Secretary Hoover declined to issue any formal statement as to the amount of the vote Calvin Coolidge would have as plurality but told some of his friends that he was impressed with the general harmony of all the Republican leaders to organize and get out the largest possible vote for the President now in office for another term.

HARMONY IS FOUND

He said in the large number of counties in California that he visited he found harmonious conditions restored and real Republicans in charge making every effort to get the largest registration of voters and get all those registered to the polls. Apathy is the thing to be feared on the part of both men and women voters and if this is overcome he believes that California will demonstrate that its Republican preponderance is increasing.

Friends of Mr. Hoover with whom he talked after his arrival in Washington said he believes that La Follette will draw heavily from the Democrats in California and that the Democrats there will run a poor third. The registration figures already published show such a preponderance of Republicans over the Democrats and other voters that the tendency is for the Republican rank and file to be over confident. Hard work and the actual recording of every Republican vote in the State are the price of final success this fall and such a result will come only with concentrated and well-organized effort and the getting out of the vote. Registration of voters as long as legally permitted is considered by him as of the greatest importance next to the actual recording of all Republican votes in the State both men and women with especial reference to new voters.

CONFERS WITH BUTLER

Secretary Hoover was impressed especially by the harmony in the Republican organizations all over the State and especially in the counties which control the largest vote. He is delighted and impressed by the prospects, provided apathy and indifference are overcome and the voters do not rely on a big registration to carry the day. He is urging his California friends to leave nothing undone to make a record Republican vote in the State at the November election.

Secretary Hoover stopped off at Chicago for a conference with Chairman Butler and went over the California situation in detail with him explaining the requirements there and giving details for an aggressive campaign with a harmonious effort for the election of President Coolidge.

ERIE VOTES FOR UNION OF LINES

Directors Ready to be Part of Nickel Plate Group

Proposed Combine Will Have $1,500,000,000 Value

One Road Yet Remains to Signify Willingness

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—Directors of the Erie Railroad Company today approved the offer of the Van Sweringen interests of Cleveland to consolidate the road with four others into their proposed $1,500,000,000 Nickel Plate system.

The action of the Erie Railroad virtually completes the merger plans of the Van Sweringen interests, which will result in unification of almost 14,000 miles of railways in the eastern section of the country.

Directors of the present "Nickel Plate" system already have approved the merger, as have the Chesapeake and Ohio and Hocking Valley systems. The sole remaining undecided road is the Pere Marquette, but its directors are said to be favorably inclined and the Van Sweringen brothers also are said to control a large proportion of its stock.

The Erie directors in approving the Van Sweringens offer followed the recommendations of the executive committee, which reached an agreement last week after slight revisions had been made in the plan.

Terms outlined by the Van Sweringen brothers to the Erie board provided that holders of Erie first and second preferred shares would receive 50 per cent of their holdings in preferred stock of the new company. Common stockholders would receive 40 per cent of their holdings in new common shares.

MARX DICKERS ON AGREEMENT

Constantinople goes definitely to Turkey; peace between Greece and Turkey; compulsory exchange of populations, the Greeks in Turkey to return to Greece and the Turks in Greece to Turkey.

Great Britain, Greece and Turkey have ratified the treaty.

Owen D. Young of New York is to serve temporarily as agent-general under the Dawes reparations plan, probably for three months, during which time he will get the staff well organized and break in his permanent successor. In this work he will be aided by Rufus C. Dawes, brother of Gen. Dawes, and Henry M. Robinson, who like Young served on the expert committees which drew up the plan.

Seymour Parker Gilbert, Jr., recently Under-Secretary of the Treasury, is mentioned for the permanent post of agent-general, but in reparation circles it is said the selection has not yet been finally made.

Officially, the Dawes plan is inoperative, pending ratification by the French and German parliaments and signature of the agreement, which has thus far been only initialed by the negotiators.

SENATE VOTE NEAR

The French Senate will probably vote tomorrow but the German Reichstag session is likely to last until next Thursday.

The appointment of an American as a voting member of the Reparation Commission is understood to still be uncertain. James A. Logan, Jr., the American observer with the commission, is favored for the place, but he refuses to discuss the suggestion, and it is known that many of his friends believe his considerable influence might better be exercised by continuing in his unofficial capacity, leaving another Americans to assume the voting power.

Rufus Dawes and Robinson were probably the only important appointees to be named by Young, as the various countries will choose their representatives and the total personnel of the agency-general will not be large.

DEFENSE RESTS IN FRANKS CASE

carefully avoided by all the alienist witnesses in the case, occasionally became Mr. Darrow's topic. In a deft manner he threw out the suggestion that insanity should be the term to consider, not diseased minds or abnormal mentalities, as the experts call it. He talked about "Dickie" and "Babe" being left to governesses and tutors at a period of their lives when "boys go insane." Describing the crime as carried out by the boys, he raised his voice and asked, "Can you imagine a sane brain doing it?" Getting around to Richard Loeb, he discussed diology and the influence of forbears in a family strain. Directing an attack against Nietzsche, Mr. Darrow once called that philosopher a maniac and on another occasion impressed upon Judge Caverly that he had died insane.

"Poor little rich boys," is the way Mr. Darrow pictured "Dickie" and "Babe." "Poor little boys," whose fathers did not know how to bring them up, but spoiled them with money. "Poor little rich boys," who had their fling at thrill and excitement, kidnaping and murder, and who now appear in the criminal court as humble as the poorest of poor boys and ask that their lives be spared.

"Too much, too great, opportunity and advantage given to a child is its misfortune, and I am asking Your Honor to consider the rich as well as the poor and nothing else," said Mr. Darrow, with sympathy for the rich in his voice and manner.

ASSAILS RICHES

He got down to bedrock. "Can I find what was wrong?" he asked, and he answered himself. "I think I can." Then he launched into the riches that blasted the lives of Richard Loeb and Nathan Leopold, Jr.

He went back to his own boyhood, a boyhood without riches. He was lucky that he had no money in his boyhood, Mr. Darrow said.

"The terrible misfortune in this case is that they had money," their advocate shouted. "That has destroyed their lives." He pounded the desk in his emphasis.

"That has given them these illusions," he went on, with another blow.

"That has caused this mad act," he shouted with a tone of horror in his voice. Then looking squarely at Judge Caverly and pointing the long finger of his right hand at the solemn-faced judge, he said:

"And if Your Honor shall doom these men to die it will be because they are the sons of the rich."

"If Your Honor decorates the gallows with these two boys," he said, "Your Honor will be the first in Chicago ever to do such a deed. There is no precedent for it; there can be no excuse for it; there can be no justification for it, either in humanity or in the law."

He proved that no boy of 19 had ever been hanged in Cook county after he had pleaded guilty to murder. He had said that if Judge Caverly would hang a 19-year-old boy, some other judge could hang a boy of 18, or 17, or 14. He had pleaded for progress, for mercy and kindness and understanding and love, not for Leopold and Loeb alone, but for all boys, for all men.

DAMNS LAWYERS

He damned the lawyers generally for their lack of kindness and their ignorance of science.

"If a man is sick of typhoid" he said, "a doctor will examine the water and the milk to find out the cause that he may effect a cure and prevent the disease from spreading.

"A lawyer would try to cure the typhoid victim by sending him to jail for thirty days. If the man was well in fifteen days he would be required to stay another fifteen days because his time was not up. And if he were still sick at the end of thirty days he would be cast out of prison because his sentence had expired."

He said that hanging was not a punishment, it was an exhibition. Boys of 7 years of age had been hanged in England, hanged at the crossroads or on top of a high hill, left hanging until their bones had bleached. That was the way to hang, if there was any virtue in hanging.

He spoke of "the friendly judge" —the testimony to the effect that Leopold said his father had money and influence and he could plead guilty before a friendly judge and so escape the rope. He called it a blow below the belt. He called it a deliberate lie. He called it a poisoned piece of perjury with a purpose—the purpose being to influence the trial judge—to make him fear that if he saved a life people would call him a friendly judge.

CITES WAR'S EFFECT

He had talked of the war, the talk of killing absorbed by babies, killing, killing, killing—taught in the public schools, in the Sunday-schools, talked of a world drenched in blood, a world that came to believe that a human life was nothing, the least sacred thing there was. Had this influenced boys to crime? Of course it had. All wars left conditions that fattened crime. War and education and money, they were all to blame for the murder of Bobbie Franks.

He spoke of the welfare of the community and the evil that a hanging would cause—an evil no man might measure. He spoke of what hope these two 19-year-old boys might have of some day getting out of prison, and of their families and the disgrace that would never end.

"Oh, I know it would be easy and popular for you to hang my clients," he said. Men and women who do not think, would applaud. The cruel and thoughtless would approve. It would be easy today — but the future will be with me—the future that would think and understand.

Your Honor stands between the future and the past.

"You may hang them, but if you do Your Honor will turn your face to the past, making it harder for every other boy, for countless thousands of unborn children.

"I am trying to save them all, and every human being who has a hope and a belief and an aspiration and a faith is trying to save them—for all life is worth saving. And mercy is the highest attribute of man."

Time after time Darrow paused, then went ahead. It was as though he were saying his last good-by to the law, to his life work—and as though he wanted to put off the final word until it could be delayed no longer. He talked until court adjourned—and hung his head, and was still.

LEOPOLD, SR., BOWS HEAD

Nathan Leopold, Sr., faced the music in court. He was there with his head bowed, his eyes to the floor, deep lines in his face, listening to the lawyer place upon him the brand of being one of those more responsible for the death of Bobbie Franks than his son on trial.

Albert H. Loeb and his wife, however, remained at their summer home in Charlevoix, Mich., and will not learn of Mr. Darrow's shafts directed at them until their other son Allen talked to them on the telephone.

Judge John R. Caverly, who holds the fate of Leopold and Loeb in his hands, is going into seclusion when the hearing is over to review all the testimony and arguments and decided upon his verdict. He has not yet chosen his hiding place and will keep it a secret when he does. He does not know how long he will remain in seclusion, but the fate of Leopold and Loeb will be written in some quiet place where everything can be studied at leisure.

BACHRACH SPEAKS TODAY

The judge is due to get the case at the end of this week or early next week. Benjamin Bachrach will begin his speech for the defense tomorrow and said he would talk two days. Darrow wanted his speech to be the last thing in the judge's ears, but the Bachrach brothers, who originally were employed for the defense and who brought Darraw into it, have something to say and the parents of the murderers have sustained their contention.

State's Attorney Crowe will close for the State in a speech that is expected to run over into Monday, at least, possibly longer.

Judge Caverly will adjourn court indefinitely immediately after the arguments are completely. He said today he might require two weeks to go over all the data in the case.

MRS. FERGUSON VICTORY GROWS

Texas Governor Nominee's Majority 89,372

Move to Expunge Husband's Ousting from Record

"Ma's" Running Mate Acts to Clear ex-Executive

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

DALLAS (Tex.) Aug. 25.—With the former record bested and the vote rapidly mounting to a new high record, a total of 765,057 votes in last Saturday's primary had been tabulated tonight by the Texas Election Bureau, when the final totals for the day were made. Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson of Temple, the victorious Democratic gubernatorial nominee, had a lead of 89,372 over Felix D. Robertson, of Dallas, her opponent.

An effort to expunge from the records of Texas all references to the impeachment of James E. Ferguson, is favored by Barry Miller of Dallas, who apparently is the Democratic nominee for Lieutenant Governor and if elected to that office, would be president of the State Senate. It was the impeachment of Gov. Ferguson and his inability to get his own name on the ballot as a candidate for Governor this year which put Mrs. Ferguson into the race.

Mrs. Ferguson's husband was impeached in office, August, 1917. It was partly the plea of vindication of her husband and more the stand she took against the Ku Klux Klan which made Mrs. Ferguson Saturday's nominee.

For two years the Klan has dominated politics in the State to a greater or less degree in every county. Two years ago Senator Earle B. Mayfield was elected with indorsement of the Klan, at the same time that many county officials of the densely populated regions were elected on that ticket.

The most determined fight ever made by a people has been made this year to oust the Klan from its position in the governing circles with the result that all anti-Klan forces united for Mrs. Ferguson when she and the Klan candidate were left to fight it out for the Democratic nomination in the second primary.

Mrs. Ferguson is the mother of two children and has one grandson. She is a farmer's wife. She was born in the State.

Mrs. Ferguson declares "she will be Governor after she is sworn into office, not her husband."

"With reference to matters affecting education and the social welfare and particularly the interests of the homes and women and children, the efficient enforcement of the law and the maintenance of peace and good order, I think my judgment is as good and in some respects better than my husband's, and with reference to such matters I shall be guided by my own judgment in the light of such knowledge of conditions as I may be able to acquire," says the gubernatorial nominee in a statement. "By adopting this course I believe I will be able to render a valuable public service to the people of Texas, without any domestic controversy or discord."

"MA" WILL USE BROOM ON CAPITAL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Aug. 25. — The Texas capital will be ruled by an efficient housekeeper — one who will use kitchen-sweeping tactics in clearing out the mess of politics —when "Ma" Ferguson takes office, according to Mrs. George Nalle, daughter of the woman who has just won the Democratic nomination in the Lone Star State.

"Mother isn't a militant suffragist, as she has been pictured," Mrs. Nalle said. "Primarily she is a mother and a home maker, but she also is a capable administrator, whether of the family funds or State affairs."

It was brought to the attention of Mrs. Nalle that New Yorkers considered the nomination of Mrs. Ferguson really a renomination of "Jim" Ferguson—that he would really run the affairs of the State.

"Ma'll be the boss; she'll probably be guided by the experience of dad, but if they differ she'll have the final say. And they differ on many things," the daughter answered. "It's really a sacrifice for ma to take on this responsibility, but she certainly don't delegate it to dad. She'll make her own decisions."

Mrs. Ferguson got her start in politics at Baylor College in class affairs. After she married Jim Ferguson she was more or less connected with politics, because Jim for the last fifteen years has been a factor in Texas elections.

EAST COAST STORM GOES OUT TO SEA

Island Inhabitants Off Shore of North Carolina Are Reported Safe

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

RALEIGH (N. C.) Aug. 25.—The tropical storm which swung up the coast and struck North Carolina today, passed Fort Macon tonight and headed out to sea.

Messages said very little damage had been done.

At the same time information was received that communication had been re-established with Ocracoke Island, about thirty miles from the mainland, and that the inhabitants were safe. Communication with the island was lost at noon and fears had been expressed for the safety of the residents, many of whom were summer visitors.

Wilmington and Wrightsville also escaped without damage, fears of the residents being dispelled by announcement of the weather bureau that the storm had passed to sea and all danger in that vicinity had passed.

At Wrightsville, the seas were running higher than usual, but the waters which earlier were reported near the Lovett railway trestle had receded.

Similarly at Southport, the wind veered suddenly to the west at 9:30 o'clock and greatly diminished in velocity.

PLANS LAID IN DRIVE OF NEW PARTY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Campaign strategy was discussed by Senator La Follette of Wisconsin, independent candidate for President, and Senator Wheeler of Montana, his running-mate, for eight hours today at an executive conference with their principal supporters.

The candidates discussed what was to be said in their campaign, where it was to be said, and indorsed tentative arrangements for them by campaign committees, but when John M. Nelson, the national manager, left for Chicago late today, participants declared that little had been put in shape for public announcement.

Herman L. Ekern of Wisconsin, one of the campaign-fund directors, was among those participating in the conference, but no statement was forthcoming as to financial plans. Likewise such itinerary mapping as was done was held back for consultation with local supporters in the territories where the candidates may speak.

In a speech tonight for the local La Follette-for-President Club, Charles A. Lyman, former secretary of the National Board of Farm Organizations, predicted that the farmers would support Senator La Follette "because they trust him."

They know his record, he added, and know that "he has shown himself a leader who will never compromise with those who seek special privilege at the expense of public welfare."

London Bridge is Sure Enough Falling Down

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, Aug. 25.—The familiar rhyme "London Bridge is falling Down" loses its blithe note on the ears of London officials, who have received warning that the ancient structure is bordering on the conditions described in Mother Goose.

River workers report that one of the piers has dropped four inches under the stress of traffic thrown on the structure when the Waterloo Bridge, another of London's eight arteries spanning the Thames, became incapacitated for heavy vehicles.

Tests are to be made shortly to ascertain the repairs necessary to save London bridge. The original stone structure dates from 1176. The present bridge was rebuilt in 1831.

Chinese Floods Occasion Great Losses in Crops

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

PEKING, Aug. 25. — Recent floods covered 10,000 square miles in the province of Chihli and caused a crop loss of 100,000,000 Chinese dollars, it was estimated today by W. H. Mallory, executive secretary of the International Famine Relief Commission. Water still is standing on a majority of the flooded lands. Reports from Hankow say that twenty-five counties in the province of Hupeh suffered from the floods.

A drive is being organized for a relief fund of $2,000,000 (Mexican) to be subscribed in China.

PRISON RAISES PRICE OF JUTE GRAIN BAGS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN QUENTIN, Aug. 25.—The Board of Prison Directors announced here today that the price of jute grain bags, made by prisoners, would be increased from 8 to 8¼ cents, effective September 3. All orders received prior to that date will be filled at the 8-cent price. The increase was made due to the increase in the price of the raw jute, which is brought to the prison from India.

COOLIDGE AND DAWES CONFER

sweeping his hands out, he added: "Regardless of what any politician may say about it."

The political outlook in the West also, he said, "was extremely good."

VISIT CHURCH

The President and his running mate held about a thirty-five-minute conference just after dinner, walking across the road for a while to the one-room Union Church. They talked for some time also in front of the church just before Mr. Dawes left to see the newspaper men. The President, looking straight ahead and twiddling a cigar, talked very deliberately, and occasionally his guest would turn and enter the discussion, using his arms energetically for gestures. They parted laughing. Mr. Dawes drove to Rutland, en route to Chicago.

While the correspondents were pursuing their questions in the conference about his visit, Mr. Dawes replied:

"You want to know the history of my visit here? Well, about three days ago the national publicity director called me and asked me if I didn't care to come up here for a visit with the President. Of course, I said I would be delighted if the President desired to see me. But I did not hear from the President. After my speech the other day I found word from Secretary Slemp that Mr. Coolidge would like to see me, and I came up very much pleased at the opportunity again to visit with him and his family."

NOT POLITICAL

Mr. Dawes said his discussion today on the European situation was not of a political nature and when asked to discuss it, declared he would not do so now or on the "stump" so far as the reparations plan was concerned.

While in the office, Mr. Slemp handed him a paper to sign, certifying the names of the party electors in Pennsylvania, required by law. He did so, John Coolidge, the President's father, acting as notary public.

Mr. Dawes drove here from Ludlow, Vt., nearest railroad station, in a rain. He was met by the President and Mrs. Coolidge just inside their vacation home. After dinner, the rain stopped and the party heads came outside and in good humor posed for photographers.

Rain kept the President indoors most of the day after he had completed a walk about the farm early in the morning.

sary since no fuel supply will be available at Cartwright.

REACH BOSTON SOON

The stretch from Indian or Cartwright harbors to Hawke Bay, according to the schedule, will be covered Thursday and that south to Pictou, N. S., Harbor Friday, when, it is expected, the flyers will continue on to Boston, arriving there late that afternoon.

The stay in Boston will be prolonged to afford time for the aviators to remove the pontoons from their machines and replace them with landing gears. This task is to be completed in time for the flyers to arrive Sunday over New York City on their way to Mitchel Field, L. I., where it is assumed they will change motors and overhaul their planes.

Washington is scheduled to receive the flyers the following Tuesday and on the next day they are expected to leave for the Pacific Coast, to end officially their globe-encircling flight at Seattle.

The Washington port was chosen as the final stopping place, although the flight actually started from Clover Field, near Los Angeles. It was explained today that the flyers will be able to reach Seattle, turning north at Sacramento, within the same time it would be required for them to return to Clover Field and would shorten the time of the flight around the world by nineteen days, the difference between the date on which the flyers left Los Angeles and later hopped off from Seattle for Alaska.

LOCATELLI PLANE WRECKED AFTER RESCUE

ON BOARD U.S.S. RICHMOND, EAST OF CAPE FAREWELL, GREENLAND, Aug. 25. — The Richmond rescued Lieut. Locatelli, missing Italian airman, at 11:35 o'clock last night. He was picked up 125 miles east of Cape Farewell.

Motor trouble had forced Locatelli to come down on the water during the flight on Thursday from Reykjavik, Iceland. He was unable to bring his plane into the air again and drifted for 100 miles.

Lieut. Locatelli had been missing since he hopped off from Reykjavik Thursday morning in company with Lieut. Lowell H. Smith and Lieut. Erik H. Nelson. He was last seen several hours later flying along the course from the Icelandic port of Frederiksdal, Greenland, but he failed to reach the latter place with the Americans.

During the earlier stages of the long hop across the Atlantic from Iceland to Greenland, the Italian aviator, using a faster machine than the type in which the Americans are making their globe-encircling trip, outdistanced his companions, passing the United States cruiser Richmond, some seventy miles southeast of Reykjavik, five miles ahead of Smith and Nelson.

When the Italian failed to arrive at Frederiksdal or to be reported from any other point near Cape Farewell at the southern end of Greenland late Thursday night, Rear-Admiral Thomas P. BROWN'S FRIENDS ARE NOW TAKING KARNAK

San Francisco Resident So Wonderfully Improved by Celebrated New Medicine That Neighbors Are Buying It.

"My friends are all commenting on my wonderful improvement, and I tell them it's all due to this new medicine, Karnak," states Mr. Frank Brown, native born Californian, living at 1003 Laguna St., San Francisco, in his unqualified endorsement of M. Andre's sensational new medicine.

"In fact, a number of my friends have started taking the medicine on my recommendation," continued Mr. Brown, "and have found it to be just as good as I did. For over a year before I got hold of Karnak I was in such a rundown condition I couldn't relish a thing to eat, couldn't get a good night's sleep, and was so weak I didn't seem to have a bit of life or strength left about me. My kidneys were all out of order, my liver was very sluggish and, to tell the truth, I was just about 'all in.'

"But Karnak has put me in great shape now, I eat so hearty, sleep so good and feel so fine that I can't help telling everyone about this remarkable new medicine. It does everything that is claimed for it and is entirely different from any other medicine I have ever used."

ESPEE MERGER HEARING IN EAST

Transferred by Commission to Capital from Phoenix

Arizona to be Protected by Counsel at Session

Santa Fe Says Road Will be Hit by Competition

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Aug. 25.—The proposed hearing on the Southern Pacific-Southwestern merger and on the proposed main-line construction through Phoenix, by the Interstate Commerce Commission in this city September 3, has been transferred to Washington, September 8, according to telegrams received today. Representatives of commercial organizations here will be sent to Washington to protect the city's interests.

In this connection, President H. B. Wilkinson of the Main Line Association states:

"The fact that El Paso has withdrawn its opposition to the proposed merger does not in any way lessen the importance of Arizona's case, nor the necessity for presenting our needs to the Interstate Commerce Commission as fully and energetically as possible. The Main Line Association already has engaged the services of Jones, Blaine & Jones, traffic counsel, to represent it before the Interstate Commerce Commission, to the end that there may be presented all of the facts bearing on our situation as regards transportation facilities.

NOT TO TAKE CHANCES

"It is entirely possible that the commission might act favorably on the merger application and still not feel that it is warranted in authorizing the construction of the new main line through Phoenix and the Salt River Valley. We do not propose to take their favorable action for granted, but are planning definitely on making such a showing before the commission that there will be no doubt in the minds of its members as to the public convenience and necessity justifying the construction of this new main line.

"The Main Line Association expects to ask the Interstate Commerce Commission to tie the building of the new main line into its sanction of the merger in such a way as to make the completion of this line within the two-year period, as planned, as certain as it is possible for the Federal body to make it. There is not the slightest disposition on our part to question the assurances which have been given the people of Arizona by the heads of both merging systems that this line will be built. But we believe it is good business to have the Interstate Commerce Commission write the new main line into the bond."

SANTA FE INJURY SEEN

President W. B. Storey of Atchison Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad Company today filed with the Arizona Corporation Commission a copy of a questionnaire that had been called for by the Interstate Commerce Commission. He states that the proposed merger of the Southern Pacific and El Paso Southwestern will affect adversely the Santa Fe's traffic and earnings in Phoenix and vicinity, but no hearing on this subject is asked.

He points out that the merger and proposed main line construction will give sharper competition with the Santa Fe branch lines that now reach Phoenix, partially due to a shortening by twenty-three miles of the Southern Pacific distance between Phoenix and Los Angeles, already thirty-six miles shorter than the Santa Fe line.

Pershing Pays Visit to Grave of Buffalo Bill

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

DENVER, Aug. 25.—Gen. John J. Pershing, it was learned today, slipped quietly into Denver yesterday and paid a visit to the grave of William F. (Buffalo Bill) Cody on Lookout Mountain. For more than an hour the Army's commanding general viewed the last resting place of its famous chief scout in Indian wars, and inspected the souvenirs of Buffalo Bill's campaigns in Pahaskee Tepee.

Gen. Pershing was accompanied only by an aide. He came here from Cheyenne, Wyo., where he had been visiting Senator and Mrs. F. E. Warren, parents of the late Mrs. Pershing.

REPORT SHOWS GREAT DYE INDUSTRY GAINS

SELLING PRICE REDUCED AND PRODUCTION IS INCREASED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Enormous strides made by the American dye industry are shown in the census of dyes and coal-tar chemicals for the calendar year 1923, which is about to be issued from the Tariff Commission. The report shows a record output for the year, with conspicuous progress in the production for the first time in this country of many important dyes and other synthetic organic chemicals, as well as a further reduction in selling prices.

Various factors, some of which were not anticipated, have enabled the domestic industry, which was a war-time development, to achieve success in its fight to establish itself permanently in the face of German competition.

Dyes produced in the United States supplied about 96 per cent of the apparent consumption in 1923, and in addition American manufacturers enjoyed an extensive export trade. The domestic production in 1923 for eighty-eight firms was 93,667,524 pounds. In 1922 the output of eighty-seven firms was 64,632,187 pounds. The total sales for 1923 was 86,567,446 pounds, with a value of $47,223,161. Prewar production in the year 1914 by seven firms was 5,619,729 pounds, valued at $2,470,096. The output was then dependent upon foreign countries, as most of the intermediates were imported—chiefly from Germany.

DISRUPTION OF WOBBLY UNION SEEN

Rival Factions Continue Fight for Possession of I.W.W. Headquarters

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—Standing room was at a premium today in Judge David's court while attorneys for two rival factions within the Industrial Workers of the World tried to convince the court that their clients were true Wobblies and entitled to manage the migratory workers' union. Possession of the three-story building at 1001 West Madison street, where the union has had its headquarters for three years, of the Wobbly records and printing presses, which are worth $50,000 or more, and of the organization's bank balance of $16,000 is the stake in the first court fight in which I.W.W.'s have been complainants.

Judge Davis refused to take further action in the case, which has been passed through the courts of Judges Hurley, Sullivan and Sabath during the last three weeks, until Master in Chancery Bernheim has conducted a full hearing.

The I.W.W. faces disruption as a result of the court fight, it was declared by the attorneys.

Many of the spectators in the court this morning were harvest hands, lumberjacks and miners, who have come from the Northwest to see that the row is straightened out. They came to court in their overalls. Many women were present, too. The rank and file in court criticised the ousted members of the organization for taking their grievances to a "capitalist court instead of settling it within the union."

Valley Given Cotton Experts of State Staff

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 25.—The opening of offices at Fresno and Bakersfield for classifying cotton produced in the San Joaquin Valley, which rapidly is coming to the front as a cotton-growing district, was announced today by G. H. Hecke, director of the State Department of Agriculture.

Hecke said the action of the Department of Agriculture is in recognition of the importance of the San Joaquin Valley as a cotton-producing area. R. C. Rowland will have charge of the office at Fresno, while Eugene Martin will direct the activities of the Bakersfield office. Both men have had wide experience in the handling and classing of cotton.

Gates Heiress's Baby Wins New Contest Honors

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

AURORA (Ill.) Aug. 25.—The 8-months-old baby girl of Mrs. Lester Norris, 21-year-old heiress to $30,000,000 left by the late John W. Gates, won the second prize today for rural girls under 1 year at the Central States Exposition baby show. Mrs. Norris formerly was Dellora Angell and was married in Southern California early last year to Lester Norris, a schoolday sweetheart of moderate means.

The Norris baby scored 98. First prize went to Ada Jean Thomas, 3 months of age, who scored 99.9.

PUSH BUTTON SENDS NEW SHIP INTO LAKE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LORAIN (O.) Aug. 25.—Electricity was harnessed to the guillotine at the launching here of the Henry Ford II, one of two Diesel-engined ore carriers built for the Ford company. Six weighted knives suspended over cables that held the craft at bow and stern, were released at the proper time by throwing a switch and fell, severing the cables. This ore carrier, which is 611 feet long and is equipped with electrohydraulic steering gear and auxiliaries, is the largest powered Diesel engine plant on the Great Lakes.

DAVIS OFF FOR MIDWEST TRIP

On Way to Ohio to Speak at Democratic Convention

Candidate Would Ignore His Law Practice Record

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

ON BOARD THE ST. LOUISAN AT PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 25.—John W. Davis, Democratic standard bearer, was speeding toward the Middle-West tonight to make his first appeal to voters of that section in his campaign for the Presidency.

Speaking before the Ohio State Democratic Convention at Columbus tomorrow, he will define more sharply those issues on which he finds the Democrat and Republican parties divided and will lay particular stress on the subject of honesty in government.

After his address to the convention, Mr. Davis will visit the State Fair grounds where he plans to make an informal talk. He will leave Columbus tomorrow evening for New York to prepare for the first long speaking tour of his campaign.

TO INVADE MID-WEST

Leaving New York next Sunday, the Democratic nominee will make his first stop at Wheeling, W. Va., for his labor address before the Ohio Valley trades and labor assembly. From Wheeling, Mr. Davis will go to Chicago and establish there temporary headquarters for his first western trip. His plans now are to speak in Nebraska, the home State of his running-mate, Gov. Charles W. Bryan, and then carry his fight into Colorado and Iowa. Before returning eastward he may speak also in Kansas and Missouri.

The Democratic candidate had a busy day at his campaign headquarters in New York. There he conferred with Clem L. Shaver, chairman of the Democratic National Committee; Senator Owen of Oklahoma and other advisers.

Mr. Davis still refused to comment on the declaration of Charles G. Dawes, the Republican Vice-Presidential candidate, regarding the Ku Klux Klan. Nor did he make any statement on the continued silence of President Coolidge on his invitation to remove this subject from the field of political debate.

WOULD IGNORE PRACTICE

Referring to published reports from West Virginia, that he had prosecuted instead of defended union mine workers, Mr. Davis said those reports were inaccurate. "It is quite true there were two of those cases," he said, "one in which I was for the labor union, and one in which I had a very minor part. I shall not defend myself because of my private practice; I shall not boast of my private practice.

"I have had cases for labor unions; cases against labor unions; for corporations, and against corporations."

El Aviador Italiano y sus Ayudantes Rescatados

WASHINGTON, Agosto 25. — El Teniente Antonio Locatelli, aviador polar italiano, y sus tres compañeros fueron rescatados en el mar, de su flotante hidroavión, por el crucero americano Richmond, según radiogramas de dicho barco al Ministerio de Marina. El rescate ocurrió ayer a las 11:35 a.m., a 125 millas al este del Cabo Farewell, Groenlandia. Debido a que el italiano no quiso dar a la marina de los Estados Unidos la molestia de que le remolcaran su enorme avión, hundió éste en las ondas después del rescate.

Descomposturas en el motor fue lo que los obligó a descender al mar, según explica Locatelli, y aunque lograron ponerlo de nuevo en marcha, el hidroplano era demasiado pesado para poder salir otra vez de las olas. Llevaban ochenta y seis horas de andar a la deriva cuando el Richmond dió con los náufragos. Su caída al mar ocurrió el jueves, y el aviador calcula que habían derivado 160 millas desde el lugar donde tocaron agua.

Los cuatro aviadores tenían bastantes alimentos y agua, pero se habían debilitado por la intemperie, y cansado por los continuos esfuerzos para mantener su débil embarcación a la deriva.

En Ivigtut, Groenlandia, los Tenientes Lowell Smith y Erik Nelson, circunnavegantes aéreos americanos, estaban hoy en sus últimos preparativos para dar el salto hacia el Labrador y regresar al continente americano tras cinco meses de ausencia. Estaban cambiándoles motores a sus aviones y dándoles un recorrido completo. Anunciaron que uno de los pontones había sido dañado por el hielo flotante.

Berlín Firmará el Pacto el Sábado

BERLIN, Agosto 25.—El pacto de Londres, por el que se pone en vigor el plan de reparaciones de Dawes, será firmado el próximo sábado por Alemania, según ha anunciado hoy en el Reichstag el Canciller Marx.

El Canciller hizo esa declaración en respuesta a una interpelación de los líderes de los partidos del pueblo y nacionalista, que tenazmente se han negado a participar en cualquier acercamiento, que comprendiera a Francia, mientras las tropas francesas no fueran retiradas del Ruhr.

Los Japoneses Perplejos ante Una Enfermedad

TOKIO, Agosto 25.—El Japón se está alarmando por la aparición de una epidemia misteriosa en los distritos del oeste central, donde se han dado 25,500 casos de ella en la última quincena, con 900 muertes. Es una especie de enfermedad del sueño, en la que las víctimas, en su mayoría ancianas, se quedan dormidas y no pueden ser despertadas.

A setenta monta en algunas localidades el tanto por ciento de los que mueren. Varios significados médicos y bacteriólogos de Tokio están recorriendo las regiones afectadas, pero no han podido descubrir el origen de la epidemia, inclinándose a creer que se trata de una forma de meningitis espinal.

Zentsuji y Kotchira, poblaciones de la isla de Shikoku, son los principales centros donde brotó la epidemia. Hubo allí 300 muertes, y 700 casos de sueño persistente. En Okayama, que se halla en la isla principal, hubo 815 casos con 190 muertes. En Tokoshima hubo 250 casos con 210 muertes y once restablecimientos.

Los médicos del hospital de Keio, en Tokio, creen que es una epidemia de fiebre cerebral, que era general en el mundo hace un cuarto de siglo, y que tiene gran analogía con la influenza.

La Policía Anda en Busca de un Vago que se Paseaba con Carpenter

Ayer andaban los tenientes sheriffs buscando a un desconocido que fue visto vagar algunos días por el almacén de Sam Seelig en Bell, antes de que Henry Carpenter, gerente de la tienda, desapareciera, para ser hallado dos meses después, tronchada la cabeza, en el cauce de un río, cerca de Whittier. Sábese que el desconocido tenía relaciones con la supuesta víctima de asesinato, pues se le había visto conversando con Carpenter, y en una ocasión invitó a éste a ir con él a Méjico.

Los sheriffs encontraron asimismo a un amigo de Carpenter que les reveló que éste señaló al desconocido, algunos días antes de su desaparición, diciendo: "Allí va el hombre que destruyó mi hogar".

Si se encontrar a este individuo, créese que se esclarecería buena parte del misterio que rodea al hallazgo del cuerpo mutilado de Carpenter oculto bajo una pila de escombros en el lecho del río.

Tennis

Asquith to Quit Politics as Lloyd George is Seen Taking Reins

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, Aug. 25.—David Lloyd George will soon be the leader of the Liberal party.

Despite denials of the statement that H. H. Asquith will not stand in the next election for Paisley, where the last time he had the thinnest majority over the Labor party, Lord Grey, leader of the Liberals in the House of Lords, has been informed by Mr. Asquith of the latter's intention to quit politics, and forseeing Mr. Lloyd George's leadership, already has resigned.

Mr. Lloyd George is preparing an agricultural campaign to win the rural constituencies. He will advocate state credits to the farmers, and his slogan will be something about British cabbage and potatoes.

NEGROES JAILED IN MELON THEFT

Twenty Said to Have Helped Selves at Store

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

RICHMOND (Va.) Aug. 25—The largest round-up in the history of the Richmond police department—381 negro excursionists—was accomplished without disorder. Only fifty of the prisoners obtained bail.

The negroes were members and supporters of the South Side Strutters' Social and Literary Club of Richmond, which had sponsored a Sunday river excursion to Hopewell to raise funds for its library. While there twenty of the men entered the store of Nick Limbit and, he charged, seized about $150 worth of watermelons, tobaccos, fruits and candy, not to mention sundry other articles, and damage to fixtures.

J. E. Rebman, town sergeant of Hopewell, unable to handle the situation with his limited force, rushed to Richmond and swore out a blanket warrant. Richmond police met the excursion boat upon its return and held the negroes aboard, while three patrol wagons assembled. Eight trips were required to transport all of them to the police station.

The Wrath to Come

By E. Phillips Oppenheim

Synopsis.—Grant Slattery, wealthy American and a member of the United States Secret Service, meets his former fiancee, Gertrude, in Monte Carlo as Princess Von Diss. The International Congress is in session at Nice; Yeoril, British premier, wants to invite the United States into the Pact. Japanese and German influence militate against it. Yeoril's daughter, Susan, appeals to Grant. A discarded dancer, Cleo, angered at her former lover, Itash, imparts information to Slattery of Japan's intrigue. Grant dines with Gertrude who skillfully pries him with questions to no avail. Itash requests an audience with Grant. Grant and Susan play tennis.

"That's your fault," Susan insisted. "A nicely brought-up girl always likes a well-behaved man. Now get up to the net and remember we've money on this set. Serve!"

The tennis courts presented a gay scene as the afternoon wore on. There was the usual crowd of English and French people, the women nearly all in white, the men, especially the foreigners, showing a little more variety in their costumes. The sun was shining and every one seemed inspired by the soft exhilaration of the air, the beauty of the glittering blue sea below, and the mountains behind. There was a crowd too of more elaborately dressed spectators, a fluttering of many-colored parasols, and all the time the cheerful hum of light-hearted conversation in many tongues. With characteristic patience, Count Itash—sometimes called Sammy—sat on his solitary bench and waited—a solemn, almost ghoul-like figure, on the outskirts of the gaiety. At the conclusion of their sets, Grant, after he had received the congratulations of his partner, went over and seated himself by his side.

"What do you wish to say to me, Count Itash?" he enquired.

"I offer apologies, but I am in some trouble," the young man explained earnestly. "It concerns the lady with whom you talked last night."

"Madamoiselle Cleo?"

"The young lady who is so called," Itash assented. "She has been my companion for some time here in Monte Carlo. I will now be very truthful. I have taken a fancy to another girl. Such things happen."

"Quite so," Grant agreed. "But I can't exactly see how this concerns me."

"It is in this way. Cleo is very very angry. She knows that I am in the Diplomatic Service,—that I am, in fact, occupying a very confidential and important position down here. She makes a pretence of having obtained possession of secret information concerning the affairs over which I watch, and she threatens to make use of it."

"Well?"

"But I have never confided in her, not one word," the young man declared. "We Japanese are not like that. We do not talk. We carry our secrets in our brain."

"Then if you have told her nothing, what are you afraid of?" Grant asked.

"I have told her nothing," Itash repeated vehemently, "nor can I think of a single written line of a compromising nature which could possibly have come into her possession. Yet I am disturbed in my mind. Cleo is a strange being. She has the gift of speaking the truth. Not all people have it. When she speaks a thing, one's heart feels that it is true. So when she tells me that there are secrets of mine which have come within her knowledge, I am afraid. She came to you last night, and she talked to you earnestly. I ask you, sir, did she tell you anything of those affairs confided to me, the disclosure of which could amount in any way to a breach of faith?"

"Not a word," Grant assured him. "To be quite frank, I don't know what you're talking about."

The young man passed his hand across his forehead.

"Mr. Slattery, sir," he confessed, "I am in great distress of mind and body. The death of my Chief last night was terrible, and all the time I cannot escape from this load of anxiety which weighs upon me."

"I should use a little common sense," Grant advised. "If you know that you have told her nothing, if you know that you have committed none of your secrets, whatever they may be, to paper, can't you realize that she is only trading upon your fears?"

"That must be so," Itash muttered.

"Furthermore," Grant continued, "if she had secrets to tell, why on earth should she bring them to me? I am the last person in the world likely to be interested in them."

The young man shot a sudden quick glance at his companion. Then he blinked a great many times behind his spectacles.

"I see that," he acknowledged. "You are not in the Diplomatic Service, Mr. Slattery?"

"In my younger days I was Secretary at Berlin and London for a short time," Grant told him. "When I came into my money, however, I chucked it. The young lady's choice of me as a confidant would have been ridiculous."

"Just so," Itash agreed. "Then she told you nothing?"

"Nothing at all."

"Nor did she give the impression that she had anything to tell?"

"She gave me no impression at all, except that she was rather a mysterious young person, suffering from an acute fit of jealousy."

Itash rose slowly to his feet. He held out his hand.

"I apologise humbly, Mr. Slattery," he said. "I see that I have been very foolish. Thank you for listening to me. I will go now."

"You are not going to play?"

Itash shook his head sorrowfully.

"It would not be reverent. In a week or two, perhaps, if I am still here."

He made his way toward the gate,—an odd figure, in his ceremonious black apparel. Susan looked after him curiously.

"Well, have you promised to let him have his girl back again?" she asked Grant, as he returned to her side.

"I have assured him that I am not a serious rival for her favors," he rejoined. "The young man seems comforted."

"Got your hands pretty full as it is, haven't you?"

"Look here," Grant said severely. "Kindly remember that I have just steered you to victory on the tennis courts, and in a day or two, if you behave yourself, I will be able to take you for a cruise in the Grey Lady. Incidentally I should be glad if you would further bear in mind that the fact that I am a great many years your senior. A little more respect, please. Now, come along, and I'll give you a lift down to the club for tea."

"Thank you. I thought of going with Bobby."

"You may have thought of it, but you are coming with me," he insisted.

"Rather a bully, aren't you?" she observed cooly. "However, perhaps I'd better. Bobby gets so affectionate in those little voitures,—thinks one needs steadying all the time. You're above that sort of thing, aren't you?"

"The springs of my Rolls-Royce," he began—

"Oh, bother the springs of your Rolls-Royce," she interrupted. "I'm coming with you because I want to get to the club quickly and because I like your car."

"The worst of being a millionaire!" Grant complained gloomily, as he took his place at the wheel. "One is tolerated only for one's possessions."

"They're generally the best thing about a millionaire," Susan declared. "All the same, if there were an unattached English one in the market, I think that I should like to marry him."

"What's the matter with a perfectly good American one?" he suggested.

"Entrancing idea, but illusionary," she rejoined drily. "I hate syndicates, or pechauffes. I'm going in to tidy up, Grant. Try and get the round table in the corner."

She jumped out and ran lightly up the steps. Grant backed his car to the pavement and was in the act of following her when the blue-liveried commissionaire, hat in hand, accosted him mysteriously.

"A young lady asked me to give you this as soon as you arrived, sir," he announced, presenting a twisted-up half sheet of paper.

"Sure it's for me?" Grant asked a little doubtfully.

Grant thrust the note into his waistcoat pocket. He felt a curious conviction as to its source. To add a touch of coincidence to the affair, on the opposite side of the way, Itash was leaning over the wall, apparently watching the shipping in the harbour.

Chapter IX

As a yachtsman Mr. Cornelius Blunn did not shine sartorially. As a guest and conversationalist at Grant's improvised cruise on the following day he was easily the most popular man on board. Susan who had been his neighbor at lunch, watched him pacing the deck, with a look almost of affection in her face.

"Princess," she confided to Gertrude, "I think your friends, Mr. Blunn, is the most amusing man I've ever met."

Gertrude smiled.

"He is one of those impossible persons who never grow up," she declared. "A picnic like this is the joy of his life. He was simply delighted when I gave him Mr. Slattery's message. The strange part of it is that he can scarcely cross the gangway of a steamer without being violently ill. Yet a cruise like this he simply revels in."

"Make his fortune as a raconteur on the music-hall stage," Bobby Lancaster chuckled. "Some of the stories he told after you girls had come up on deck!—there was one about a little Dutch girl. I really must—"

"Bobby," Susan interrupted severely, "I am ashamed of you. The story will reach us all in due course through the proper channels. You will tell your sister, of course. She will tell me. And so on."

"Then there was another about an Italian maid."

Strikers Fined, Leader is Jailed in Assault Case

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BELLEVILLE (Ill.) Aug. 25.—Judge Crow found fourteen strikers, former employees of the Meyer Pants Factory here, guilty of violating an injunction in the beating and assaulting of other employees. He sent one to jail after fining all the others. The asserted leader was given ninety days in jail and fined $100. Three others were fined a like amount and eight others $50 each. Two were fined $25 each. Eight of those fined were girls.

CUTS THROAT WHEN TRAIN NEARS HOME

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Aug. 25.—Still suffering from disease after a stay of several months at Mineral Wells, Tex., Charles M. Stevens, a valley farmer, ended his life as his train was rolling into its Phoenix terminal. As the air brakes were applied, the train news agent, R. D. Rowland, saw Stevens take a razor from a suit case and slashed his throat. The agent and a porter ran to stop the suicide, but were too late. The man not only had severed the jugular vein, but had deeply slashed his left arm, on which were six gashes. He had been resident here for thirteen years, coming from Ranger, Texas. He leaves a widow who was awaiting him at her Phoenix home.

DENIES MAIL THEFT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 25.—Oliver Dougherty, said to be an Egan gangster and one of nine men wanted by the government in connection with the $2,400,000 mail robbery here in April, 1923, was arrested just as he was boarding a train for Chicago. Dougherty, who is an ex-convict, denied connection with the robbery. "I'm too smart to monkey with the mails," he told the police. "It's a bum rap."

SHRINERS GET FORTUNE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 25.—The will of Col. Clarence A. Sinclair, a Third-third Degree Mason, leaves his $100,000 estate, less a $1000 bequest, to the Shriners' Hospital for Crippled Children, for the erection and maintenance of a home for convalescents.

ARIZONAN IS TALKED FOR MEXICO JOB

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Aug. 25.—Thomas E. Campbell, former governor of Arizona, is reported to be under consideration for appointment as American Ambassador to Mexico. A number of Arizona indorsements have been sent to Washington in his behalf, and powerful influences are said to be backing him. There is appreciation that his appointment would be pleasing to President Obregon, and, presumably, to the Calles administration that will take office next winter.

Mr. Campbell has spent months in Mexico City, his last trip with Mrs. Campbell, understood to have been in the nature of a personal visit to the Mexican executive. He is reported to have been of material assistance in securing American recognition of the Obregon government. The Arizonan is considered especially well fitted for the diplomatic post by reason of his large acquaintance in both Mexico and the United States, conjoined with forceful and agreeable personality.

His latest official position was as chairman of the commission appointed to inspect the national reclamation projects of the West and to recommend measures for carrying them through to completion of their contracts with the government. As an authority on reclamation questions, he was a leading member of the Colorado River commission that framed the compact between the seven States affected, and he was president of the League of the Southwest during the period of its greatest activity. That he still is interested in Southwestern politics is shown by his late acceptance of the post of member of the National Republican Committee for Arizona.

ARIZONA SUFFERING BY FIRE IN FORESTS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Aug. 25.—Within the past few days four large fires have ben reported in the Tonto and Coconino forest reserves, with devastation of 500 acres. Scores of fire fighters were sent to the affected areas. The forests are drying rapidly and the carpets of pine needles offer the best of hazards when the careless tourist throws match or cigarettes away or the careless camper leaves a fire still alive.

APARTMENTS

Their many conveniences and compactness hold attractions for thousands of families.

The importance of this type of home is reflected daily in the "To Let---Apartments" columns of Times Want Ads. In Times Rentals the rent-seeker finds a complete guide not only to the best available apartments but to every other kind of rentals --- "Rooms" --- "Flats" --- "Houses"---"Bungalow Courts," etc.

Times Want Ads

The Times does not contemplate any advance in advertising rates, either display or classified, at this time. The Times will maintain, as it has for years past, the policy of charging a just, reasonable rate for advertising space—sufficient to yield a fair return.

The same policy has been and will be adhered to on subscription rates. When the cost of newsprint dropped, The Times at once reduced its monthly subscription price—thus keeping faith with its readers. Today, considering the quality and size of the Daily and Sunday Times, subscription rates are lower than those charged by any other newspaper in the United States.

Law Regarded Sufficiently Flexible for Action

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Despite the fact that the Interstate Commerce Commission has not announced its plans for consolidation of the railroads into a limited number of systems, and consolidations are forbidden until that plan has been announced, substantial progress has been made in consolidating the railroads since the Transportation Act was passed in 1920.

These "consolidations" have been and are being effected under a provision of the Transportation Act authorizing the commission to permit one railroad to acquire control of another either under a lease or by the purchase of stock or in any other manner not involving the consolidation of such carriers into a single system for ownership and operation.

Under this part of the law the majority of the commission has authorized a number of railroads to acquire "control" of other railroads. It has done so over the protest of Commissioner Joseph B. Eastman of Massachusetts, who holds that a number of the "control" cases involved nothing short of consolidation of the railroads.

PLAN NOT YET OUT

The consolidation clauses of the law provide that consolidations must be in harmony with the complete plan of consolidation required to be promulgated by the commission "as soon as practicable." The plan not having been issued, Commissioner Eastman holds that what are practically consolidations under the guise of "acquisition of control" are not lawful.

In the case in which the commission recently authorized the Atlantic Coast Line and the Louisville and Nashville to obtain "control" of the Carolina, Clinchfield and Ohio properties under a 999-year lease, Commissioner Eastman declared that a lease of 999 years amounted to a consolidation and would effectually unite the properties into a single system for ownership and operation.

Another recent "control" case is that in which the commission authorized the sale of the stock control of the International-Great Northern to the New Orleans, Texas and Mexico. Commissioner Eastman dissented in that case.

OLD LAWS TO GO

The original Nickel Plate merger put through by the Van Sweringens was an actual consolidation that the commission held it could not present. The merger of the lines now making up the Nickel Plate system was perfected under State laws and was not in violation of the antitrust laws. These are the laws that the consolidation provisions of the Transportation Act nullify, under approval of the commission with respect to combines of railroads.

The Pennsylvania and New York Central, not long after the Transportation Act was passed, invoked the provisions relating to "acquisition of control" to tighten up control of their subsidiaries. The commission approved applications seeking authority to lease such properties for 999 years.

While the final consolidation plan has not been issued by the commission the law is regarded as sufficiently flexible to permit in a practical way all consolidations that are desirable.

The commission's plan probably will not be ready until late this year. In the meantime the commission is expected to pass on a number of "control" cases.

OKLAHOMA'S WHEAT MEN HOLD CROPS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OKLAHOMA CITY (Okla.) Aug. 25.—Probably 50 per cent of Oklahoma's approximately 60,000,000-bushel wheat crop has passed out of the possession of growers, and a considerable part of the remaining 50 per cent is being held for higher prices. Grain dealers of Oklahoma found it difficult last week to buy enough wheat to fill orders. Some of them asserted that not before in the history of the State is such a large percentage of the wheat crop being held by farmers and country elevators. This is made possible by growers having sold enough grain to meet pressing debts and by banks and other financial organizations enabling them to obtain needed money pending sale of the grain.

Reports of railroads as to the amount of wheat shipped out of the State have not been received by the Oklahoma Grain Dealers' Association. Dealers estimate the amount from 20,000,000 to 30,000,000 bushels. Those making the lower estimate point out that nearly all country elevators are filled with wheat and that the amount in terminal storage in the State is exceptionally large. So much Oklahoma wheat has moved to Texas that elevators of that State are nearly filled. Reports from Fort Worth said that probably 75 per cent of that city's storage capacity is full. Millers of the two States have fair-sized stocks. They bought limited quantities in Oklahoma last week, in some instances paying a premium of 1 cent over export bids. Oklahoma dealers reported a good export demand.

Oklahoma growers during August received an average of $1.06 a bushel for wheat. It was so gratifying and the outlook so favorable that the acreage increase this fall probably will be 10 to 12 per cent. Breaking has been done in many places and the land is ready for seeding.

BY CHEF A. L. WYMAN, M.C.A.

MARSHMALLOW SAUCE

E. L. W., Hollywood, asks that we publish recipes for a marshmallow sauce for ice cream and an orange cream dressing for fruit salads.

Place in a small saucepan half a cupful of water and one cupful of sugar, stir until the sugar is dissolved, boil three minutes without stirring, add one cupful of diced marshmallows and when they are melted remove from the fire and stir half a teaspoonful of lemon extract and one teaspoonful of vanilla extract. Keep hot in a double boiler and serve over ice cream.

ORANGE CREAM DRESSING

Mix four tablespoonfuls of sugar with one tablespoonful of flour and a few grains of salt; add to these four tablespoonfuls of pineapple juice, four tablespoonfuls of orange juice, four tablespoonfuls of lemon juice and three tablespoonfuls of cold water, mix well, add the yolks of two eggs and beat five minutes; pour in a double boiler and stir and cook until thick and creamy. Remove from the fire, cool and mix with half a cupful of whipped cream.

RAISINE

M. D. M., El Monte, calls our attention to a mistake in the recipe for Raisine published in Chef Wyman's Suggestions for Tomorrow's Menu on the 8th inst., and asks that we publish the corrected recipe.

For the raisine place in a preserving kettle five pounds of washed and stemmed grapes, mash lightly, set over a slow fire and cook slowly, stirring with a wooden spoon until the juice flows; pour into a jelly bag and drain of all of the juice. Measure the juice into a clean kettle, add five pounds of peeled, cored and thinly sliced pears; stir and bring to a boil and cook slowly until the pears are tender. Add three-quarters of a cupful of sugar for each cupful of the grape juice, stir until the sugar is dissolved and cook until a little of the juice dropped on a cold plate will jell. Pack in clean, hot jars and seal.

TO DRY FIGS

G. W. H., Yorba Linda, wants directions for drying white and black figs.

Pick the figs when they are ripe and set on trays that have laths nailed across with the eye end of the fig on the lath; turn the figs every day and cover at night; when the figs show the same dryness in the morning as they show at night dump into sweat boxes and let stand a week. Pack in layers with bay leaves between each layer and store in a cool, dry place.

SUCCOTASH

A. L. A., Los Angeles, is newly married and her husband wants her to make him succotash.

Cook one cupful of fresh lima beans in boiling salted water until tender; drain, place in a double boiler, add one cupful of fresh corn pulp and cook thirty minutes; add a seasoning of salt and pepper, half a cupful of boiling milk and one tablespoonful of butter. Cook ten minutes and serve.

STUFFED MONKEYS

H. M., Los Angeles, wants a recipe for a filled butter cake that her mother made in Holland called "stuffed monkeys."

Work one and a half cupfuls of butter into four cupfuls of sifted flour sifted with one teaspoonful of cinnamon and half a teaspoonful of salt; add one and a half cupfuls of brown sugar and one egg; work to smooth dough, roll out square and divide into even pieces.

Mix one cupful of finely chopped candied citron with one cupful of blanched and finely chopped almonds, and six tablespoonfuls of butter; add the yolks of two eggs and half a teaspoonful of vanilla extract.

Place half of the dough on a buttered baking pan, spread over it the fruit mixture, cover with the other half of the dough, brush with beaten egg, sprinkle with poppy seed and bake in a moderate oven thirty minutes. When cold cut in squares with a sharp knife.

SPANISH PICKLES

S. L. A., La Jolla, wants to make about two gallons of Spanish pickles and asks that we supply the recipe.

Remove the outside leaves and cores from two medium-sized cabbages, put in a chopping bowl and chop; turn out onto a platter and sprinkle with salt. Peel thirty-six green tomatoes, cut each in four pieces, place on a platter. Peel twenty-four cucumbers, cut in half-inch pieces, place on a platter and sprinkle with salt. Remove the seeds from twelve small green peppers, cut in coarse pieces, place on a platter and sprinkle with salt. Let the vegetables stand over night. Scald each vegetable separately in two parts vinegar and one part water after draining well. Drain off the vinegar, place the vegetables in a bowl, add one cupful of chopped seeded raisins and mix. Place in a saucepan one teaspoonful of ground cinnamon, one teaspoonful of turmeric, and half a cupful of vinegar; mix smooth, add one teaspoonful of white mustard seed, one teaspoonful of celery seed, eight cupfuls of brown sugar, and seven cupfuls of vinegar; stir until the sugar is dissolved, bring to a boil ten minutes; pour while hot over the mixed vegetables, pack in jars and seal.

NUT AND FRUIT PUDDING

K. R. C., Long Beach, requests a recipe for a steamed nut and fruit pudding.

Beat one-third of a cupful of butter to a cream and beat into it slowly one-third of a cupful of sugar, beat until light and creamy and beat in two eggs, one egg at a time, beating well after the addition of each egg. Add one cupful of sifted flour, one cupful of soft bread crumbs, half a cupful of seedless raisins, four tablespoonfuls of finely chopped blanched almonds, one teaspoonful of lemon juice and half a teaspoonful of grated lemon rind. Pour into a buttered pudding mold and steam two hours. Serve with orange custard sauce.

MOCK CRAB PASTE

G. B., Los Angeles, would like a recipe for a mock crab sandwich paste.

Rub two tablespoonfuls of butter to a cream, add one small ripe tomato that has been pressed through a sieve to remove the skin and seeds, four tablespoonfuls of finely chopped American cheese, one cupful of soft bread crumbs, two chopped hard-boiled eggs, one teaspoonful of lemon juice, one tablespoonful of chutney, and a seasoning of salt and paprika. Rub all to a smooth paste and use as a filler for sandwiches.

PAPRIKA SCHNITZEL

Chop two slices of salt pork into small dice, place in a dutch oven, add one sliced onion and fry until the onion is golden colored; add one pound of veal cut in thin slices and rolled in pepper, salt and flour. Cook until nicely browned on both sides, cover with cream, add one teaspoonful of paprika, cover the oven and simmer until the veal is tender. Serve with farina dumplings.

COLUMBUS HELD YEARS BEHIND DANE

Scientist's Startling Claim Before Americanist Congress at Gothenburg

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 25.—That America was discovered twenty years before Columbus sighted the shores of Hispanola by a Danish navigator, Johan Scolua, was the assertion made by a Danish scientist, Dr. Phil Sophes Larsen, of the University of Copenhagen, yesterday at a lecture which he delivered at the International Americanist Congress at Gothenburg.

Dr. Larsen declared America was discovered in 1472 by discoverers sent out by the Danish King, Christian. In the voyage to America, under the Castilian claim, Scolua visited Iceland and Greenland, and touched the American continent at the St. Lawrence River, which country was called Terre De Bocalho. Mr. Larsen insists he is in possession of absolute proofs of his assertion, and a Norwegian explorer, Fritiof Nanses, verified Dr. Larsen's statement, which is supported by old Spanish and Portuguese documents and maps.

Dr. Larsen has written a book, entitled "The Discovery of North America Twenty Years Before Columbus." This book will be published in the near future simultaneously in America, Great Britain and Germany. The English publisher is Heineman and the New York publisher is not known. Dr. Larsen's lecture was a sensation to the congress.

CLINIC GIVES HELPING HAND TO MANY TOTS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 25.—The Psychiatric Clinic, which was established here May 1, 1923, has issued its first annual report showing it examined and treated 556 children at a cost of $12,000. Of the total number of cases, 116 were marked incomplete, meaning they either failed to return or withdrew from the clinic's care. A total of 209 cases has been cured with 149 still pending.

The majority of the children were found to be of low mental order. While there were but 13 imbeciles, the feeble-minded and subnormal intellects numbered 305. Some of the boys were sent to Bellefontaine Farms, maintained as a corrective institution by the city. Much improvement was noted here.

MORE AUTOMOBILES NOW USED IN PARIS

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PARIS, Aug. 25.—Twenty thousand more autos passed given points in Paris this year than last, according to statistics made public. From a Monday to Saturday, between the hours of 2 p.m., and 7 p.m at Saint Honore Square, where Rue Saint Honore crosses Rue Royale, a total of 104,179 motor vehicles was counted in the six days, or at the rate of 4400 an hour. This was Paris' busiest spot. This figure was 5000 more than at the Place de la Concorde entrance of the Champs Elysees where the total reached 96,261. Two other spots in the city had totals over 63,000.

For Your Health's Sake—

Try Honey. When you feel a craving for sweets, why not try Nature's Finest sweet—honey? It is the most healthful sweet there is.

And you know that honey is delicious. But be careful to get good honey. The very finest flavor in honey is obtained by combining the choicest flavors. No single flavor can have the richness or uniformity of a perfect blend.

This is the idea back of Boyden's Honey,—a blend of the finest flavors. Why not serve it tonight with hot muffins?

OPERATION ADVISED FRIEND SAID "DON'T DO IT!"

Try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound First. Proved Good Advice

Chicago, Illinois.—"Just a few lines to let you know what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. I was married going on for three years, and went to a doctor and was taking treatments twice a week for pains every month. I used to lie in bed three or four days with them and the doctor would call and inject something into my arm to put me asleep so I would not feel the pains. At last she said I would have to be operated on if I wanted any children. Well, I just happened to go to see a friend with her first baby and I told her I was going to the hospital, and she said, 'Don't do it! You go and get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and you won't need any operation.' So my husband got me a bottle right away. Now I have two lovely children. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to every woman. It has helped me and a lot of my friends."—Mrs. A. McANDLESS, 1709 South Morgan St., Chicago, Illinois.

News of Ships and Sailings at Pacific Ports

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 25.—A tug sent this morning to the assistance of the Dene Steamship Company's motorship Carrizo, which last night developed engine trouble 400 miles southwest of San Francisco and drifted for several hours in a fog before being taken in tow by the liner Sierra. When relieved of its tow the Sierra will proceed to Honolulu, which port it is expected to arrive about noon Tuesday. No details have been received here as to the cause of the Carrizo's trouble.

With 2300 tons of cargo for discharge at this port, including 700 tons of Central American coffee and 700 tons for trans-shipment, the Pacific Mail liner Venezuela arrived this morning from New York. The 13,000-ton steamer Rakuyo Maru arrived here from the Orient with 3600 tons of general wares, and the Shipping Board freighter West Moreton brought 5600 tons of wheat from Manila. The Matson steamer Enterprise carried 3300 tons of Hawaiian Island products when she entered port.

PADDOCK TO RUN IN TITLE MEET

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—Following his record-breaking performances Saturday when he ran 250 yards in 25 2-5s, Charlie Paddock, California sprinter, announced he would remain here and compete in the national championship at West Orange, N. J., next month.

"I'm running as well as I ever did and I want those two national sprint titles," he said.

Jackie Fields Will Remain in Amateur Ranks

Jackie Fields, world's amateur featherweight champion, will not enter professional ranks for at least two years. That was the substance of an announcement made yesterday by Fields himself. Fields declared that he was too young and light for professional boxing, and wanted to "grow up." He also stated that he was desirous of staying under the tutelage of George Blake, boxing instructor at the Los Angeles Athletic Club.

Jackie has just returned from the Olympic Games and has a lot to say about them.

"Any reports that Joe Salas did not fight his hardest against me are untrue," Fields said. "I believe Joe did his very best, and that was a lot."

Asked how he liked being back, the young champion said:

"It is wonderful to be in America again, but even that doesn't compare with being in Los Angeles."

BOSTON AGAIN

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BOSTON, Aug. 25.—Boston batted eleven innings against Detroit today to win, 4 to 3. A double by Flagstead, a single by Wamby and Manush's error in left field with none out in the eleventh enabled Boston to score the winning run. FAIR HELEN LURES THRONG

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—Helen Wills, America's new sweetheart, returning in her triumphant tour from tennis honors acquired in Europe and the East, played three exhibition sets before a crowd of 2500 fans at the Skokie Country Club Stadium.

In singles Helen divided honors with Jack Harris, a ranking Chicago player, Harris winning the first set, 6-1, and Miss Wills the second, 6-4. Then with Cranston Holman of San Francisco as a partner, the Californians fell before Harris and Bob Brown of Hamilton Park, 6-2.

Miss Wills's initial showing against Harris was partially due to the fact that she has been playing on turf courts for the last three months, and partially to the scintillating game which Harris uncorked. Always a spectacular player, Harris speared impossible gets, worked his back-hand and ground strokes perfectly, and played one of the best games of his career.

EVENS SCORE

The girl champion, although she was scheduled to play Holman a singles match, asked Harris for a return set, and in this spasm she evened things up.

She gained speed as she progressed—her floating drive gradually began to fall inside the base lines, and three times she passed Harris coming up in the second set.

Her famous change of pace began to show itself, and she chased the ball with better luck than she had in the initial set-to.

Harris, however, was playing a snappy game. Several long rallies made honors even, and Miss Wills won out with her pile-driving service, her man-size back-hand, with a spin on the ball, and her well-placed lobs.

SOCIETY FOLK GATHER

In the doubles match Holman was way off form and could not get going through the set. Every point Miss Wills made Holman would throw away on the next service by netting or outing the ball. Harris and Bob Brown played a steady game and shot the ball where Miss Wills couldn't get it.

A large crowd of society leaders gathered with tennis fans to do homage to "Little Pokerface," who belied her name by smiling frequently at the sallies of a large gallery. When the matches were over several hundred asked Miss Wills to pose for snapshots.

Miss Wills and her mother left tonight for California. Miss Wills, when informed that the university's brass band was to welcome her back, said that she hoped there wouldn't be much show, that she wanted to get back and get to work at her studies. She had the highest praise for Helen Jacobs, the 15-year-old Coast wonder, who made her first eastern invasion this year.

BILL BAGGOT TO HURL FOR UNITED PARCELS

Bill Baggot, Texas leaguer southpaw, has been imported to hurl for the United Parcel Service club when they meet the Oakland Parcel club for the State championship at the Oakland Coast League park next Sunday. Lewie Baschant, ex-Coffeyville star, will catch.

On their return the locals will stop for a Labor Day game at Bakersfield, where they meet the Standard 14 club. Elmer Phillips, Jefferson High pitcher, will be on the mound for the second game.

SCHROEDER INJURED IN AUTO COLLISION

While speeding over the Ridge Route yesterday at a pace exceeding forty miles an hour, Elmer Rall, Willrich Schroeder, and Boyd Smith, members of the Hollywood Merchants' baseball team, were injured when the rear axle of their machine snapped and the car plunged down the grade, colliding with two other cars. Rall and Smith were not injured seriously, suffering from bruises and several cuts. Schroeder's injuries necessitated his removal to a hospital.

When the accident occurred, the machine started back down the grade, damaging a car driven by Miss Elinor Goss, and demolishing another machine, injuring the driver. Aid was rushed to the spot and it is believed none is seriously hurt.

By far the most famous of foreign invaders to crash the gate at Ellis Island lately are Firpo and Epinard. Both of these might be classed as live stock, as Firpo is commonly known as the "Wild Bull," while Epinard is a horse and nothing else but. These important visitors have something else in common—they are both here for the same reason. I don't mean that Firpo is here to race, or Epinard to fight—but that they are both coming after the same thing, and you spell it J-a-c-k. The thoroughbred from Maisons Laffitte hopes to win "beaucoup Jack" for his owner, Pierre Wertheimer, while Firpo, though he won't admit it, wants another fight with Jack the Giant Killer.

Study the two heads shown above—a prize fighter and a race horse. Neysa McMein says that Firpo is "singularly beautiful." Epinard has a beautiful head, no doubt about that. But which is the most intelligent? Ask Firpo if he's going to be beaten. "No, no," he'll say. Ask the same question of Epinard and he'll answer. "Neigh, neigh."

OBSERVATIONS

BY THE INNOCENT BYSTANDER
BILL HENRY

The scrambling around in the lightweight division that has been going on ever since it became apparent that Benny Leonard proposed to let his title go by default is one of the funniest things pugilism has seen in some little while. All the welterweights are trying to get down to the lightweight limit and all the featherweights and junior lightweights are announcing their intention to take on the world at the lightweight limit. And if Benny were to suddenly announce that he had decided to give up his welterweight ambitions and remain among the lightweights, there would be half a dozen tin-eared pugs trampled to death in the rush to get back into some other division.

First of all there was Johnny Dundee, one time featherweight and junior-lightweight champion. Johnny first lost the junior lightweight title on a "queer" decision and then he won it the same way. Then he lost one on the level to the present title-holder. He has given up his feather title voluntarily, but what chance does he think that he has to beat the full-grown lightweights if he can't lick the juniors.

Jack Bernstein, the young man who took Dundee's junior lightweight title originally and then lost it, is going to confine his efforts to the full-grown lightweight class and it is understood that Sullivan, the present junior lightweight title-holder is also going to take a crack at the heavier championship. It's a cinch that he will if Dundee can win it for Sullivan beat Dundee without too much effort some weeks ago. In any event Leonard's retirement will revive a lot of interest in a division that has been very sad for several years now.

Among the tennis players of the country this is the big week. The national championship is at stake and, more than that, the ranking for 1924 will likewise be settled largely by this week's play. Tilden, of course, is the logical favorite for the title for he overshadows the field with the completeness with which Dempsey looms over the heavyweight pugs. Some folks have great hopes that Willyum may be dethroned and point to the fact that he has already lost two of the three titles he won last year, but the loss of doubles titles doesn't mean anything as far as Tilden's singles game is concerned.

National ranking will very largely depend this year on the showing of the players in the nationals for the reason that many of the leading stars haven't played in the early tournaments. Tilden has been barnstorming on the Coast, Johnston has been resting, Richards, Hunter, Williams and Washburn have been abroad. If you ranked the players on their showing to date in the big tournaments you would have Tilden, No. 1; Howard Kinsey, No. 2; Bill Johnston, No. 3; Harvey Snodgrass, No. 4. They will probably wind up somewhat differently.

The above quartet are certain to be in the first ten and with them will be Richards, Hunter and possibly Bob Kinsey. Williams, Chapin, Fisher or Gerald Patterson, depending largely on which of the boys cuts a lot of ice in the nationals this week. As a result of the national doubles tourney last week we ought to have all three California teams in the first ten. SNODGRASS EASILY WINS MATCH AT FOREST HILLS

Lott's Victory Over Former Title Holder is Surprise; Brookes and Bob Kinsey Defeated

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

FOREST HILLS (N. Y.) Aug. 25.—A new star appeared in the tennis firmament today when George Lott, Jr., 17-year old Chicago school boy who holds the national junior championship, eliminated R. Norris Williams, II, of Philadelphia, twice former titleholder, in a sensational upset marking the opening day of play in the national men's singles championship.

Playing in this major title tournament for the first time, Lott uncorked the best game of his brilliant young career to give Williams the most ignominious setback he has suffered since he ruled national heights in 1914 and 1916. The western youth took four sets to win, 6-1, 6-1, 1-6, 6-4, and though Williams, favoring an ankle he twisted in the Olympics, was obviously not at his best, Lott gained his triumph impressively and with the most spectacular sort of tennis.

RAIN HALTS PLAY

Shortly after this match rain abruptly halted play for the rest of the afternoon for twenty-seven of the thirty-seven matches on the day's calendar disposed of. Most of these were near completion, and will be run off at the start of tomorrow's program.

The shower blocked what was slated as the feature match of the day, in which William T. Tilden was to start the defense of his title with the spectacular Spaniard, Manuel Alonso, as his opponent.

Besides the Lott-Williams encounter, several other astonishing upsets occurred, including the defeat of the veteran Australian, Norman E. Brookes, by Hugh Kelleher of New York, and the victory of Watson M. Washburn of New York over Robert Kinsey of San Francisco.

Other favorites, such as William M. Johnston, Vincent Richards and Harvey Snodgrass, advanced with decisive victories while among the powerful foreign contingent the outstanding victors were Pat O'Hara Wood of Australia, and Jean Borotra of France, Wimbledon champion, who downed Carl Fischer of Philadelphia, No. 7 ranking American, in a slashing battle that was hard fought, although the Frenchman won in straight sets.

DESERT STANDS

The tussle between Williams and Lott, the high spot of the opening day, was fought out in one of the outlying courts, but close to a thousand spectators, hearing of the Chicago boy's sensational play, deserted grand-stand matches and stood four deep around the court to see the finish.

Except for a spurt in the third set, which he won easily, and a gallant rally in the final set, Williams did not show his best, while Lott had everything. Williams, although facing defeat, apparently did not care to take too many risks with his ankle, and let many of Lott's hard drives whistle through for placements without making an effort at a return.

The passing of Brookes from the tournament in his first match came as a surprise, but the great Australian veteran, who has a brilliant international record over a score of years, was no match for his young New York opponent. Hugh Kelleher, after the first set, Kelleher, apparently overawed, dropped the opening set without winning a game, but finding that Brookes's strokes had little power to them, he quickly gained confidence and ran out the next three sets, 9-7, 6-2, 6-2.

EYESIGHT FAILS

Brookes's defeat was attributed partly to failing eyesight. He experienced special difficulty today in gauging the ball because of the dull gray light inside the stadium.

Robert Kinsey, fresh from his triumph in the national doubles championship at Boston, was outvolleyed and out-generaled by Watson Washburn, Davis Cup veteran, who ranks five places on the national list below the Californian. Washburn won in four sets, 6-1, 2-6, 6-4, 6-4. Kinsey sprained his left wrist badly in a fall at the end of the third set, but finished out the match with it swathed in bandages.

The foreign contingent fared well in its opening bid for honors against the pick of American stars. Gerald Patterson, Australian ace, did not complete his match, but his team-mates, R. E. Schlesinger and Pat O'Hara Wood advanced, while three Frenchmen—Jean Borotra, Rene La Coste and Alain Gerbault—and two Japanese stars, Okamoto and Fukuda, also remained in the running.

The summaries:

Harvey Snodgrass, Los Angeles, defeated Lewis White, Austin, Tex., 6-0, 6-1, and default.
Walter Westbrook, Los Angeles, defeated Henry Gutid, Boston, 6-0, 6-3, 6-2.

CARDS WEAKENED BY INJURED LADS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 25.—The Cardinals' double victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers Sunday proved costly, in that three players were placed on the injured list. Leo Dickerman, pitcher, while batting in the second inning, stopped a pitched ball with his left arm and suffered fracture of the ulna bone, which probably will mean his loss for the rest of the season.

Cooney, shortstop, dislocated his thumb and will be out of the game for at least ten days. Roscoe Holm, outfielder, was forced from the game when he fractured a small bone in his ankle.

Howard Freigau was operated on today for blood poisoning.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—Gene Sarazen has signed a contract with the Fresh Meadow Country Club of Flushing, N. Y., to act as golf professional for the club for one year, Benjamin C. Riban, president of the club, announced today. Sarazen will abandon barnstorming, it was said.

JACK GOES EAST WITH NEW NOSE

Jack Dempsey, more or less well-known motion-picture star, leaves Los Angeles for the effete East accompanied by his new nose, today. Mr. Dempsey contemplates entering the prize ring in the fall and intends to do his training in New York. Dempsey had some exterior decorating done here recently. Jack believes his appearance will be less terrifying and facilitate his attempts to secure matches.

Tough Middleweights Hold Down Main Bout at Vernon Tonight

COLIMA TAKES ON JOE EGAN

Whittier Scrapper Favorite Over Bostonian

Eastern Dates Added Stake Up for Winner

Rizzo in Debut With Lamar in Semifinal

Boston Joe Egan and Whittier Bert Colima, middleweights, will box the main event at the Doyle coliseum in Vernon tonight. These fighters have trained carefully and are all set and ready for a tough punching party. Egan comes with a reputation as a deadly right-hand hitter, and 'tis well known that Colima does not like to catch heavy right hands.

Colima, because of his four-round record and a previous decision over Egan, is the favorite, but the smart ones concede Egan a big chance because of his punch. The Egan supporters argue that Joe is a better puncher than George Manley and point out that Manley had Colima down for a nine-count one night.

MUCH AT STAKE

Both fighters have much at stake in the way of future matches. Egan can work here often if he can trim Bert and he is booked for Marshfield, Or., on Labor Day with Ray Pelkey. A win over Colima will send him into the Pelkey fight as the middleweight champion of the Coast. Colima is planning an Eastern trip, starting off with a fight against Jack Malone, the Charlestown bridge jumper, in Boston. He wants to go East with a record of as many wins as possible.

The Mexican may figure to outscore the Boston Irishman, but he will respect Joe's punch, and for that reason Egan has a chance. Colima is a 10-to-6 choice, but short-enders have been known to come through in the boxing racket.

SPLENDID "PRELIMS"

Matchmaker Wadhams has a fine preliminary card. Antone Rizzo, Italian star from Boston, will make his bow in the semifinal against Johnny Lamar. The latter boxed a fine fight while beating Eddie Diggins last week. Winsor claims Rizzo has shaded Lamar three times. He will have to be good to make it four in a row, if Lamar fights as well as he did last Tuesday.

Young Datto and Don Davis, the sailor lightweight, are boxing in the special bout. Davis figures to keep Datto pretty busy.

The other bouts are:

Jim Barry and Tony Fuente, 175 pounds.

Jimmy Powell and Toby Montoya, 122 pounds.

Johnny Sacco and Sailor Masterino, 135 pounds.

Roy Edwards and Eddie Burke, 145 pounds.

What an interesting thing to see Russell Wilson back on the job at Whittier College—this time as assistant to Coach Perry. Wilson was the first football coach in these parts to demonstrate that a top-notch football team could be turned out from the tiny college among the orange groves. Way back about 1911 he turned out a great team with Bull Fineh at fullback, Brownell at one half, Mason at quarter, Douglass and Sharpless at ends and other distinguished citizens whose names escape us in the line.

From that time on while Wilson was at the helm the Quakers were a scourge to the Coast teams, forever upsetting somebody or other and always playing sensational football. Wilson's team beat University of Southern California and tied California besides making things unpleasant for teams in their own conference and tied the big Occidental team that beat California in 1916. After Wilson departed the Quakers slipped again until Perry showed up, since when they've renewed their annoying pugnacity and have always been in the running. Wilson and Perry together ought to cause a lot of trouble.

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—The Cubs and Giants broke even in a double-header today, the Cubs winning the first, 3 to 2, and the champions the second, 11 to 7. Barnes held the Cubs safe until the eighth inning of the first game, when a single by Weis drove in two runs and tied the score. In the ninth Grigsby scored the winning run on an infield hit to Kelly, the latter's throw to Barnes and an error by Groh, who threw wild to first on O'Farrell's bunt.

The Giant victory was a slugging match in which ten runs were scored off Wheeler in less than five innings. Kelly hit two doubles, a home run and a single. The scores:

TELEGRAPHER SCORES LOVE AGAINST RACKETER NORTON

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

FOREST HILLS (N. Y.) Aug. 25.—A display of temperament by Brian Norton of St. Louis caused a mild commotion during the national tennis championships this afternoon.

During the height of his match with Clarence Griffin of San Francisco Norton knocked a ball into the press stand, hitting a telegraph operator. His action prompted a protest by newspaper men and Norton, who later said he was annoyed by the sound of rattling typewriter and buzzing telegraph instruments, was understood to be remonstrated with by tournament officials.

LEWIS MAINTAINS LEAD

Bert Ellison Eight Points Behind Top Man in Batting Race for Coast League Honors

The race for batting leadership of the Pacific Coast League for the 1924 season continues to be a close one. Duffy Lewis is still in the van eight points ahead of Bert Ellison. O'Doul is technically in second place, but that honor really belongs to the San Francisco manager who has participated in nearly forty more games than O'Doul. Lewis's mark is .396; O'Doul's .391 and Ellison's .388.

Valla follows with .369, and Lindimore is next with .364. The home-run leaders are Lewis, 27; Arlett and Frederick, 24, and Ellison, 23.

Koehler, with an average of .328, is high for the Sacramento team, which plays against Los Angeles at Washington Park this week. Schneider has batted .358 for Vernon and Hood .353 for Los Angeles.

LEWIS AND ZBYSZKO READY

Rival Grapplers Taper Off Training Stunts and Are All Primed for Big Event at Philharmonic

Putting the finishing touches on their trainnig activities yesterday afternoon, Strangler Lewis and Stanislaus Zbyszko are more than ready for their championship wrestling match at the Philharmonic Auditorium tomorrow night. Both men have been working hard in preparation for the scrap, which is sure to be the biggest thing of its kind staged in this city.

Lewis has been doing most of his work at Long Beach and his camp has been a busy one since his battle with "Toots" Mondt two weeks ago. Those who saw him flop the Colorado cowboy were rather amazed at the waist-line the champion carried. Since that time the protuberance has been practically erased and Lewis will be in much better shape. The wooden dummy on which the "Strangler" trains his arm muscles has come in for a lot of attention.

Zbyszko has been going through a course of exercises at the Los Angeles Athletic Club. The Pole never has to do much to get into first-class shape, for his rigid system of training keeps him in almost perfect condition all of the time. He has been paying special attention to his arm holds lately, as he plans to twist Lewis's arms all out of shape before the champion can get his headlock into operation.

Pat McGill, Omaha Irishman, is to appear in a special added attraction, his opponent to be named this afternoon.

BUZZ ARLETT MAY GO TO CARDINALS

Buzz Arlett will go to the St. Louis Cardinals, according to an authentic report received here yesterday from Oakland. Arlett is both pitcher and outfielder and has been a sensation in the Coast League with his batting. It was said that he would be turned over to the National League team at the close of the 1924 season.

Kid Evans is Winner Over Rudy Benton

Kid Evans, the clever 112-pound newsboy champion, carried off the honors at the newsboys' boxing bouts last night by trimming Rudy Benton. The fight was one of the closest and best ever seen at the club. Rudy scored a knockdown in the first round. At the end of the third, it was so close that the judges ordered an extra round. In the fourth session Evans forged to the front by his clever work at infighting and blows to the jaw. Benton got in some effective punches, but was outscored. The decision, although unpopular, was just.

In the semi-wind-up Red Hurley defeated Young Garcia in a thrilling set-to. William Valanzuela scored a technical knockout over Kid Bernie in the second round with a right to the mouth. Van Alameda beat Ernest Smith. Peter Paterpoff defeated Young Hymie. Harry Statman defeated Young Jake.

The arena was packed and the bouts in almost all cases were corkers. Among those that were present were: Fidel La Barba, world's amateur flyweight champion; Jack Fields, world's amateur featherweight champion, and Joe Salas, national featherweight champion, and runner-up in his class in the Olympic Games bouts in Paris. Each of the lads refereed and each received a big hand. The other referees were M. L. Ruwin and Deacon Pyle. Edward Traub, Dan Tobeyed in great shape.

HEAVY VOTE LOOKED FOR IN PRIMARY

Local Issues Overshadow Contest for Congress in San Bernardino County

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN BERNARDINO, Aug. 25.—With interest in county issues overshadowing the Swing-Sample contest for the Republican nomination for Congress, San Bernardino county will cast 75 per cent of its 34,000 registered votes in the primaries tomorrow, it was predicted tonight in all camps.

Entrance of the Ku Klux Klan into the campaign furnished the last-minute thrill, particularly in the Congressional fight, hundreds of residents throughout the county deserting Congressman Swing when Klansmen were urged to vote for him as a candidate "worthy of our support." Swing had been conceded San Bernardino, his home city.

The campaign for the Superior Court bench, in which Superior Judge Olney, a Gov. Richardson appointee, is opposed by Attorneys Charles L. Allison and John L. Campbell, both of San Bernardino, is regarded by voters throughout the county as the principal issue. No campaign in recent political history has stirred as much interest as the judgeship fight, Judge Olney, although Klan-indorsed, campaigning on an antimachine platform.

Although affecting directly voters of but one district, the campaign for Supervisor is being watched throughout the country, for here again the Klan is attempting to dominate the balloting. Supervisor Kendall, chairman of the board and county purchasing agent, is opposed by James Russell, Klan candidate, and E. M. Cooley.

In the Assembly campaign is A. C. Jones, incumbent, opposed by Elmer L. Howell, a Chino newspaper publisher, for the Republican nomination in the Fifty-seventh District. Michael Firebaugh of San Bernardino is the Democratic candidate. Mrs. Nellie Suess, prominent Redlands club woman, and Mayor Brock of Redlands are contesting for the Republican nomination in the Fifty-seventh Assembly District. Mayor Brock is the Governor's choice, his friends assert.

LIKES HIS JAIL CELL

Riverside Prisoner, Who is a Connoisseur, Praises County Accommodations for Boarders

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

RIVERSIDE, Aug. 24.—"Riverside county has the best jail in California. I've been in more jails than any man in the State and I speak as an expert."

This was the statement, according to Jailor Paul Scott, made by Pat Moon, who twenty years ago was heralded as the best bricklayer in Riverside, and who won local fame, at least, by being the only Moon ever to get full in the Riverside jail. Moon was released from the County Jail today after a twenty-five-day visit made at the request of Police Judge Richard J. Welsh, Jr., after Moon was convicted of having attempted to steal a piece of garden hose.

Pat, according to the officers, did not waste time in visiting old friends in the city following his release, but took the first bus for the Angel City, which, he declared, is the only place for a real white man, free, unmarried and over 21, who likes his liquor "straight."

Moon, in the earlier days of Riverside, attained fame for the regularity with which he made the City Jail his rooming place. For more than ten years, according to police records, Moon spent an average of ten days out of every two weeks in the city bastile.

In those days his offenses were always the same, and, according to the old-timers here, the reference to a certain lunar body, known by the same name, as being "full," was originated in Riverside as a result of Moon's frequent activities with liquor.

Of the last twenty-five years Moon, according to Sheriff's and police officers, has spent about twenty-three years in one jail or another. The last few years he left his cot in the City Jail here, having been transferred to San Quentin for a five-year stretch on a forgery charge. Following his discharge from that branch of the service, he moved his base of operation from place to place until he at last returned to his home in the City Jail. His stay there was short, however, and he was turned over to the County Jail to spend the remainder of his vacation here.

Last Rites for Pioneer Pastor Today Planned

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

POMONA, Aug. 25. — Funeral services for Dr. Samuel J. Carroll 83 years of age, well-known retired minister of this city, who once filled the pulpit of the First Methodist Church here, and who died suddenly Saturday evening, from heart failure while sitting in his auto in front of the Hotel Avis, will be conducted from the First Methodist Episcopal Church Tuesday at 2:30 p.m. Dr. Carroll was in the act of starting his machine when the end came. Dr. Fred L. Horton, who was passing, hurried to the stricken man's side, but could be of no assistance.

Dr. Carroll was born at Dennisonville, N. J., September 3, 1841. He graduated from the Boston University as a theological student, and received his doctor's degree several years later at San Jose, Cal.

Dr. Carroll was a well-known and active orange grower ever since his retirement several years ago, held directorates in the Palm Fruit Company of Wasco, and also at the Indian Hill Citrus Association at North Pomona. He had always been active in church work, even since his retirement.

Dr. Carroll's wife died in 1919 and he is survived by two sons, a sister, brother, nephew and five grandchildren. The two sons are: Victor C. Carroll of Riverside, and Raymond I. Carroll of Rialto. The sister is Miss Belle Carroll of Plainfield, N. J. The nephew is Lewis C. Carroll of 884 East Holt avenue, Pomona. Funeral services will be in charge of Rev. John Hall, pastor of the church and friend of the deceased. Burial will be in Pomona cemetery.

ENFORCE GAME LAW

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 25.—Game laws in San Diego county will be strictly enforced, and all hunters found guilty of violating the statutes will be given the limit, it was declared today by county authorities following the conviction of Joe Aleccia, 1446 Woodlawn avenue, Los Angeles, on charges of shooting quail and dove out of season. Aleccia was fined $75 in Justice Court after he had pleaded guilty to having four quail and one dove in his possession.

The number of deputy game wardens has been increased, and at least one such official is at every important point in the county. Northern sportsmen coming into the county this fall and winter will be shown every consideration, according to County Game Warden Hilldebt, but anyone violating the game statutes will be prosecuted to full extent of the law.

BOYS MISS CASH

Frightened Away After Intended Victim Tells Them to Hunt

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Aug. 25.—Two bandits held up and attempted to rob W. E. Martin, manager of the Anaheim Shoe Store, 3112 East Anaheim street, soon after that establishment opened its doors today for business. The bandits, both boys, Martin said, entered the store and asked for a pair of shoes. While Martin turned to the shelves the youths covered him with guns and demanded that he produce whatever money was in the cash register. Martin, stalling for time, told the boys that the money was hidden and he suggested that they hunt for it. After a search of the store the boys failed to find the cash, and dashing through the door, fled down the street.

CRAP GAME ROBBED BY GANGSTERS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA BARBARA, Aug. 25.—One man was shot and another was badly beaten and $1500 in cash was taken when bandits held up a crap game in a resort at Guadalupe, forty miles north of here early this morning and succeeded in making their escape in an automobile.

The wounded man, a Japanese, was shot through the throat and shoulder and will recover, it is stated.

The three bandits were taking part in the game. One who was apparently their leader, had accumulated a neat pile of winnings when, upon a signal, the trio pulled guns, shouted "hands up," and lined the other occupants of the place against the walls. After a hurried search of the pockets of their victims, the leader scooped the cash in bills and coin from the table and backed away to a motor.

Three men arrested in Santa Maria early this morning are being held as suspects in the robbery.

Needles Man Tells of Improvement After Nose Dive

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Aug. 25.—Another convert to the airplane method of curing deafness was created here today in the person of C. M. Shannon, Needles undertaker, who came to Long Beach from Needles to try the cure after having read in The Times of the experience of Glen Tunnison, Long Beach man who declares he was cured of deafness by a nose dive, taken from a great height in an airplane. Mr. Shannon went up yesterday, and after climbing 7500 feet the pilot headed the nose of the plane downward, making the trip down in forty seconds.

"The ringing in my ears has stopped, and I believe my hearing has been helped materially," Shannon told the pilot, after he had alighted from the plane. "I am anxious to hear the program at the undertakers' convention at Pasadena, and . believe I shall be able to hear the speakers without trouble," he said.

He will carry this to the next member of the team. Three hundred of the best fire fighters in Los Angeles county will be present at the affair. Under the direction of Supervisor Charlton, District Forester Redington and County Forester Flintham, the men will be instructed in fire suppression. They will spend the night at the Mt. SAN DIEGO'S OWN BACK HOME AGAIN

Fourth Regiment Marines Returns After Eight Years in Santo Domingo

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 25.—The Fourth Regiment, U.S.M.C., known throughout the service as "San Diego's own," returned home today on the transport Henderson after eight years absence in Santo Domingo. The marines marched up Broadway, which was decorated with flags and bunting in honor of the homecoming, and were reviewed at the Plaza by Maj.-Gen. J. H. Pendleton, retired, who, as colonel, commanded the regiment here during the days of the Panama-California Exposition.

The future home of the Fourth Regiment will be the new United States Marine Corps Base, on the north shore of the harbor. Col. A. S. Williams is commanding officer. Upon arrival at the base the marines were presented with baskets of fruit by a bevy of pretty San Diego maidens.

Given the name of "San Diego's own" because of service here during the exposition, the Fourth Regiment was a happy lot when the transport docked early this afternoon at Pier No. 1, and city officials and leaders of the Chamber of Commerce extended a formal welcome. Every man was glad to be back in God's country after the long tour of duty in the West Indies.

The Henderson was originally scheduled to dock Tuesday, and the earlier arrival caused a hurried change in plans for the homecoming.

ATTEMPT IS MADE TO ROB DOCTOR'S OFFICE

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, Aug. 25.—A man, believed to be a narcotic addict, made an unsuccessful attempt to rob the offices of Dr. W. H. Putlitz, in the Security Bank Building, early this morning when he was pursued by the janitor of the building, who discovered the man prowling the doctor's rooms. Late Saturday night burglars entered the office of Dr. G. U. Huber in the same building, and escaped with several valuable oil paintings. Police believe that the same man who was frightened from the office of Dr. Putlitz also robbed Dr. Huber's office. That the man was searching for narcotics, rather than loot, is the theory entertained by police.

ORANGE COUNTY ROADS ARE HIT

Trend Forward Economy Seen in Tax Rate

Chief Reduction is Made in Levy for Highways

Cut of 50 Per Cent for This Purpose Approved

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SANTA ANA, Aug. 25. — The trend toward economy was reflected in the new tax rates of Orange county, as tentatively announced today. Commencing with a cut of 15 cents on the county tax rate and spreading to various special districts a general spirit of retrenchment was noted in the budgets prepared for the Board of Supervisors.

The new county rate is $1.75 as compared to $1.90 for last year, the reduction being made on the rate inside of cities, which dropped from $1.50 to $1.35. A cut of 50 per cent in the county good roads tax was the chief reduction made.

Drainage, lighting and other special districts curtailed their expense budget for the coming year in a number of cases, thus accomplishing material decreases in their tax rates. School districts of the county generally maintained rates approximately the same as last year, according to the table of rates announced following yesterday's meeting of the Supervisors, when the schedule was tentatively adopted. Official fixing of the rates, it was said, is not due, under the law, until September 1.

Several exceptions to the general trend toward reduced rates were explained as occasioned by the effect of recently voted bond issues, or the voting of a direct tax in preference to a bond issue. In a few districts, increased tax rate followed a drop in assessed valuation.

Huntington Beach High School district, for example, it was explained, chose to vote a direct tax instead of a bond issue and with the funds thus raised, together with accrued receipts from the district's oil properties, finance construction of a new high school building. Garden Grove district also chose a direct tax instead of bonds for a new building.

CLOVIS BANK ROBBERY SUSPECT UNDER BOND

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

FRESNO, Aug. 25. — Thomas Griffin, alias James Ryan, alias "The Owl," was held to answer to the Superior Court on a charge of robbing the State Bank of Clovis on February 5, when he appeared before Justice of the Peace J. E. Burke at Clovis today. Bond was set as before, at $100,000. The State's attorney asked that the case of Griffin and Catherine Ryan, jointly charged with the bank robbery, be tried simultaneously, but the defense objected and Griffin's case will be heard first. The principal witness was E. E. Reyburn, vice-president of the bank, who related how $28,000 was taken after the bank was held up, and identified Griffin. Reyburn's story remained unshaken on cross-examination.

BUSINESS NEWS OF BUSY MARTS

New Bond Offerings; Cotton Shipments; World Traders

Gradual quickening of the table-grape movement is reported by traffic officials of the Santa Fe, particularly in the shipments from the San Joaquin Valley. Over 180 cars passed through Bakersfield Sunday on their way to eastern markets, which is slightly better than the daily average at this time last year. Wine grapes, now preferably termed "juice" grapes by the trade, will not begin to move in volume until later in the season.

The Southern California production will not become a factor marketwise until the juice variety is ready for shipment, as the acreage south of the Tehachepi is largely devoted to this type of grape. Field reports received by the Santa Fe indicate that the increase in output in this territory will approximate 10 per cent, while it is expected that the total production in the San Joaquin Valley will show a decline of nearly 50 per cent. About 3500 to 4000 cars will probably leave Southern California this season, and about 50,000 from the San Joaquin Valley.

TEXAS COTTON

One thousand bales of Texas cotton have been shipped over the Santa Fe to Los Angeles Harbor for trans-shipment to the Orient. The cotton utilized about 200 cars, and, according to Santa Fe traffic officials, is part of a growing movement of Texas cotton to this port. The demand in the Orient is for a cheaper grade of cotton than is grown in California and Arizona, and most of the business is going to the Texas planters.

DAILY TRADE TALK

Employment and Wages; Speculative Influences; Wheat Market Trends; Business News

Employment in manufacturing industries in July decreased 4 per cent, while pay roll totals decreased 7.8 per cent, and per capita earnings decreased 4 per cent. These unweighted figures, presented by the United States Department of Labor through the Bureau of Labor Statistics, are based on reports from 8789 establishments in fifty-two industries, covering 2,489,847 employees, whose total earnings in one week in July were $60,820,288. The same establishments in June reported 2,592,712 employees and total pay rolls of $65,641,420.

This decrease in employment in July was not entirely due to unusually disturbed industrial conditions. In addition to the regular seasonal decline in some industries, this month is marked also by the beginning of the inventory and vacation period. Therefore, it is probable that the actual decline in employment in July was not quite so precipitate as in the two months immediately preceding.

The New England States dropped 6.1 per cent of their employees in July, followed by the South Atlantic States with a decrease of 5.2 per cent and the East North Central, Middle Atlantic, Pacific and East South Central States with decreases of approximately 4 per cent each. The West South Central geographical division was the only one of the nine divisions showing an increase in employment. The East North Central division shows a decrease of 2 per cent in pay roll totals, followed by the Pacific division with a decrease of 8.8 per cent. The remaining seven divisions also show rather large decreases in pay roll totals.

PAY ROLL TRENDS

Comparing July and June reports from identical establishments increases in employment are shown in July in seven of the fifty-two industries and increases in pay roll totals in five industries. The ice cream industry, as would be expected in July, leads all other industries in increased employment and earnings, the percentages being 6.9 and 7.2, respectively.

Among the forty-five industries showing decreased employment there are five industries whose decreases were from 9.5 per cent to 17.5 per cent. These five industries are cotton manufacturing, rubber boots and shoes, hosiery and knit goods, pottery and stoves, and the last three also led in decreased pay roll totals with percentages of 21.5, 26 and 24.1, respectively.

The agricultural implements, machine tools, glass, iron and steel, hardware, cotton manufacturing, foundry and machine shop products and women's clothing industries also show decreases in pay roll totals of over 9.5 per cent each. Considering the industries by groups, only one material increase is to be found and that is a 1.5 per cent increase in employment in the tobacco group.

The greatest losses in employment and in earnings were 7.1 per cent and 9.1 per cent, respectively, in the textile group; 6.4 per cent and 9.3 per cent, respectively, in stamped ware; 5.6 per cent and 11.7 per cent, respectively, in the iron and steel group, and 5.4 per cent and 10.6 per cent, respectively, in the stone, clay and glass products group. The lumber and vehicles groups also show large losses in total pay rolls, but their losses in employment were much smaller than those mentioned above.

EMPLOYMENT

Comparing reports for July, 1924, with those for July, 1923: In 6057 establishments in the fifty-two industries there was a decrease of 14.3 per cent in employment, a decrease of 19.3 per cent in pay roll totals, and a decrease of 5.9 per cent in per capita earnings. Each of the nine geographical divisions show a considerable decrease, both in number of employees and in their earnings in this twelve-month period, the New England division showing the greatest decreases in both items. Decreases in employment and pay roll totals also are shown in forty-eight of the fifty-two separate industries, the decreases in the separate industries of the textile and iron and steel groups being especially large.

Nearly 6000 establishments reported as to their operating schedules in July. Those in operation were employing three-quarters of their normal force of employmees, and these employees were working 87 per cent of full time.

Wage-rate increases in July were reported by twelve establishments and wage-rate decreases by 124 establishments. One quarter of the decreases were in sawmills and affected 9000 employees, while over one-tenth were in iron and steel plants and affected 6000 employes.

Reports from the Interstate Commerce Commission show an increase on May 15, 1924, in all employees on Class I Railroads, excluding executives and officials, to be 3 per cent as compared with April 15, 1924, and a decrease of 5.5 per cent as compared with May 15, 1923. There was an increase of 1.4 per cent in the monthly compensation in May, 1924, as compared with April, 1924, and a decrease of 7.8 per cent as compared with May, 1923.

SPECULATIVE INFLUENCES

People who study the financial news pages, and the number who do so, not necessarily because of their own investments or speculations, but in order to "get a line" on the future course of business, are just now divided in their inferences. Undoubtedly, most of them have been drawing extremely cheerful conclusions from the prolonged rise in stocks and the grounds on which that advance was based. But some of them look askance at the absence of tangible evidence in the current reports on iron and steel production, unfilled orders, cotton consumption, and car loadings on the railways.

Failure of those statistical returns thus far to reflect the hopes of the stock exchange, taken together with a July export trade so reduced as to cause and "import surplus," has occasioned, here and there uncomfortabe doubt as to whether the higher stock market may not merely result from abnormally low money rates and be in fact unconnected with the outlook for autumn trade.

It would be easy to show that, even if trade revival is as yet reflected faintly in these weekly or monthly statements, nevertheless they indicate improvement. If steel output for July was the smallest since February, 1922, nevertheless the August weekly estimates of the trade have raised the percentage of active mill capacity from forty a month ago to fifty-five last week. If the steel corporation unfilled order books showed a tonnage on July 31 smaller by 75,000 than at the close of June, at least this compared with decrease of 365,000 tons in June, and 580,000 tons in May. Takings of cotton by the textile mills last month was 2606 bales less than the month before but in June the reduction was 57,361.

TRADE REVIVAL

Fewer railway cars were loaded even in the first week of August than in the same week of 1923 or 1920, yet the loadings far overtopped the same week in any other year. But all these considerations are admittedly negative evidence of trade revival, a fact which gives some warrant for the question whether the present stock market can be trusted as a prospect of trade revival; whether, indeed, such downward reactions on the stock exchange as that of last week do not mean that Wall Street itself had been forming hasty judgments.

The reason why business revival in the autumn is looked for by experienced watchers of the signs of the times, is not at all the rise in stocks. That is merely an expression of such feeling. But the judgment of the outlook which occasioned the rise in stocks has a very different basis from that of six months ago. Since that time there has occurred, in the underlying influences which go to make a season of American prosperity or adversity, something not very far removed from a revolutionary change.

Good times in trades are primarily dependent in this country on prosperity in the farm district, full employment at industrial centers, and remunerative but not exorbitant prices for merchandise.

SIX MONTHS AGO

Six months ago the grain belt was in the grip of severe depression, loaded with old indebtedness, confronted with prices for its products down to the prewar level for some, and for all of them on the average, barely one-third as far above 1914 as the prices of what the farmer had to buy. Textile mills were confronted with a virtual embargo on their trade; an inadequate cotton crop and a prohibitive price for cotton made it all but impossible to name a price for finished goods, which consumers would accept. Behind all this was the fact, not then clearly understood, of production, in several basic industries, so much greater than actual trade demand that unsold stocks were beginning to accumulate. The result of that was curtailment of manufacturing activity, on a scale which has been remorselessly reflected in the midsummer returns of production and unemployment.

WHEAT SITUATION

Within a few days an unexpected change has come in the world's situation, making it still bullish, but less than recently. Crop estimates have been raised in the United States and Canada owing to good weather for filling and the outlook is for larger yields. There has been no material damage to spring wheat by rust or frost and indications are that the yields per acre will largely overrun early estimates. Some of the best people in the trade have raised their estimates of the United States wheat crop to 850,000,000 bushels, to 870,000,000 bushels, against 814,000,000 bushels suggested by the government report this month.

Last year we raised 786,000,000 bushels. Canada is expected to increase its yield in the three Provinces to 275,000,000 bushels or 25,-

INSURANCE NEWS

LIFE INSURANCE SALES

Figures just compiled by the Life Insurance Sales Research Bureau show that sales of life insurance improved materially in July over a year ago. This improvement was shown by an 11 per cent increase and was particularly significant because only a month ago, the figures showed that June, 1924, was only 1 per cent greater than June, 1923. Furthermore, this improvement is important because it is in a business which reaches almost every county in every State, and the figures tabulated by the bureau represent companies which have in force 88 per cent of the total business of the country. Total sales in July of this year were $591,346,000 and in July a year ago $534,075,000. These facts make it apparent that life insurance, in common with numerous other lines of business, is at this time giving genuine evidence of "having turned the corner."

Not only have the sales of life insurance shown a marked improvement in July, but taking the seven months of this year and comparing them with a year ago shows a 10 per cent gain for 1924. The total sales for this period reached the enormous total of $4,256,288,000.

The bureau figures indicate furthermore, that all the various geographical sections of the country showed improvement in July. The greatest gain was in those States comprising the Middle Atlantic group—New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania—which showed a volume of sales in July 23 per cent greater than July, 1923. Other sections showed the following results:

New England, 13 per cent gain; East North Central, 5 per cent gain; West North Central, 2 per cent gain; South Atlantic, 3 per cent gain; East South Central, 9 per cent gain; West South Central, 11 per cent gain; Mountain, 6 per cent gain; Pacific, 4 per cent gain.

Of the individual States, a large majority showed gains—some of the leaders being New Hampshire, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Alabama, Mississippi and Oklahoma—and only a few show appreciable losses. A study of these geographical results shows that the improvement was widespread and not at all limited to any particular area.

TRADE TALK GIVEN

...ceeds to 80,000,000 bushels, as the final crop report recently estimated. The Canadian crop is expected to be around 300,000,000 bushels, which is a shortage of 174,000,000 bushels, which is partly made up by increased yield in the United States.

"Business is moving too fast for the country to be confirmed to absorb the offerings, and with good weather in the harvest a heavy movement is expected in the near future, which, coupled with a continued free movement in the Southwest and Northwest, is creating accumulations of grain that makes too much room for any speculative manipulation," is claimed by one of the leading grain brokers that foreigners have not bought either cash wheat or futures in the volume reported, and that there have been exaggerated reports of export sales in the last week. Export clearances at the present rate of wheat this season, it is said, is not to be expected that there will be any 300,000,000 or 400,000,000 bushels of us within thirty days.

INCREASING ACTIVITY

Bank clearinghouse weekly reports show a steadily mounting volume of purchasing, the increase for the last week being equal to 3.2 per cent. This increase is contributed by 15 sections. The largest increase, 5.9 per cent, is reported from the fourth agricultural section. The seventh agricultural section is credited with an increase of 5.7 per cent. The middle agricultural section records an increase of 4.6 per cent. The east section records an increase of 2.2 per cent. The Pacific coast section has a slight decrease equal to 0.4 per cent. The mountain section, where the cotton buying season comes next, records a decrease of 1.4 per cent. California and Oregon are the only two Western states to show a gain for the week ago.

Compared with the corresponding week of August, 1923, the country as a whole shows a decrease of 1.4 per cent. This decrease is contributed by two sections in the south agricultural, with a decrease of 3.3, and the east, with a decrease of 1.4 per cent. The remaining sections show gains varying from 0.8 in the mountain agricultural section, to 4.4 in the fourth agricultural section. For the same week a year ago, gains are somewhat slower throughout the country, particularly in the Pacific Coast, Mountain and south agricultural sections.

AUTO PRODUCTION

A weekly survey of automobile conditions made by Ward, yesterday, says that the total production of motor cars is expected to exceed July by about 50,000 cars, bringing the total to 350,000. Demand is considered better in farm districts and good crops have been harvested. It also shows little improvement over the past two weeks in industrial sections.

Practically all the new models are said to be introduced before the end of will be out by September. Many of the larger producers announce their innovations for another week.

Manufacturers are proceeding cautiously as sensational increase in output need be expected for the rest of this year. Indications are that it will be expanded about 10 per cent a month until late in the year.

Operations in parts and accessory plants are following the pace set by car builders and their volume is considerably larger than it has been for some time. It is becoming increasingly evident, however, that there is too great productive capacity in this branch of the industry. Numerous companies are liquidating unprofitable units and several are going out of business entirely.

WHAT THE WORLD WANTS

Opportunities for the sale of a diverse assortment of America's industrial and agricultural products in twenty-nine countries of the world have been reported to the Department of Commerce this week by United States trade envoys stationed abroad.

The four geographical sections of the earth are represented in the requests for sewing machines, airplanes, ice-cream freezers, watermeters, ladders, motion-picture films, poultry-raising equipment, oilcloth, hardware, shoe findings, barbed wire, automobiles, chemicals, hosiery and general merchandise, foodstuffs and industrial machinery.

A firm in Belgium asks the department to furnish contact with an American who can furnish 200 to 300 tons of paraffin wax monthly. Canada inquires for fruits of all kinds in fifty to 300-case lots. Paraguay wants to buy steel plows of the one-horse type at the rate of 200 each month. Palestine seeks the purchase of fifty tons of iron fittings and spigot connections.

LOANS INCREASE

Reports from the ninety-six Morris plan banks and companies, organized by the Industrial Finance Corporation and operating in 106 American cities, show that 241,000 loans were made in the first six months of 1924, for an aggregate amount of $58,750,000. This is $8,000,000 more than for the same period in 1923. The total number of loans made on the Morris Plan to June 30 was 2,680,000 and the amount $527,560,000.

Where Character Counts

IN placing loans on real estate, there is one thing to be taken into consideration that is of even greater importance than the property's physical value. That thing is CHARACTER—the character of the owner of the property.

An honest, intelligent, progressive owner causes an increasing property value instead of a decreasing value on the property that is the security for the mortgage.

Clients, investing in Real Estate First Mortgages handled by us, are not only assured of a careful investigation of the physical value of the property on which the loan is made, but also of the character of the property owner.

Individual First Mortgages, yielding 8%, can be had in amounts to suit your convenience. No mortgage exceeds 50% of conservative appraisal. Call or write for full information.

BOND QUOTATIONS

Nervous Trading

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—Sharp breaks in Wilson & Co., issues following the appointment of a receiver for the company unsettled the entire bond market today. Prices crumbled generally in all groups except the first-grade rails, most of which closed the day with small net gains.

Although the Wilson liens fluctuated nervously from the start of trading, heavy selling did not break out until after the announcement that receivership proceedings had been started. The decline in the convertible 7 1-2s at one time extended to about 6 points but an official statement from the company that the action would be contested, brought about a feeble rally toward the close. Net losses were 2 3-8 points for the first sixes, 3 5-8 points for the convertible 7 1-2s and 4 points for the convertible 6s.

Pronounced irregularity in the stock market accounted to some extent for the hesitancy of trading in other bonds, notably the rail issues. St. Paul mortgages again were active but subject to conflicting price movements, the 4s of 1925 displaying a firmer tone, while the refunding 4 1-2s lost more than a point. Heaviness cropped out in Pennsylvania general 4 1-2s, Chicago, Great Western 4s, Missouri Pacific 6s and Northern Pacific refunding 6s.

Both the French government's active issues declined a point each on reports that the Dawes plan would encounter serious opposition in Germany.

Public offerings will be made tomorrow of $12,500,000 Pacific Gas and Electric Company 5 1-2 per cent bonds due in 1952 at a price of 98 and accrued interest to yield about 5.65 per cent. Proceeds will be used for plant improvements.

Following are yesterday's high, low and closing prices of bonds on the New York Stock Exchange and the total sales of each bond. This market is over Associated Press wires and to expedite transmission the closing is omitted when it is the same as the low, and both low and close are omitted when they are the same as the high.

NEW YORK CURB

Oils Lose Ground

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—Stock prices opened firm on accumulation of week-end buying orders in today's curb market, but the general list soon turned reactionary, with most of the oils in free supply as a result of another series of gasoline price cuts. Announcements of a substantial increase in gasoline consumption and further reduction last week in Texas crude oil production failed to check the selling in the oil group. Prairie Oil and Gas, Ohio Cities Service and Solar Refining dropped 1 to 2 points, but net losses in most of the other active shares were held to small fractions. Red Bank, Standard Oil of New York and Gulf Oil of Pennsylvania closed fractionally higher. Industrials and public utilities were mixed.

No par common stock of the Joseph W. Jones Radio Manufacturing Company, 100,000 shares of which were admitted to trading, was active at 7¾, or slightly above the offering price. Mack Truck receipts also were traded in for the first time, selling between 46 and 46¾.

GOVERNMENT FIGURES INDUCE SHARP BREAK

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—Cotton futures broke $6 to $7.50 a bale today, the market being generally demoralized following the early unsettlement in Liverpool, the first market to reflect speculative sentiment over Saturday's bearish government report. Prices here broke some 96 to 110 points on the opening call and before the end of the first hour were down 135 to 150 points. Wall street, New Orleans, Liverpool and the West were heaviest sellers. Sentiment was distinctly bearish throughout the day and profit-taking from shorts and scale-down buying was sufficient to check the break when business tapered off in the afternoon. Feeble rallies from the lowest took place from time to time and final prices were off 107 to 118 points net.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—Rumors of immense export sales of wheat and rye, with some estimates as high as 10,000,000 bushels, and the removal of hedges against cash grain were largely instrumental in making a strong rally in all grains after liquidation had carried prices off to a new low on the present downturn.

Bulls liquidated early, and short sellers later, stop-loss orders being uncovered on the way down and again on the way up. The close was about the top on wheat, with net gains of 1@1¼c. Corn broke 2½ cents early and at the bottom showed 18¾@19c under the high of a week ago on the deferred deliveries, but the close was ⅛@⅝c higher, while September was 1⅝ cents lower. Oats were ⅛@2¼c and rye 1@1⅛c higher at the last.

There was no question but that a large export business was done in wheat during the day, probably 3,500,000 bushels in all positions, but it was impossible to make accurate estimates. The seaboard reported 2,000,000 bushels, with 200,000 barrels flour, the latter including sales made recently and not given out. Around 1,000,000 bushels Manitoba wheat were claimed by, Winnipeg interests. There was nothing in the buying of futures to suggest that any such business as claimed in some quarters had been put through.

At the low point, wheat showed 11¾@12¼c under the high of a week ago, and there was considerable change in sentiment as the result of the big decline, and also on the continued dry weather in Argentina, strength in Liverpool, and the rapidity with which the cash grain offered during the past four days has been absorbed. Including sales made over Sunday there seems to be but little doubt but that in four days over 10,000,000 bushels wheat had been sold. Dry weather prevails in parts of India and is causing some damage. Liverpool was off only ⅛@⅜d at the last. September here closed at 1.24@1.24⅛, December at 1.29@1.29⅛ and May at 1.34⅝@1.34⅝.

December corn broke to 1.06 and May to 1.08 on the early trading, as the result of further liquidation, but the decline brought in free buying with a rally of 4⅝@5⅛c from the bottom and at last December was 1.05⅝@1.06 and May 1.08⅛@1.07, with September 1.12@1.13. A local trader who had been out in the country for several days returned and became a free buyer of futures. This buying and sympathy with the upturn in wheat had considerable influence on the market. The decline in American values of late, combined with an advance in Argentine prices, had put the market slightly above a parity with domestic grain in seaboard interior territory. San Francisco confirmed recent reports that around 1,000,000 bushels Argentine corn had been bought on the Pacific Coast. The first cargo is due September 1.

An oversold condition was disclosed in oats when shorts and commission houses started to buy on the strength in other grains and a rally of 2¼@2⅝c from the low point was made, with the finish about the top. Weather conditions were favorable for threshing and the movement is increasing rapidly. Local arrivals were 591 cars.

A liberal export business was done in rye, with estimates of around 1,000,000 bushels, but the seaboard claimed only 500,000 to 600,000 bushels, with France and Germany the buyers. There were claims of 3,000,000 bushels sold.

BY HOWARD C KEGLEY

The Los Angeles basin started the week rather auspiciously yesterday by completing six new producers, five in the Torrance field and one at Dominguez.

The first new well at Torrance for the Chanslor-Canfield Midway Company's Torrance No. 64, a big-barrel producer at 3695 feet, and the Standard Oil Company scored a three-cornered development, completing Sentinel-Joughin No. 1 at 3325 feet for 250 barrels, Marco Pee No. 19 at 3750 feet for 270 barrels, and Standard Dominguez No. 18 at 3350 feet for 240 barrels. The Superior Oil Company completed its Torrance No. 47 on the Gaylin lease, according to official reports, the initial production being 106 barrels during the first twenty-four hours. Bottom of the hole is at 3944 feet, which is somewhat deeper than other wells on the area have been.

Schrader Sit Done

The Union Oil Company yesterday completed the farthest west well in the Dominguez field, by bringing in Callender No. 6 with an initial flow reported at 2700 barrels per day. Gravity of the oil is 32 deg., and the cut is less than 34 per cent. Bottom is at 3000 feet.

Callender No. 6 is located on the south line of the Callender lease, near Victoria street, and about four feet west of Callender No. 3, second producer of the field. The right rate of production is regarded as encouraging in view of the fact that the question of the productivity of the western part of the Callender and Carson leases of the Union, has been a matter of some speculation, than actual knowledge.

Less than a mile west of the Callender No. 6 is the hole where the J. B. Chase Oil Company drilled the deepest wildcat to over 4500 feet, without a showing. Somewhere between the Chase and Callender No. 6 is the edge of the pool, and from the showing of the former well, geologists believe it is likely to be nearer the Chase than the Callender.

Shell Coring Ahead

The Shell Company was reported yesterday to be coring ahead in its Fee No. 2 at Torrance at a depth of 4436 feet. A "fish" in the hole at 4401 feet. The cores are said to show considerable oil. It is asserted that the cores are shaly in formation. The Shell rather expects to pick up a second commercial pool in this hole.

Rose Casing

The Union Oil Company yesterday suspended drilling operations in Rosecrest No. 1 well in the Rosecrans field, and prepared to set 10-inch casing. Depth was given as 3161 feet, the formation reported being brown shale with shell and gray sand.

Officials of the Union Oil Company assert that casing is being set because the hole is getting too deep to drill with an eight-inch drill stem, and the company desires to keep the hole in shape to continue drilling with a six-inch string of drill stem. No oil showings have been found, according to this report.

Miley-Marland Spuds

The Miley-Marland No. 1 in the Rosecrans area of the Rosecrans field, nearly due east of the Maxwell No. 1, was spudded in yesterday, according to E. J. Miley. The well was started with a twenty-inch hole and twenty-two-inch surface casing will be used, it is said.

Three more derricks are in process of completion in this district by the Miley-Marland interests, and are to be started as soon as possible, it is said. This combination of five five-acre tracts on two sides of the Superior Oil Company's Maxwell lease, and plans to conduct immediate drilling on all but one, which is too far south to be in the area considered proven.

Forest Cores Ahead

The Shirley wildcat well which is being drilled by the J. W. Jamesons east of Olive on the Cruise lease, is coring at 4474 feet, according to reports. Formation is said to be sandy brown shale, with nothing unusual in the way of oil sands yet discovered.

Pool Room

The Bardsen Oil Company has started string of casing in its well east of Puente at 1622 feet, expects to drill out and make a completion later and production within the next week or ten days, it is reported. Officials of the company believe that sufficient formation has been passed to make a 400-barrel well. Other operators in the district have a small producer will be HOGS—Active demand at unevenly 25@50c higher prices developed for the moderate supply of butchers and an early clearance was effected. The bulk of good and choice 160 to 195-pound butchers turned from 11.75@12.00, latter price top, equaling the season's high mark. Mixed butchers sold downward to 11.25, with loads carrying packing sows downward to 10.25; packing sows advanced about 25c, most clearing from 7.50@8.25.

Beautiful "Temples to the Dead"

Structures of California Mausoleum Company at Hollywood and Inglewood Unequalled in the State for Beauty, Permanency and Method of Construction

Fitting disposition of the bodies of the beloved dead is a privilege as well as a solemn duty. One considers the task reverently: "Where can I find a suitable place, where the mortal garments will rest in peace, free from disturbance, free from corruption, permanently sealed away, unreachable by the storms, cared for, protected, in surroundings that are beautiful and dignified—where can I find such a place?"

The quiet "Temples to the Dead" of the California Mausoleum Company are exactly such places, intelligently planned and built, under patent-protected methods of construction which alone permit the bodies of the dead to be taken naturally and inoffensively back into the bosom of Great Nature.

No false ideas of "commercialism" or "speculation" have entered into the development of these beautiful buildings. There are right methods of construction, right lines of action in conducting Mausoleums, right ways of bringing their advantages to the attention of refined, intelligent people—and there are right and reverent systems of maintenance and care that insure the retention of fitting surroundings, orderliness and tranquillity.

You are respectfully invited to visit our Mausoleums—an automobile appointment may be made by telephone, MAin 1534. Or if you prefer first to look over our Hollywood or Inglewood booklets, completely illustrated and devoted to brief, specific information, one will be mailed upon request. Address California Mausoleum Co., 206 Harris Bldg., 110 West 11th St.—[Advertisement.

A Delightful Row

"My wife had suffered from stomach and liver trouble for many years and had taken medicine enough to sink a ship; so when I brought home a bottle of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, on the advice of my employer, she refused to take it. Her liver trouble hadn't helped her disposition any. We had a big row, but she took it the next week. Her ailments have all disappeared." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. At all druggists.—[Advertisement.

HARRY DUNLAP FOUND GUILTY

Convicted of Assault, Intent to Murder and Robbery

Two Verdicts in First Degree, Three in Second

Badge Bandit Acquitted on Two Other Counts

Harry J. Dunlap, badge bandit, was found guilty by a jury last night in Judge Crail's court of a charge of criminal assault, five of robbery, two of which were in the first degree and three in the second, and one charge of assault with intent to commit murder. On two counts of robbery he was found not guilty.

The verdict was returned after three hours' deliberation. When the first two verdicts—both not guilty—were read, Dunlap's face brightened considerably but as subsequent verdicts were read his face became a deathly white and he was apparently laboring under a strain to keep his composure.

Judge Crail fixed the date for sentence at 9:30 a. m. Thursday. Dunlap's attorney gave oral notice of appeal.

That Dunlap will spend the rest of his life in prison is possible under the jury's verdict. On the count charging assault with intent to commit murder he may receive from one to fourteen years; on each of the two counts of first degree robbery he may receive from five years to life; on each of the three counts of second degree robbery he may get one year to life, and on the criminal assault count he may get from one to fourteen years. The sentences, under the law, may be fixed by the court to run concurrently or consecutively.

TEMPER FLARES

Dunlap's tiger temper returned to him as he was being taken out of the courtroom when he savagely kicked a camera from the hand of a newspaper photographer who was attempting to take a flashlight picture. At the time, he was handcuffed to Deputy Sheriff Monteleone followed by a squad of half a dozen deputies.

The jury's verdict on the nine counts follows: Count 1, robbery of J. R. Lane of $6 on February 28, 1922, not guilty; No. 2, robbery of Vernon C. Jones, same date, of $5, and a note for $312, not guilty; No. 3, robbery of Edgar C. Milburn, April 8, 1923, of an automobile valued at $600, guilty in the second degree; No. 4, criminal assault of Helen Griffith, companion of Milburn, on the same date, guilty; No. 5, robbery of James Wilson on October 1, 1923, of $85, guilty in the first degree; No. 6, robbery of Jack Branscomb, on February 15, 1923, of $41 in cash and a pistol valued at $40, guilty in the second degree; No. 7, robbery of W. P. La Roux, April 8, 1923, of $31, guilty in the second degree; No. 9, robbery of Ray Durke, July 15, 1923, $20, automobile of the value of $500, guilty in the first degree; No. 10, assault with intent to commit murder on Ray Durke, with a "sap" at the time of the robbery, guilty.

Count No. 8, charging the robbery of the West Adams State Bank on December 1, 1923, was dismissed on motion of the District Attorney before the case went to the jury.

After the verdicts had been read, Attorney Golden, representing Dunlap, asked for a poll of the jury. This was granted. Dep. Dist.-Atty. Burke, who assisted in the prosecution, was in the courtroom from the time the jury first reported until the time the members were polled.

The jury returned its verdict on

CANDIDATES IN PRIMARY PREDICT VICTORY TODAY

Sheldon-Keyes Race and Drive of Fredericks Expected to Draw 50 Per Cent of Voters

More than 572,130 men and women in Los Angeles city and county are eligible to vote in today's primary. It is estimated that 50 per cent or more of the registered vote will be cast as a result of the exceptional interest aroused by the contest between Judge Caryl M. Sheldon and Asa Keyes, for District Attorney and by the campaign of Congressman John D. Fredericks for re-election in the Tenth District.

The polls will be open from 6 a.m. until 7 p.m. There are 1962 precincts in the city and county, of which 996 are in Los Angeles city and 966 in the county outside Los Angeles city. Information concerning the election may be obtained from the office of Registrar of Voters Kerr in the Hall of Justice Annex, telephone MAin 2300.

OPINION DIVIDED

Attorney Joe Crail, manager of the Fredericks campaign, predicted yesterday that Capt. Fredericks will receive a majority in excess of 10,000 over Ralph Criswell. This estimate, Mr. Crail said, is based on an assumption that a large vote will be cast in the Congressional contest. The Criswell camp appeared hopeful, but not optimistic.

Opinion is divided as to the outcome in the District Attorney race. The supporters of Keyes expect to carry Los Angeles city, but admit the probable superior strength of Sheldon in the adjacent communities and in the county at large. Both sides expressed confidence of victory last night.

A write-in campaign for Charles Randall in the Ninth Congress District is not expected to affect the overwhelming renomination and election of Congressman Lineberger, who is otherwise unopposed.

Final campaign efforts were concluded last night by candidates for the Legislature, the Superior Court and Board of Supervisors; the chief activity today by all contestants will be centered on the task of getting the voters to the polls.

Of the 572,129 registrants for the primary, 319,048 are residents of the city of Los Angeles, and 253,091 reside outside the city. The total city and county Republican registration is 351,057 and the total Democratic registration is 128,487. The total number of voters declining to state party affiliations is 73,656.

RULES OF VOTING

All registered voters express a choice for District Attorney, members of the Board of Supervisors and for the Judiciary, but only those stating party affiliations are entitled to vote for candidates for Congress and the State Senate and Assembly. Candidates for the county central committees of the several parties may be voted for, of course, only by party registrants.

According to registration figures

CITY PLANS STRUCTURE AT HARBOR

Six-Story Building Costing $350,000 Will House All Departments

Plans for a $350,000 six-story municipal building at Los Angeles Harbor, to house all city offices at the port, were outlined yesterday at a conference between Chairman C. J. Colden of the Harbor Commission, Captain of Police Hagenbaugh and C. D. Mansfield of the Board of Public Works.

The new structure will be erected on the site now occupied by Seventh street and Harbor Boulevard by the old San Pedro City Hall.

Funds for the construction of the building are immediately available, Capt. Hagenbaugh said. Of the total amount, the police department will contribute the $100,000 which was to have been used for the construction of a new police station at the port, the Harbor Department will add $150,000, $30,000 will be contributed from the Receiving Hospital fund and the remaining $70,000 will be made up by the fire department, health department, Board of Public Works and the municipal courts.

Present plans call for a fireproof structure of conventional design with a frontage on Harbor Boulevard of 162 feet; and a depth of 100 feet on Seventh street. Wall street, the short, one-block areaway at the north end of the present building, will be condemned and the space, with the exception of an alley, used for the new building.

The entire two upper stories of the new building will be utilized by the Harbor Commission, President Colden said. The Fire and Police departments will be housed on the ground floor with the various other municipal departments occupying the intervening floors.

Plans are also under way for the establishment at Los Angeles Harbor of a department of the Superior Court, which would also be housed in the new building with the present Police Court maintained there.

RAPS ALL-AMERICAN CANAL

W. F. Holt, Famous Imperial Pioneer, Commends Colorado River Control Club

The following letter written by W. F. Holt to C. E. Paris, secretary of the Colorado River Control Club, characterizes the program of the club as a sound, practical and reasonable solution of the Imperial Valley problem. Mr. Holt, chief builder of Imperial Valley, knows its problems as well as its opportunities, as perhaps no other man does. His letter is consequently an impressive document on this important subject.

Aug. 24, 1924.

Mr. C. E. Paris,
El Centro, Cal.

Dear Mr. Paris: I have noted with interest the efforts of the Colorado River Control Club for the control and utilization of the flood waters of the Colorado River, free from the pet hobbies and personal interest of any man or set of men and for the best interest of all who may be interested in this great problem. It seems to me that this is the first organized movement that has gotten under way looking to the solution of this problem along practical and reasonable lines.

I have never believed it possible to pass the necessary bill to do this work so long as it is hooked up with the "All-American Canal," for the following reason: I still believe there are enough sensible and level-headed men in Congress to prevent the passage of a bill with the dangerous possibilities in this "All-American Canal" project. Personally, I have always been opposed to the "All-American Canal" and have always believed and still believe that it would be a calamity to the Imperial Valley to have this "All-American Canal" project saddled onto it. Considering the tremendous cost of building, maintaining and operating, and the other dangerous problems involved, I do not believe it is practicable or feasible and I do not believe it is at all necessary, as a very small part of the cost of the "All-American Canal" expended on the present main canal system would give a much better and safe water supply to the Imperial Valley without the dangers and cost of maintaining involved in the "All-American Canal." I would add that I am not influenced in any way in this matter by anyone or by any personal interest. I have no interest of any kind, either directly or indirectly, in Mexico or in any power company, and do not expect to have. To assure the success of this control matter it should have the support of all the property owners of the Imperial Valley, and this you cannot get with the "All-American Canal" tacked onto it, because a very large part of the property owners are opposed to the "All-American Canal."

It seems to me that the boost-

ECONOMY AND EFFICIENCY

Records of Supervisors Entitle Them to Support at Polls

The election in today's primary of all three incumbent candidates for the Board of Supervisors—Chairman McClellan in the Fourth District, J. H. Bean, unopposed, in the Second District, and H. W. Wright in the Fifth District—is predicted by those in touch with conditions in the three Supervisorial districts.

Although opponents of McClellan and Wright have conducted an active campaign while the incumbents have been attending to county business, thus gaining an apparent advantage in obtaining the attention of the electorate, the exceptional record for efficient service to the county established by the incumbent candidates has received wide recognition from their constituents and is expected to result in their overwhelming indorsement at the polls.

With the two hold-over Supervisors, McClellan, Wright and Bean have formulated a policy for conducting the county's business which has not only introduced an era of economy and efficiency, but which, through retention of the present board in its entirety, is expected to greatly increase the standard of county government, prevent unnecessary expenditures and obtain full value for the outlay of all public funds.

OFFICERS TRAIL SUSPECT IN BELL BEHEADING CASE

Deputy sheriffs yesterday were searching for a stranger seen loitering about the Sam Seelig store at Bell for some time before Henry Carpenter, manager of the store, disappeared, to be found two months later in a river bed near Whittier with head severed. The stranger is known to have been an acquaintance of the supposed murder victim. He had been seen in conversation with him and at one time invited Carpenter to accompany him to Mexico.

The deputies also found a friend of Carpenter who told them that the latter man had pointed to the stranger some days before his disappearance with the remark:

"There goes the man who broke up my home."

With the finding of this man, it is believed, much of the mystery which surrounds the finding of Carpenter's mutilated body concealed under a pile of brush in the river bed will be cleared away.

Capt. Bright, head of the Sheriff's homicide squad, and Deputy Sheriffs Stensland and Weir, who are seeking an explanation of Carpenter's death, also announced yesterday that they had located the woman with whom the dead man had corresponded and who had sent him a number of affectionate notes.

The woman was unable to aid them in their investigation, they said, and for that reason they are withholding her name. She convinced them, they said, that she knew nothing of the circumstances surrounding Carpenter's death. She was located through the discovery of several of her notes among Carpenter's effects signed with the initial "E."

However, the deputies stated that the woman will be questioned again in a short time in an effort to find out what she knew of Carpenter's past life and whether she was acquainted with any of his friends.

Two principal theories regarding the death are held by the investigators. One is murder and other that he went to a bootleg dive, died from drinking too much poisoned liquor and his body was concealed in the river bed by the bootleggers, fearful of an investigation.

MELINE CHOICE APPROVAL SEEN

Council Harbor Committee for Appointment

Workman Makes Statement After Conference

Nominee's Mind Held Open on Engineer Squabble

The Mayor's appointment of Frank L. Meline to the Board of Harbor Commissioners will be approved if the City Council accepts the recommendations of its Harbor Committee. Mr. Meline yesterday met with the Harbor Committee at its invitation and after the conference President Workman of the Council, who is chairman of the committee, announced that he would bring in a report at the Council meeting tomorrow, recommending confirmation of Mr. Meline's appointment. No opposition to Mr. Meline from Councilmen not on the Harbor Committee has developed.

"The only thing we wanted to learn from Mr. Meline," explained Mr. Workman, "was whether he had any preconceived idea about the fight among members of the harbor board over the harbor engineer's office. He assured us that he is not allied in any way with either Commissioner Colden or Allen, who are opposing one another and who will be his associates on the board. Mr. Meline purposes to make an independent investigation of the matter and his vote will decide it. He can recommend the return of Engineer Ludlow, discharged by the board over Mr. Colden's protest, or he can hold with Mr. Allen that the discharge was justified; we do not care just so long as he starts in with an open mind. We are sure he will give his best attention to this most important matter of harbor development."

nine counts, seven of which were robbery, one of criminal assault and one of assault with intent to commit murder, all of which were in the first degree.

MIX-UP ON VERDICTS

In his instructions to the jury, Judge Crail stated that the State failed to prove that the gun used by the defendant was loaded so far as three counts of highway robbery were concerned. In effect, that meant that the jury could find the defendant guilty of only second-degree robbery on the three counts.

When the foreman passed over the verdicts he informed the judge that one was yet unsigned owing to a ruling of the court which the jury understood would be made following the objection of Dist.-Atty. Keyes to the instructions to the jury. When Judge Crail responded his original instructions and ruling still held, the foreman signed the verdict on that particular count in open court.

After Judge Crail received the verdict he said he would look it over. He discovered one count in which the jury failed to fix the degree and that the word "not" had been stricken out, which was improper, he said. The foreman said that the form the jury used was the only one available whereupon Judge Crail stated that he had inadvertantly failed to give the jury all the verdicts covering the third count of the indictment.

RETIRES TO ROOM

The missing counts were given to the jury and it retired to the consultation room to bring in its proper verdict on the counts specified.

Dunlap, as he walked into the court room last night, seemed to have lost the wearied look that characterized his demeanor during the last day of the trial. Instead he laughed and joked with the deputy sheriffs.

No spectators were allowed in the court room after the 5 p.m adjournment with the exception of court attaches, deputy sheriffs and a few of the friends of the latter.

FACE SHOWS STRAIN

Dunlap sat with drawn face while he listened to his attorney Milton Golden plead for his liberty. He did not seem to mind the flayings given him by Dist.-Atty. Keyes and Dep. Dist.-Atty. Burke, in their arguments for the prosecution, but his intense look of worry returned as Judge Crail instructed the jury.

Dep. Dist.-Atty. Burke made the opening argument for the prosecution. He assailed the defendant for his brutality to his asserted victims, as recited by them from the witness stand. He pointed out that Dunlap gloried in the fact that he was "hard-boiled," and told of his "bravado" while testifying in his own behalf as evidence of his brutality. Burke declared that the evidence showed Dunlap had followed a studied method in his various hold-ups, confining his depredations almost exclusively to men and women, parked on lonely roadsides in automobiles. He said the asserted badge bandit threw them off their guard by representing himself as an officer of the law, and in that manner made his victims more amenable to his wishes. Burke reviewed briefly the evidence in the nine cases on which Dunlap is now being tried, and ended with a plea for his conviction on all nine counts of the indictment.

DEFENSE PLEA

Charging that his client had been "made the dumping ground for all of the unsolved crimes in Los Angeles county," Milton Golden entered upon a two-hour plea in defense of Dunlap. He declared that Dunlap had been made a "scapegoat" by the authorities, and that owing to the wide publicity that had been given the case prior to the badge bandit's return to Los Angeles, public opinion was all against him.

Golden laid great stress upon what he declared the record that Dunlap's alleged victims had failed to make positive identifications in all of the nine counts of robbery, one of criminal assault and one of assault with intent to commit murder. He flayed the District Attorney's office for what he declared to be misconduct and suppression of evidence, while his co-counsel, A. V. Kaufman, apologized to Dep. Dist.-Atty. Burke and the court stenographer following a declaration that certain questions in the stenographer's transcript had been intentionally left out.

In closing, Golden declared that Dunlap was a "sacrifice on the altar of some one's political ambitions," and that the District Attorney was "continually rushing the case, trying to get it before the public before the 26th inst."

"As long as men of the stamp of this man Dunlap are permitted to walk the streets of Los Angeles, the womanhood of our city lives under a constant menace."

This one sentence of the closing appeal of Dist.-Atty. Keyes briefly summarizes the final attempt of the prosecution to place Dunlap forever behind the bars—beyond the pale of society.

"The time has come for American people, acting on juries, to look well into the evidence in crimes such as Dunlap stands charged with," Keyes declared.

"There are those among us who fear to permit our women to go out upon the streets after nightfall because Dunlap and his ilk are loose upon the community, a menace to everything represented by law and order.

"No punishment administered by the hand of man is sufficient to meet the ends of justice in this case. Never in twenty years of experience in the courts of Los Angeles have I been confronted with such a case as disclosed through the testimony against this man Dunlap. Never have I encountered in those years a more depraved mind or a more abandoned heart than this man has exhibited to you.

"I feel confident you will not let loose upon the community again a man like this, a man whose crimes are the worst with which man may be charged."

The District Attorney closed at 4:40 and Judge Crail immediately notified spectators crowding the courtroom that no one would be permitted to enter or leave the room for the ensuing twenty minutes.

The prosecution sprung a surprise early in the trial yesterday, when Dist.-Atty. Keyes declined to cross-examine Dunlap, who was the first witness of the day. The asserted badge bandit, who took the stand in his own behalf Friday, was asked but few questions when court convened yesterday. One of these concerned some diamonds, believed to have been stolen, which were supposed to be in possession of his wife. He continued his tirade against her by declaring,

"I do not know of anyone in Los Angeles more glad to see me in the penitentiary. Why didn't she produce them?"

Dist.-Atty. Keyes and Milton Carlson, local handwriting expert, were the only rebuttal witnesses. The District Attorney told the jury that Dunlap, in a statement made following his return from Detroit, where he was captured, said he had both of the guns found upon him at the time of his arrest for a long time. This was to meet the testimony of Dunlap that he had never seen one of the guns until it was shown to him in the courtroom.

Carlson told the jury that a letter written to Mrs. Dunlap and one written to Deputy Sheriff Frank Dewar were in the handwriting of the defendant.

The defense asked Judge Crail for a subpoena for Deputy Sheriff Peoples, declaring that James L. Edwards, asserted silk-hat bandit, had confessed to that officer while he was bringing Edwards to Los Angeles from Sacramento.

BERT GREETS CLAIRE WITH KISS

They Don't Say They're Engaged, But---

CLAIRE WINDSOR arrived in town last night. The Santa Fe station was ablaze with celebrities awaiting her arrival and foremost among the many notables was Bert Lytell.

"Are you and Miss Windsor engaged?" he was asked.

"Well," said Lytell, with a broad smile, "you had better wait and ask the lady about that matter."

The train pulled in an hour late. The greeting that transpired between Lytell and Claire put asunder all speculations that might have been held.

Bert was first on the Pullman platform, handing down grips and golf bags and ending in a fade-out kiss.

Engaged?

Well, neither Bert nor Claire said yes but they did not deny the question. No siree!

Lytell arrived in Los Angeles Sunday, after many months in New York. Miss Windsor has just returned from a personal-appearance in St. Louis.

"I'm going to build a home in Beverly Hills," said Lytell.

"Who will occupy the new place?" asked the reporter.

VICTORY SEEN BY CANDIDATES

compiled by County Registrar of Voters Kerr, there are more than 306,500 male voters in the city and county and more than 265,000 women voters. The male registrants outnumber female registrants in all parties except the Prohibition party, in which the women outnumber the men more than two to one. Approximately 1000 more women than men declined to state party affiliation.

Registrations in sixteen communities in the county are:

Long Beach, 44,873; Pasadena, 25,880; Glendale, 13,406; Santa Monica, 9709; Alhambra, 7910; Pomona, 7046; Venice, 6311; South Pasadena, 5183; Huntington Park, 4663; Inglewood, 4204; Whittier, 5937; Redondo, 3596; Monrovia, 3472; Burbank, 3048; Compton, 2187; Watts, 2562.

The city of Vernon has the smallest registration of any incorporated city in the county—262, of which 161 are Republicans, seventy-three are Democrats, four are Socialists, twenty-two declined to state party affiliation, and two are Prohibitionists.

The only incorporated city in the county having no registration in the Socialist column is San Marino, which has a total registration of 279.

RALLY BEHIND SHELDON

A last-minute statement reaffirming their allegiance to Judge Caryl M. Sheldon, candidate for the office of District Attorney, was issued by the members of the United Church Brotherhood of Pasadena yesterday and circulated about the city.

At noon twelve airplanes manned by ex-service men flew over Pasadena dropping "Sheldon for District Attorney" ballots. Judge Sheldon is an ex-service man himself, having spent ten months in the trenches, and his comrades are backing him to the limit.

The Church Brotherhood statement follows:

"At the meeting of the central committee of the United Church Brotherhoods, held last Tuesday evening, unanimous indorsement was given the candidacy of Judge Caryl M. Sheldon for District Attorney. During the progress of the campaign to date nothing has been produced by the opposition to cause the organization to modify its original decision in this matter. The members of the committee are still in favor of Judge Sheldon and urge all Christian voters to give his candidacy thoughtful consideration before going to the polls. He has kept faith with the electors in the past and his record as judge in keeping pre-election promises is warrant for faith that he will meet every pledge if elected to the position of District Attorney."

FINAL PLEA FOR POWER BOND VOTE

Statement of Affiliation With Party Unnecessary in Ballot, Ward Emphasizes

Drawing attention to the fact that all registered voters, no matter whether they have stated their party affiliations, are qualified to vote on the power bonds, the Citizens' Power Bond Committee, through its chairman, Shirley C. Ward, yesterday issued a final appeal to Los Angeles citizens to authorize the bonds.

"Many citizens believe that because they have not stated their party affiliations, they are not qualified to vote at the primary election," stated Mr. Ward. "This is a mistake. The power bonds appear on a separate ballot and are not connected in any way with the primary party tickets.

"Every registered voter in the city of Los Angeles is qualified to vote, and should make it his or her special duty to vote "Yes" on the power bonds.

"Los Angeles' vote for the power bonds should be so overwhelming that it will give notice to all the world that this city is preparing for a new and greater period of industrial expansion, home building and population growth.

"An overwhelming victory for the power bonds will be this city's guarantee to home seekers and industries throughout the country that we are preparing to meet all their requirements for electric service.

"Electric power and light service is a basic necessity. Factories cannot operate and employ men and women unless provision is made to extend power service to move the machinery in these factories. New homes cannot be built, real estate cannot be improved unless funds are voted to finance electric line extensions to give electric light and power service to residential districts needing such service.

"By stimulating industrial expansion, larger pay rolls, home building and general prosperity, every citizen is voting to put money in his own pocket when he votes "Yes" on the power bonds."

HOLT AGAINST SWING'S CANAL

ers for the "All-American Canal" must know that it does not have the merit it should have and that it does not deserve support, otherwise they would be willing to let it stand on its own merits and let it stand or fall in a bill by itself.

I have been amazed at the very large amounts of the hard-earned money of the farmers of the Imperial Valley that have been spent on this "All-American Canal" matter, and I have sometimes wondered if the people were keeping this agitation up as a kind of ornamental proposition in order to have an excuse for giving some of their prominent and would-be prominent citizens a nice vacation every once in a while by sending them to Washington at the taxpayers' expense.

After all, the control of the floods of the Colorado is the great problem for the Imperial Valley, and with this solved the Imperial Valley will be able to take care of everything else necessary for its success and prosperity. The Colorado River Control Club is on the right track and everybody should get behind it and help push it along. Yours truly,

W. F. HOLT.

FLEEING MAN HALTS PLAN

M'COY TO SEE DYING MOTHER

Selby is extremely low. Her heart, which took a change for the better when Norman came, might as quickly change the other way and in her state she has very little ground to lose."

McCoy was permitted to go to the bedside of his mother through a court order issued late yesterday afternoon by Superior Judge Crail, before whom he will be tried for the killing of Mrs. Teresa Mors, and on seven other counts charging assault with intent to commit murder and robbery.

HEARING DELAYED

In the morning the scheduled plea of McCoy to the grand jury indictments charging him with the murder of Mrs. Teresa Mors, with three counts of assault with intent to commit murder, and four counts of robbery, again was postponed when the District Attorney's office petitioned to amend the indictments by the addition of the names of Mrs. Jennie Thomas to the list of witnesses who appeared before the grand jury. Mrs. Thomas is McCoy's sister.

Attorneys E. L. Davin and R. D. Knickerbocker, representing McCoy, were prepared to ask for the dismissal of the indictments against the ex-boxer on the ground of the failure of the District Attorney's office to include Mrs. Thomas's name. They held to add the name now would be an abridgement of McCoy's rights under the law.

While indicating he saw no reason why the name should not be added, Judge Crail postponed the argument on this point until tomorrow at 10 a.m.

VISITED BY WOMAN

At this time the attempt to obtain dismissal of the indictments will be repeated, according to McCoy's attorneys. If this fails, McCoy will plead not guilty to all charges against him, they said.

McCoy was affectionately greeted yesterday by a woman who visited him at the County Jail. After the pair had kissed, they sat and talked for a half hour, following which the woman left the jail in a car. She had refused to give her name.

Questioned as to the identity of his visitor, McCoy said she was Maude Harris, a niece, who has just arrived from New York.

The ex-middleweight champion of the world looked his dapper self yesterday, dressed in a freshly pressed suit which he had donned, believing he was to visit his mother. He was more cheerful than he has been since his arrest on a charge of murdering Mrs. Teresa W. Mors in the Nottingham Apartments early on the 13th inst.

MORS IN DENIAL

Albert A. Mors knows nothing about ten pieces of jewelry said to have been smuggled into the United States and to be in his possession, according to the representations he made yesterday to Frank E. Johnson, special agent of the Treasury Department.

Mors and his lawyer, Martin L. Haines, visited Agent Johnson at the Federal Building yesterday afternoon to obtain release of a piece of jewelry against which an embargo had been placed on the theory that the piece was one of several thought to have been brought into the United States without payment of duty. The release was granted inasmuch as records at the port of entry showed the piece to have been admitted regularly.

Agent Johnson thereupon requested Mors to tell him where he had placed the ten pieces sought by the government officers. Mors denied emphatically that he had any such jewelry or that he knew anything about it. A description of the pieces, not yet made public, was shown to Mors. The principal piece is a valuable pin of three large emeralds studded with diamonds.

According to information sent to New York customs officials, the asserted smuggled jewelry has been in the possession of Mors during the present month. Agent Johnson indicated yesterday that further investigations made it likely the jewelry would be in the hands of the government officials shortly.

MAY TAKE NEW STEP

If necessary to obtain required information, Mors and others concerned in the case can be placed under oath by Agent Johnson to answer questions concerning the jewels. No steps have thus far been taken to proceed in that manner, Agent Johnson said. He explained that if proof that the jewels were smuggled is disclosed, criminal action for violation of the Revenue Act can be taken by officials at the port of entry.

According to Mark Herron, Assistant United States Attorney, the Mors case has not been officially brought to the attention of the United States Attorney. Thus far nothing has developed that indicates the likelihood of grand jury action in this district, he said.

Irregular Using of Prescription Nets Two Fines

Violation of the Volstead Act through irregular use of physician's prescriptions resulted in a fine of $1000 being assessed by Federal Judge James yesterday against C. A. Gibson, a druggist of Anaheim, and a fine of $500 against Dr. J. C. Osher, physician of that place. The defendants pleaded guilty.

Prosecution of the case was based on a transaction whereby the druggist was said to have used a specially prepared prescription obtained from Dr. Osher in selling liquor to another than a bona fide patient. The transaction was said by Russell Graham, assistant United States attorney, to have been only one of several arising from a practice of preparing prescription blanks to be used promiscuously in the sale of liquor.

Masters of Mechanism Do Bit, Rest on Monday

Rendezvous Orchestra Gives Joy to Fans Again

BY CLAIRE FORBES CRANE

Any time on Monday when you are discontented and are inclined to fuss because the evening will be "rotten" I wish you would stop and think of the much-needed rest which is being taken by two little-talked-of but much-to-be-admired members of the studio family. We mean the operators of the intricate mechanism which makes it possible for you to listen to clear, well-balanced programs. We are too prone in our enthusiasm for the artistic element in broadcasting to forget the man who shoulders the responsibility of relaying in its perfection every note and word which passes through the microphone.

HAVE HARD TASK

Everyone who visits The Times radio studio asks to view the aerials, the new roof and all the many obvious things which they have heard about as part of our equipment. It is seldom that they get to see the complicated machinery in the operating room with its mysterious dials and switches which forms the real romance of broadcasting. Every time that you listen in to one of our programs in this operating room sits a man, watchful as a captain at the helm of his vessel, quick to notify with a turn of his hand any sounds which mar the beauty of the manner being given. This is one of the most exacting of professions since the hand, eye and ear must act simultaneously. To these two men who act as the power behind the throne of radio, therefore, Monday means a day of relaxation, when they can go about outdoors with their families and rest a little for their unselfish service to all of us on Sunday.

ORCHESTRA APPEARS

Monday noon, which has become symbolic of the Goddess Terpsichore, was ablaze in all its glory as the waves of syncopation were sent into the air by Carl Allen and his Rendezvous Ballroom orchestra from Crystal Pier, Santa Monica. This organization has secured a firm hold on the esteem of Radio and its weekly appearance means more or less an established institution. The orchestra is composed of Carl Allen, leader and saxophone; Bob Cushman, saxiprone and flute; Gill Roden, saxiphone and clarinet; L. N. Moe, trumpet; Frank Johnson, trombone; Ted Cohen, pianist; Jimmie Harris, banjo; Al Johnson, bass, and Al Cahill, drums.

ANNUAL JEWISH AID CONCERT IS PLANNED

Plans to hold an annual concert for the benefit of the Jewish Consumptive Relief Association sanatorium at Duarte are announced by Dr. Henry M. Silverberg, executive director of that organization, as the result of interest shown in the Russian Symphony concert to be given in Hollywood Bowl September 4. Next week's concert is to aid in a $25,000 maintenance fund drive for the sanatorium and the plan now is to make the concert an annual affair. Visitors' day at the sanatorium last week was such a success that another is planned for Friday, all those interested being welcome except between the hours of 11 and 1.

William Schellhouse, 828 Sanborn avenue, who was taken to Hollywood Police Station Saturday night and then to the Receiving Hospital to be treated for bruises and lacerations about the head and body, had attempted suicide by jumping from a high bluff on Cahuenga Pass, police declared yesterday. Schellhouse refused to give reasons for his act.

ORDER TO GIVE DOG "AIR" CAUSES LOSS

Because the aged father of Mrs. R. A. Boswell of 845 Victoria avenue, Venice, placed the slang interpretation on her instructions to "give the air" to her pedigreed police dog, a search is being made for the canine.

The dog, Mrs. Boswell said, was given away by her father to a motorist on the 5th inst. Although efforts have been made to find the motorist to whom the dog was given, no trace has been found of him.

INCOME DROP LAID TO WIFE

Haled into court on contempt proceedings on complaint of his wife that he is in arrears in temporary alimony payments, Frank A. McDonald charged that Mrs. Beatrice Lenore McDonald circulated tales about him that has caused his income to drop to $100 per month.

Inasmuch as McDonald was ordered to pay his wife $185 per month temporary alimony, he said he finds it "rather difficult" to do so on his asserted reduced income.

Not only has Mrs. McDonald injured his business by telling his clients that he is a crook, McDonald declared, but she also has endeavored to have disbarment proceedings instituted against him.

According to Mrs. McDonald's statements to Judge J. Franklin Cole of El Centro, who is sitting in Judge Summerfield's court, McDonald is in arrears $59 alimony and $150 attorney's fees. Judge Cole continued the case until Friday to give McDonald an opportunity to make up the payments.

Both McDonald and his wife are seeking a divorce, each having filed suit on the same day several months ago. McDonald accused his wife of misconduct with a Lieut. Lannon of the United States Navy and she charged him with cruelty, asserting he beat her and forced her to sign a property agreement.

WASHBURN ON TRIAL IN DEATH CASE

Witness Describes Crash and Blows Which Are Said to be Fatal to Haley

H. F. Washburn went on trial yesterday in Judge Hardy's court on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Foster D. Haley on February 27, last. It is charged Haley died at his home shortly after an altercation with Washburn which grew out of a traffic accident.

Mrs. Eva P. Cleveland, an eyewitness of a collision between an automobile driven by Washburn and one driven by Haley, testified to details of the altercation. She declared Washburn's automobile dodged in front of her machine and struck Haley's car. Haley shouted to Washburn to stop, she said, and the latter did so, engaging in a heated conversation with Haley which was terminated by several blows struck by Washburn. Bystanders separated the men, she testified, and both went on their way.

County Autopsy Surgeon Wagner testified Haley's death was caused by pressure on the brain due to dislocation of his jaw. The prosecution contends this injury was inflicted by Washburn.

Mrs. Haley was to have gone on the stand yesterday but did not appear as she is critically ill.

The case is being prosecuted by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Jordan. Hearing will continue today.

LODGER TRIES TO KILL SELF BY ETHER FUMES

Detectives of the Hollywood Police Department are investigating an attempt made by George E. Hansen, 38 years of age, to end his life yesterday morning by inhaling gas and ether in a closet of his room at 1448 Poinsettia Place. He was found unconscious by J. R. Cornwell, who was called by Mrs. Grace Davis, another lodger at the house after she had smelled fumes. Police conveyed Hansen to the Receiving Hospital, where he was given emergency treatment. Doctors stated he probably would recover. Detectives were unable to find a reason for Hansen's act.

ON HER OWN

A woman may go to a beauty shop to have her face and hair made up, but she does make up her own mind.

THOU TOO SAIL ON

A ship a day was the wreck toll of the sea last year. But the ship of state is still going strong and is in excellent keeping.

IN OLD MEXICO

It seems to be a bit difficult to place American farm implements and agricultural machinery in some sections of Mexico. It is possible to hire a husky peon and his stalwart mule for from 50 cents to $1 a day; and it is easier than being nurse to an inflamed tractor.

THE BRYAN VIEW

Charlie Bryan was put on the Democratic ticket to placate a group of Middle West farmers; but in his speech of acceptance he declares that he is not conscious of any obligation to any class or interest that would affect his political action. Possibly he is talking through his skull cap.

WELL WORTH WHILE

There are now over 10,000 building and loan associations in the United States and they have assets of nearly $3,500,000,000. Against these impressive figures there were but five failures during the year and the losses thereby were less than $250,000. So it may be seen that this system of aid and extension in home-building is impregnably established. The associations may be said to be helping others while helping themselves.

RETURNING FAVORS

Touching instances of gratitude have come to light during the campaign wherein some of those whom our District Attorney has refused to prosecute are showing their appreciation by indorsing him for re-election. A glance at the large and imposing list of persons charged with crime, but never tried by reason of having their cases dismissed on order from the District Attorney, might lead to a conclusion that this form of reciprocity will swell the total vote received by the incumbent candidate.

KEEPING THE FAITH

One of the deep theologians insists that the controversies raging over the fundamentals of the faith in many churches have really resulted in giving new strength and vigor to them. Even a Christian seems to thrive on battle, and in the efforts to retain or capture the citadel both sides are drawing husky recruits. The modernists and the land-markers may scrap, but they are not depleting their resources. This is in defiance of the usual practice of warfare, but this at least is the claim of a great churchman who marshals some facts to substantiate his case. We are not to worry when we see a couple of inflamed Baptists hurling massive words at each other.

PLANTING TREES

Down in New York State the town of East Aurora, where Elbert Hubbard dwelt and wrote, has finished the task of setting out 50,000 young trees of many kinds and has arranged for the planting next year of more than 100,000 more. The civic bodies, the Boy Scouts, the churches and the schools are all working together upon a program of municipal beauty and reforestation. The State nurseries in New York are said to be the most extensive in the world and East Aurora is rather leading in the matter of tree development by communities. This should not only bring comfort and joy to the citizens, but to the wraith of Elbert Hubbard. The example of New York and East Aurora might well extend everywhere.

THE DEATH PENALTY

The warden of Sing Sing is very certain that the death penalty is utterly futile as a corrective or barrier to crime. He has written a book to prove his position and, of course, stresses the fact that a majority of the States of the Union have abolished capital punishment. At the same time, the percentage of homicides is higher in the States in which the death penalty is still inflicted. In most of the States in which hanging is still permitted the jury may substitute life imprisonment for hanging if it so elects. In such States it is easier to obtain convictions than in States where death is mandatory. It is very evident that the average jury does not wish to assume the responsibility of taking human life, even when the Mosaic rule is applied. It takes days and sometimes weeks to secure a jury that has no conscientious scruples against the infliction of the death penalty. On the other hand, various pardon and probation boards are not popularizing the administration of justice. A jury likes to feel that when it is determining the penalty the findings will stick. A great deal of the clamor for capital punishment results from the abuse of the probation habit. Life imprisonment doesn't seem to mean what it says. What we need is a system of punishment which will be applied with the greatest good to the greatest number—including organized society. Whether this would include the noose or a course in the electric chair is debatable.

KLAN AND ANTI-KLAN

The reverse side of the picture is as bad as the front side.

It isn't making the Ku Klux Klan problem any better to bring into being an anti-Ku Klux Klan.

The stand of The Times on the Ku Klux Klan has never been a matter of doubt in the minds of its readers. It has been the firm contention of this journal that the organization of the K.K.K.—the whole principle of any secret organizations attempting to control politics—is vicious and dangerous. The more so when based upon the abominable platform of race hatred and religious intolerance.

But organized opposition to the Klan also has dangers.

In Oklahoma a candidate of known Socialistic leanings and dangerous, reckless, unsound political beliefs is a leading candidate for the United States Senate. On account of his expressed hatred for the K.K.K. and his determination to throttle the movement he stands a good chance of election.

In Texas Mrs. Ferguson has just been voted the next Governor of the State. Whatever may be her other qualifications, the enthusiasm for her candidacy appears to be based upon the fact that she is an avowed opponent of the K.K.K.

No right-thinking person can doubt that the K.K.K. is a silly, stupid, un-American movement that ought not to prosper. It ought not to have any political power. It will not have for long. It will die as inevitably as summer follows winter.

But in sweeping it out of existence let us have a care that we do not jump out of the frying pan into the fire.

To elect a candidate to office for the sole reason that he raves against the Klan and apparently has no other qualifications is almost as dangerous as electing him because he has the political backing of the Klan.

In short, there is no room in American politics for gangs, blocs or secret mobs of voters.

The very foundation of the United States government is the sanctity of the ballot. The American voter expresses the fundamental idea of our government when he goes alone into the voting booth and registers his own, uninfluenced, individual choice.

The strength of our national idea is that our ballot has no strings on it. The keystone of the arch is that solitary, independent voter standing alone in the voting booth. He is the court of last resort; he is the last word; the final arbiter; the king and his throne.

He is responsible to no one but his conscience.

The minute you substitute a gang, a mob, a club, a bloc for his conscience, then you have imperiled the idea for which our forefathers fought in our early history and finally won for us when the Stars and Stripes were first sewed into a flag.

The Times is firmly against the K.K.K. It is also against every kind of voting gang, bloc and concerted movement which comes between the voter and his free and untrammeled choice.

We want men and women elected to office on their merits and their qualifications. We want men who will be responsible to all the voters; not to a club slogan or a secret "council."

THE ETERNAL FEMININE

The mooted question whether a married woman has a moral right to work if she is not forced by economic necessity to do so keeps bobbing up continually. The piteous plea is eternally put forward that she is robbing some single, self-supporting girl of her rightful due in the way of a job by hieing down to the busy marts of trade and engaging in remunerative toil. That this viewpoint is fallacious is evidenced by the fact that positions are not handed out because the applicant is married or single, but solely on the grounds of efficiency or the cheapness with which she can be engaged. If the unmarried girl is a better worker or willing to serve for less money than her married sister she will always receive the position in preference.

Many women come into the world with an inborn abhorrence of all manner of domestic tasks and totally devoid of culinary accomplishments. If they are fortunate enough to be members of a family with sufficient of this world's goods to hire workers to perform the household labor, they get along smoothly and without being accused of being unfeminine. Should they belong to the vast army of married women whose husbands do not earn a sufficiently large salary to provide minions to care for the cuisine it certainly is better on the grounds of efficiency alone that the wife should work at some task to which she is suited and hire others to do the household chores. Few people do well at something which they dislike, and many a nagging, disagreeable housewife would be transformed into a happy helpmeet if she were engaged in some sort of office work or business which she found harmonious and were thus enabled to employ someone else to do the tasks that she found obnoxious. Homemaking does not consist of peeling potatoes and keeping the floors swept and washing the children's ears, but rather in injecting into the home atmosphere a spirit of love and harmony and high idealism. Some women have a natural aptitude and fondness for domestic tasks and perform them willingly and with enthusiasm. Lacking this, they should rather engage in work suited to their tastes and ability, instead of becoming querulous and unhappy victims of the treadmill of a daily round of despised activities.

FILM FOOLISHNESS

Gen. Charles G. Dawes doesn't feel like wasting time in trying to look pretty for the cameramen. Neither is he consenting to be photographed surrounded by a bunch of made-up movie extras who are merely anxious to be mugged for publicity. If that is the way he feels about it he may lose a bit of caste in Hollywood, but there will still be some millions of his fellow-men who will believe that he is at least half right.

It must be admitted that in this country there is a greater waste of celluloid film than of any other article. Cameramen every day take about 1,000,000 stills that never see the light. There are miles and miles of films—taken for the public eye—that are doomed to eternal darkness. It is all very confusing. In New York, for instance, a really great man will be followed around all day by a flock of persistent and insistent photographers. Each cameraman may seek a personal pose and if he has his way the distinguished visitor may be taken climbing the Statue of Liberty or standing on his head on the roof of his hotel. The celebrity may be snapshotted forty or fifty times in a single afternoon and the photographers representing the news reels may demand a full day of action on the part of their victim.

But nothing much comes of it. Two or three of the papers may have a dinky little photograph of the visitor—from the chin up and showing the corrugations in his forehead when he takes off his hat. At one theater out of 1000 there will be a flash of the great man as he steps off some train and is welcomed by some blonde vampire advertising somebody's face cream. This will be shown between film driblets at the old-home week in Juarez and the work of the flood in Missouri. Not even the photographer sees the full strip.

So it is that there is more dead loss in these shiftless phases of the film game than in any other venture of human action. It is like pulling the plug out of the bathtub in order to save the water. If Gen. Dawes can emphasize some of its foolishness sufficiently to inspire efforts at correction he will help the world a lot and save somebody a lot of money.

READ PRINCES

World travel has had the natural effect of imbuing in the European princes a commendable spirit of American democracy. Erik of Denmark and his brothers have given the world a real demonstration of it. Prince Erik first gave evidence of his excellent judgment by marrying a daughter of our own beloved Southern California and then backing up this distinctly American movement by buying a ranch at Arcadia and going into the poultry business.

Crown Prince Axel evidently was not disgusted with the arrangement or he wouldn't be named as the donor of $100,000 worth of wedding presents for the bride of Erik, brought to Los Angeles Harbor in a crack Danish liner commissioned by King Christian himself. He has good reason to be proud of the new American Princess Frances for her influence in broadening the vision of the royal family.

Then there is the Prince of Wales, who is now en route to America on his second visit. During the former one he showed his common sense in so many ways that comment has been universally favorable and he seems to like it. He danced with any American girl he cared to and did any other sensible thing that came in his way. Among them he helped a farmer whom he met on the road out of trouble with a broken wagon. "And whom may I thank for this kindness?" asked the farmer. "No thanks, I'm the Prince of Wales," was the response. "So long, old man, thanks just the same. I'm the Czar of Russia!" The Prince's sense of American-absorbed humor was such that he told the joke on himself. To the new generation of European princes we can with good grace extend the glad hand of American freedom and independence.

DEFENDING THE CROW

Now a naturalist is trying to argue that the crow is a much maligned bird and really does the farmer more good than harm. He says that the crow does not pull up corn when it makes its first appearance above the ground. The birds go over freshly-plowed fields in quest of worms, grubs and beetles and do a lot of good in ridding the earth of its insect pests and this observer has killed many of them and found little but injurious bugs in their crops. The observer says that crows seldom rob the nests of other birds or eat their eggs—in fact, the crow is far from being as black as painted. The trouble is that the crow is practically omniverous. Left to himself he would prefer to hop over freshly-plowed fields spearing the wriggling worms, but later in the season, when he runs out of worms, he will tackle not only the corn but the farmer himself if in rapacious mood. Anyhow, it is hard to convince the average agriculturist that the crow is a perfect gentleman and a Good Samaritan. At some time the family earned a bad name and they have never been able to quite live it down.

THE WAR RELICS

There are a lot of relics and trophies taken during the war that are being made available for distribution. It is estimated that over 2,000,000 articles were brought back from France in the way of captured goods. There are howitzers, trench mortars, field guns and other ponderous paraphernalia of war. A recent act of Congress permits their distribution. Some cities and towns have already filed applications for notable numbers in the collection. The requests are first made to the Governor or Adjutant-General of the State and then the Congressmen assist in the selection and distribution. The articles must be taken as found. The government will pay the cost of packing and shipping, but makes no effort at their restoration. After the Spanish-American War captured cannon were awarded to numbers of cities of the nation and are exhibited in various parks and public places. But in the world's present frame of mind there is not much call for these massive relics of strife. The people would forget—if they could.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

Rumblings in Spain

Grave rumblings of an impending revolution come from Spain, with rumors that Alfonso may abdicate and leave the affairs of government in the hands of a directory. Dissatisfied army officers are among the leaders of the movement, which does not seem to be aimed principally against the King, but against a system which gives the King no real power. For it is the dictator of that country, Gen. Primo De Rivera, who is actually running things. The officers want a real king or no king at all and they find hearty support with the liberal and republican elements of the nation. Another matter over which the officers are grumbling is the campaign in North Africa. For months De Rivera has been fighting the Riff tribes without success. Recently he announced that he would withdraw altogether after one grand military demonstration to impress the Riffmen with the power of Spain. To that the military leaders objected. Prof. Miguel Unamuno, rector of the University of Salamanca, one of the world's greatest savants and a Liberal, who was banished by De Rivera and now lives in Paris, predicted not long ago that everything in Spain pointed to a crash. "You cannot forever suppress a nation," he said. That's true. The march of democracy cannot be stayed. It's as inexorable as time. Sooner or later it presents itself to every nation to guide it toward a new destiny.

RIPPLING RHYMES

FORGETTING

I call my seven nieces, I call my nephews nine, and say, "My wrath increases—an aching heart is mine. You keep me sadly fretting, you keep me peeved and blue; you always are forgetting the things you ought to do. You don't forget diversions where all the bright lights are; you don't forget excursions to swimming-holes afar; you don't forget the dances or pink or purple tea or any circumstances affording transient glee. Neglectful of my wishes, on errands vain you trot; you do not wash the dishes and tell me you forgot. You do not sweep the garret or oil the phonograph; you do not feed the parrot or groom the brindled calf. You do not scour the casement until there is no spot; you fail to scrub the basement and tell me you forgot. Ah, thoughtless, heedless friskers, my grouch is growing big; you do not comb my whiskers or air my Sunday wig. You do not herd the chickens or rinse the coffee pot, and when I raise the dickens you tell me you forgot. Oh, nieces, this forgetting the things you ought to do will some day, I am betting, bring ghastly grief to you. Oh, nephews, this forgetting all things but idle fun will bring you care and fretting and trouble by the ton. They find the going better whose heads are on the job; the vacuous forgetter trains with the has-been mob." WALT MASON.

LETTERS TO The Times

Ten Minutes Late

GARDENA, Aug. 16.—[To the Editor of The Times:] For twenty-five years I was ten minutes late and that is why I am in California today. I found myself without a home when I was 7 years old and kidlike I began to roam over the whole United States, looking for something I never found what I was looking for. I don't believe I would have known what it was if I had. Every place I stopped I found I was ten minutes late. The good things were to be found about 200 miles farther on. I would beat it. (Beat is right, I was riding the blind baggage.) Only to find I was late as usual. I kept this up for twenty-five years. Finally I landed in Northern California. I soon found I was only five minutes late up there. I worked for a railroad for two years and the wanderlust seized me again. I rode on a pass this time, headed for Los Angeles. Arrived in 1913. Inside of twenty-four hours I found the good things I was looking for and for once in my life I was on time and have been ever since. I have a little business and own 200 feet frontage on Harbor Boulevard (and it's paid for) and sitting purty, thank you. The only time a frown appears on my homely, old face is when I think of the heluva long time it took me to find Los Angeles and all the good things I missed.

Should Preachers Dance?

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 21.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In an article of a few days ago you made the statement that a minister's dignity would suffer if he expressed his joy and gladness of living by dancing. Are the ministers and their dignity more beloved of the Lord than David—please read—II Samuel vi, 14-29.

I think we would all be happier to forget so much dignity and impressiveness in life and be more human, and not ashamed to express our emotions in a righteous way. And you know Jesus, using his name with reverence, did not strive for impressiveness or an overpowering dignity, though His wisdom and learning were great. One just knew of His great love, and doesn't one just naturally want to dance with joy when he knows he is wonderfully loved? And He has blessed us with a wonderful body to use, and when one accumulates too much dignity through life he becomes muscle-bound of both mind and body; and he does not show the full appreciation of the gift. He made us.

"TOLERANCE."

Jersey Justice

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 23.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Your editorials and the number of murders and robberies which have been committed here during my short stay surgest that California and many other States should study the New Jersey code of justice.

During the reign of crime immediately following the close of the European war murders and robberies were being committed in New York every day in broad daylight with get-a-ways or bail as the finish. One evening a couple of the more bold of the robbers ventured into New Jersey and held up a trolley car and every one of its passengers. Within two hours they were trailed and caught, taken before a judge and pleaded guilty, as the evidence was as complete as it is for the bank robber who attempted to hold up the Citizens' National Bank here a few days ago. The following day the two trolley robbers were on their way to the State penitentiary, one for sixty and the other for seventy-five years, and this put a stop to hold-ups in Jersey. There was swift and severe punishment and that is the only kind which is effective.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 16.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In your editorial, "Courtesy at the Door," appearing in the issue of August 16, you mentioned the "cold-blooded effect and infringement of good taste" that is conveyed by the sign under the door knob warning peddlers, agents and solicitors not to knock or ring the bell.

I believe this a timely article and a proper one to express the viewpoint upon, even though it may not coincide with, that of your editorial.

At my home mother has always been exceedingly kind to those who need help and to those who sell and solicit at the door, but her patience can only go to a limit, like that of all of us human beings.

I have been a resident in Los Angeles for the past six years. When I first came here one was bothered but very little by peddlers and agents, and those that did come had legitimate goods and were courteous; but now solicitors, agents and peddlers come in flocks of one to five a day to find out everything from your bank balance to selling you worthless stocks, cabin sites and magazines not fit for a decent home of refinement and culture. I am not exaggerating at all. One solicitor for a bank wished to know if we had a bank account and in what bank. I believe, like all others, that such questions are absolutely personal. I might say said solicitor was rather discourteous in his remarks when told that such a question was a private matter.

Not long ago a young man of outward refinement and education rang our door bell. Mother went from her duties, down the flight of stairs to the front door, to be confronted by a salesman of cabin sites. Our family is not interested in such things at present and mother told him so in a courteous manner. She was answered in this sarcastic and ungentlemanly manner: "It's a wonder some of you folks wouldn't do something other than stick in a hot city all your life."

Another one of the agent kind, of a respectable [illegible] "wanted to know if [illegible] going to keep him [illegible] at the door," when [illegible] come down a flight of [illegible] the door.

JAPANESE WAR CHIEF ON VISIT

Gen. Wada Arrives en Route to Home After Tour

He and Party Study Latest in Military Training

Tells of Army Condition and System in Orient

A six months' study of the latest developments in military education in Europe and America has engaged the attention of Gen. K. Wada, commandant of the general staff of the Japanese War College, who arrived in Los Angeles Sunday en route to Tokio.

The general, who is accompanied by a number of officers of the Japanese army, explained that he had stopped here for a brief period of sightseeing. He started his tour about the city yesterday with a visit at the Fairbanks studios, being intensely interested in motion pictures.

MEET PRESIDENT

Among the places visited by the Japanese before their arrival here were West Point, Fortress Monroe and Washington, where they met President Coolidge, Secretary of War Weeks and Gen. Pershing. They also inspected several National Guard training camps.

"The military system of Japan, which was originally founded on that of the European countries, has undergone some changes since the Russo-Japanese war," said Gen. Wada. "These are entirely technical in nature and relate to such features as the experience of that war showed were less advantageous to an oriental army than those with which they have been replaced."

He stated that the standing army of Japan now is composed of twenty-two divisions, which means somewhere around 500,000 men.

COMPULSORY TRAINING

The country maintains compulsory military training, though the general stated that under the selective system of obtaining recruits a considerable number of men are not required to take this training.

Gen. Wada declined to discuss any question bearing on Japanese politics or Japan's relations with the United States, explaining that his interest lay entirely along military lines, and that he paid no attention to politics. Gen. Wada and his party, who are at the Biltmore, will sail for home on the 28th inst.

Nervous Bandit Robs Collector for Sam Seelig

A nervous young bandit halted Troy Hamilton, a collector for the Sam Seelig Company, at the intersection of Riverside and Alessandro streets, near Edendale, yesterday, and robbed him of $200 in cash.

The bandit hopped on the running board of Hamilton's amtomobile and forced him to drive about a quarter of a mile. Then he forced Hamilton out of the car and drove away. The machine was later found a short distance from the road. A satchel containing the $200 was gone, but an envelope containing $176 in currency had been overlooked by the young desperado.

A description of the gunman was given to the Sheriff's office by Hamilton. Deputy Sheriff Harrington has been assigned to the case.

Woman Loses Initial Round in Balm Action

Mrs. Catherine Margaret Fischer Radke lost the first court tilt in the preliminary hearing of her $100,000 alienation of affections suit against Miss Jane Raum, secretary to a motion-picture director, when Judge Needham yesterday sustained a demurrer Miss Raum entered to the action.

Mrs. Radke accused Miss Raum of stealing the love of the former's husband, John Henry Radke. Miss Raum's demurrer was sustained on the ground Mrs. Radke had not made her husband a co-plaintiff in the action; nor had she offered an affidavit to the effect that she and her husband were separated.

As the Radkes engaged in a contested divorce action recently, William Durham, attorney for Mrs. Radke, is expected to file an amended complaint to the effect that Mrs. Radke and her husband are separated. Willedd Andrews represented Miss Raum.

DONATIONAL STAGE LINE IS ENJOINED

Pacific Electric Winner of First Court Clash on City-Beach Service

The Pacific Electric Railway Company yesterday won the initial battle in the court fight instituted by the company to enjoin A. M. King, the Donational Bus Line and others from operating a community bus line from Los Angeles to Culver City and Venice. On depositing bond of $7500, the railway company was granted a temporary injunction by Judge Frederick C. Valentine, restraining the bus line, for the present, from operating its busses.

In a petition for an injunction, the railway company asserted the defendants were soliciting fares from passengers on the busses by placing fare boxes in conspicuous places on the vehicles. The railway company further asserted the bus line was operating without a permit or franchise from the State Railroad Commission.

BOULEVARD END IN CITY REQUESTED

Association Asks Council Cut Washington Through; Huge Cost is Feared

The proposal to bring Washington Boulevard into the downtown district by cutting it diagonally through some two miles of improved city blocks was laid before the City Council yesterday by the Greater Washington Boulevard Association.

"Why, this would cost $50,000,000," declared Councilman Wheeler, adding that that would make it the most costly improvement ever attempted by any city. The matter was referred to the Council's Public Works Committee.

The plan is to carry Washington street in an easterly direction from Hoover street to a termination at Tenth street and Broadway. It would cut diagonally through more than fifteen city blocks, involving extensive condemnation proceedings. The plan submitted covered the proposed assessment district which would extend from Tenth and Main streets to the west city limits.

MENORAH JOURNAL NAMES CHAIRMAN

MRS. B. GOLDSMITH HEADS A COMMITTEE TO HELP ARTISTS, WRITERS

The appointment of Mrs. B. Goldsmith as chairman of the Los Angeles Menorah Writers and Artists Committee was announced yesterday by Henry Hurwitz, editor of the Menorah Journal and chancellor of the Intercollegiate Association, who is here on a visit. The committee of which Mrs. Goldsmith becomes the chairman has for its purpose, together with similar committees throughout the country, the encouragement of writers and artists through presentation of their work in the Menorah Journal, one of the leading Jewish publications in this country.

Mr. Hurwitz was the honor guest and principal speaker at a luncheon given at the Philanthropy and Civic Club, 1419 South Wilton Place. He explained the ideals of the Menorah movement, which has for its aims the development of Jewish literature and art. Pledges were taken at the meeting for the advancement of the organization's work. The Professional Men's Club of which Dr. S. M. Alter is president pledged to donate $10,000 a year for five years to the association.

PLANS PRESENTED FOR BIG PINE PARK ARCH

Architectural plans were presented to the Board of Supervisors yesterday for an ornamental entrance arch to the Los Angeles County Park at Big Pine. The plans call for the construction of a steel reinforced rubble masonry arch, thirty feet wide and sixteen feet high in the center. Funds for the erection of the arch have been pledged by several citizens at the solicitation of Supervisor McClellan and Chief Mechanical Engineer Davidson.

CITY MAY OBTAIN GORILLAS

Baltimore Big Game Hunter Agrees to Bring Pelts and Perhaps Animals from Belgian Congo

Arrangements are being made by which Los Angeles would come into possession of gorilla skins for stuffing and perhaps a live gorilla. Only five live gorillas have ever been brought to the United States and none has ever been located west of the Rockies. Scientists believe the Southern California climate may prove excellent for the largest and strongest of apes, for eleven months is the record for life of a captive gorilla in the United States.

Commander J. O. Thompson, Medical Corps, U. S. N., has put the Los Angeles Museum of History Science and Art in touch with Dr. Mernard F. O'Toole of Baltimore, a skilled big game hunter, who soon will leave for the Belgian Congo on a hunting and collecting trip.

PELTS PROMISED

Dr. O'Toole, who upon his return from Africa expects to make Los Angeles his home, has agreed to bring the local museum some gorilla pelts suitable for stuffing and if possible one or two live specimens of the great ape, the most man-like in form of all animals.

The live specimens would be presented to some park in the city and it is likely that J. S. Edwards of Long Beach, having many years' experience with great apes, would meet the returning naturalist and assist in installing them in suitable surroundings here. Edwards has several chimpanzees in his meagerie at Long Beach. He was the owner of the chimpanzee Sally, who was kept in Southern California for twelve years before she died, a record for large ape longevity in the United States.

CREDENTIALS NEEDED

In order to bring specimens out of the Belgian Congo, Dr. O'Toole must carry credentials from a museum and from the Belgian Ambassador to this country. Commander Thompson, formerly stationed here, has written from Baltimore that he will be glad to go on to Washington to get the necessary credentials from the Ambassador.

The entire matter has been arranged through John Rowley, taxidermist of the local museum, a friend of Commnader Thompson.

FLAPPER IN ROBBERY IS SENTENCED

Six Months' Jail Term Imposed for Admitted Part in Hold-up

Anna Tabor, flapper bandit, was sentenced to six months in the County Jail yesterday by Judge Walton J. Wood for her admitted participation in the attempted hold-up May 7, last, of C. Roth, 1919 South Main street.

Mrs. Tabor, 22 years of age and a former cafe entertainer, was arrested with her husband, Earl Tabor, for the attempted robbery of Roth. Roth resisted Tabor's efforts to rob him and shot Tabor through the neck with a gun he wrested from the would-be bandit.

The bullet touched Tabor's brain and as a result of the shooting he has been adjudged insane. Following her arrest, Mrs. Tabor put up a bold front to detectives working on the case, but when she was advised of her husband's condition, she broke down, came into court and entered a plea of guilty.

HOME ROBBED OF JEWELRY

Pass-key thieves who entered the home of John Essick at 2357 Edgemont Glen, Sunday night, carried off jewelry valued at $600, according to a report to Hollywood police yesterday. A purse containing $15 in currency also was taken by the thieves, who entered through a front door. Included in the loot was a diamond-studded pin worth $300.

In offering the last 500 acres of more than 5000 in Irrigated Vineyards on the great Fontana Estate, we recommend today two most unusual bargains—Vineyard Lots 1058 and 1063—each a 20-acre unit planted last spring, showing almost a perfect stand of grapes.

These 40 acres are planted in special European varieties—Matero, Terusa and Mission. Market reports on August 23, 1924, showed returns as high as $80 a ton for these varieties, shipped from older vineyards in the State.

These two units constitute one of the most exceptional buys we have ever offered. This land can be purchased in either 10 or 20-acre units at the low price of $500 an acre.

But you must act now—for a price increase will be announced about September 1 for all the remaining vineyard acreage in Fontana.

You need only $1250 cash to get 10 acres of this land. You pay $125 an acre cash—$25 an acre for three years, payable semi-annually—$125 an acre the fourth year—$175 an acre the fifth year—at only 6%. A share of irrigation stock worth $200 goes with each acre. We give your vines full cultural care and water free for three years. After that a grape growers' exchange will handle your crops.

At maturity your vines should produce from 4 to 8 and 10 tons to the acre. The high prices grapes are bringing prove what profits you can make.

If you plan buying California property at any time, go to Fontana today and see these bargains—Vineyard Lots 1058 and 1063. You will be shown one of the finest plantings in vineyards any one can hope to see. They are an outstanding bargain in every respect.

Get your first impression of this vast estate by visiting our free picture show at 615 South Olive street at 7:30 o'clock Thursday night. If you want to post yourself immediately on the exceptional values at Fontana, send the coupon immediately.

Now— Cooler Breakfasts

Tomorrow's breakfast prepared with tonight's dinner—a QUICK QUAKER delight

Try this new recipe

As you prepare dinner tonight, cook your regular breakfast quantity of QUICK QUAKER (the new Quaker Oats that cooks in three to five minutes).

When done, pour into a pudding mould and let cool. Then place in the refrigerator over night. Cut in medium thick slices and serve at breakfast with fresh or cooked fruits or berries and sugar—float with rich milk or cream.

Timely Beauty Talks

There is nothing so essential to feminine loveliness as soft, lustrous hair. And it is every woman's duty to herself to make the most of the natural beauty her hair possesses. You can keep your hair at its very best by washing it with a teaspoonful of canthrox dissolved in a cup of hot water, afterward rinsing thoroughly with clear water. One finds that the hair dries quickly and evenly, is unstreaked, bright, soft and very fluffy, so fluffy in fact, that it looks more abundant than it really is, and so soft that arranging it becomes a pleasure. This simple, inexpensive shampoo cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly of all dandruff and dirt, and leaves a clean wholesome feeling. All scalp irritation will disappear, and the hair will be brighter and glossier than ever before.—[Advertisement.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGE...

Leather Binding

Books bound in leather should be taken out of the bookcase occasionally and dusted with a soft oiled cloth, to restore the leather oil that has dried out of the leather.

When Space Is Short

For the person living in a small apartment and needing space, there is nothing more useful than one of the flat wooden clothes dryers that can be stored under the bed. In it can be dried all the household linens.

A Preserve Cupboard

The wise housewife knows the value of the jellies, preserves and pickles that are used during the winter months. Then she knows about the quantity that should be consumed the following year, and has not a lot of stuff left over at the end of the season.

Easy Threading

If embroidering with silk is very difficult to thread the needle, try this. Take a piece of ordinary sewing thread, place it alongside the silk together and put through the eye of the needle. Then push the silk through the loop formed by the sewing thread and it will go through the eye.

Banish the Uncles and Aunts

Don't fill the living room with family portraits. If you must have them, keep them in the bedroom.

Talcum Powder Puffs

Keep a can of talcum powder in the kitchen, if you are a frequent wearer of rubber gloves, and sprinkle some powder in the gloves before putting them on. This will be so much easier to take the gloves off and the powder will absorb the perspiration caused by the gloves.

Things Domestic

Celery should be kept in cold water for about an hour before using, as it will be more crisp and firm and better flavored.

Wrap the fish in the refrigerator before putting it in the refrigerator. Then the odor will not penetrate to the other foods.

In Place of a Cork

Use a piece of candle instead of a cork in the glue bottle. The glue will not dry out.

An Appetizing Rice

A Little Kerosene

A little kerosene poured in the bottom of the garbage can during these hot days will act as a disinfectant. It will also keep away bugs and pests.

Bottle Cleaner

Mix soapy water with coffee grounds together and shake the soiled or discolored vase or other bottle. Let stand overnight, then shake vigorously every hour or so, then and finally wash in clear water. Splendid results.

Slip Covers

We all enjoy covers for our furniture with slip covers during the summer, but did you ever think of making an extra slip cover for the chair that is tucked in the corner and not thrown out into the room so comfortable? It can be made for nearly so much as having it reupholstered and yet would look like a very nice appearance.

Obstinate Bureau Drawers

A little floor wax rubbed on the sides and lower edges of the bureau drawers will make them slide easily and cure any sticking.

Remove the crusts from loaf of fresh baked bread and cut in two forks pull the bread into pieces about as large as walnuts and twice as wide. Cover the bottom of a low baking pan with a sheet of brown paper, set on the pieces of bread and set in moderate oven with the oven door open until the bread is dry, then take out of the pan, remove the paper and bake until delicately browned.

SHOULDER OF PORK

Have the butcher remove the shoulder blade from a shoulder of pork and fill the pocket left by removing the bone with a dressing made by mixing two cupfuls of bread crumbs with half a cupful of finely chopped onion, one teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of marjoram, one tablespoonful of chopped parsley, one beaten egg, and one-quarter teaspoonful each of salt and pepper. Sew up the opening, press and tie into shape. Place in a roasting pan with bottom covered with sliced carrots, one sliced onion, two whole cloves, and one cupful of chopped celery; put the roast on top of the vegetables and season with salt and pepper. Roast pork, set in a hot oven, allowing fifteen minutes to the pound. Reduce the heat after twenty-five minutes and baste often, basting three times with two tablespoonfuls of butter dissolved in a cupful of boiling water.

PEACH CUP, BURLINGAME

For, each person to be served place a half of a peach that has been poached in vanilla syrup until tender and cooled. Fill a champagne glass, cover with whipped cream, cover the whipped cream with a sauce made by dissolving marshmallows in double boiler and beating into it an equal amount of whipped cream, flavored with chopped nuts and garnished with a cherry.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

HEAT PROSTRATION (No. II)

"It isn't the heat—it's the humidity." You have said this very often, no doubt. Do you really know what it means and is it true that it is the humidity rather than the heat that causes heat prostration? Yes, to a large degree, it is true.

By humidity, we mean the moisture in the air. The animal body under normal conditions has a constant temperature. The human temperature is 98.6 degrees, Farenheit. This normal temperature is maintained through a balance between the heat production of the body and the heat loss from the body, and it is regulated by a center in the brain (possibly more than one center) known as the thermogenic or heat regulation center.

The heat is produced in the body largely by the chemical processes or oxidation of the food products in the muscles. These chemical processes are increased by muscular effort. Therefore, muscular effort also increases heat production.

The heat leaves the body through the lungs on the expired air and through the skin. The heat is lost through the skin by conduction and radiation, and by evaporation of the perspiration. The amount of heat lost depends upon the amount of water in the body, clothing, and upon the temperature, moisture and motion of the surrounding air. It is found that where air is in motion, artificially, by electric fans, or by natural breezes, the evaporation is more rapid.

Apparently the evaporation of the perspiration is the most important cooling process, or the most important factor in the heat loss from the body. Under conditions of high moisture (high humidity) in the atmosphere, the perspiration does not evaporate so rapidly, and, therefore, there is a greater retention of heat in the body. So it is largely true that "it is not the heat, but the humidity." (The reason California summers are as delightful as its winters is because the humidity is low.)

As early as 1775 (Tice's Medicine) there were some experiments to prove the humidity theory. Some doctors found that in confining themselves in a closed room with the temperature as high as 239 degrees, they could remain for fifteen minutes without an elevation of body temperature, if the air was dry. In another experiment, with the temperature at only 120 degrees in moist air, their body temperatures were elevated to 100 degrees. Subsequent experiments have proved this fact—that a high temperature does not affect the body temperature so long as evaporation of perspiration goes on.

Yesterday I gave some rules for the prevention of heat prostration. We will review them briefly.

During exceedingly hot weather the diet should be lighter than usual and should consist mostly of dairy products, salads and fruits. Take tea and coffee in great moderation, no alcohol, no nicotine. Drink a great deal of water—12 to 15 glasses during the day, so as to have sufficient for copious perspiration. Keep the bowels well regulated. Take as many cold baths as possible or cold sponges. (Let the children put on their bathing suits and play under the sprinklers. You can do that too.) Wear as lightweight and as few clothes as possible and keep out of the direct sun. Try to have no physical or mental work during the hottest part of the day. Keep the electric fan going to keep the air in motion.

Tomorrow we will tell you what to do for heat prostration.

Tomorrow—Heat Prostration No. III.

My Dear Followers: When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to inclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must inclose 4 cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. OFF IN TINY VESSEL FOR WORLD TRIP

Cretan Seaman to Make This Harbor on First Leg Out of New York

Another adventurous mariner is en route to Los Angeles Harbor, sailing alone in a cockleshell craft. This time it is Dimetrios Silgelakis, Cretan seaman-restaurateur, who left New York yesterday in a twenty-two-foot sloop on his way around the world, one leg of which lengthy voyage will be completed at this port, according to word received at the harbor.

Cahcharias is the name of the young Greek's boat, which is Greek for shark. His tiny craft follows the general lines of a lifeboat, but her superstructure consists of a boxlike cabin, forty inches high. Inside this, Silgelakis says he can manipulate the sails by two hand winches when the weather is boisterous.

Alain Gerbault, French tennis star, who last year sailed a thirty-two-foot sloop across the Atlantic alone, also will leave New York for Los Angeles in his craft within the month.

Harry Pidgeon, Los Angeles yachtsman, who left this port nearly three years ago in the thirty-four-foot yawl Islander, also is homeward bound after an adventurous cruise around the world. Pidgeon left Cape of Good Hope three months ago, and will have to reach this port in November to equal the record of Capt. Josiah Slocum, who a score of years ago sailed the yawl Spray around the world in three years.

Local Heiress Taken in Store as Shoplifter

Barbara Salyards, 26-year-old woman who is said recently to have inherited $25,000, was arrested yesterday by Detectives Blackmon and Rathbun in a downtown department store on a charge of shoplifting.

DIALOGUE IN MOVIE BALL FILM SCENE

Picture Taken at Dance to be Shown That Night With Spoken Parts

A motion picture with spoken dialogue will be on the program at the Greater Movie Season ball tomorrow night at the Ambassador. Principals in scenes from "This Woman" and "The Narrow Street," which Warner Brothers will film on the ballroom floor, have learned the dialogue for their parts.

This feature will start after the completion of the first fox trot. William Beaudine will direct the scene from "The Narrow Street," with Matt Moore and Dorothy Devore in the leading roles, and Phil Rosen will have charge of the shooting of the scene from "This Woman," with Irene Rich supported by Ricardo Cortez, Marc McDermott, Clara Bow, Creighton Hale, Frank Elliott, Helen Dunbar and Otto Hoffman.

After the scenes are taken the films will be rushed to the laboratory, developed and shown to the dancers the same night.

This stunt will be one of two score arranged by the committee. A display of $250,000 worth of wraps and gowns from Cecil B. De Mille's "Fashion Pageant" and "Feet of Clay;" music by five bands; twenty-seven vaudeville acts; a dance by Fanchon and Marco, and other features are promised.

Boy is Held for Taking Sextant of Barkentine

Willie Popoff, 14 years of age, started to sea in a rowboat, but his voyage ended disastrously yesterday when he was arraigned in Judge Archbald's Juvenile Court on a charge of grand larceny.

Willie is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Popoff, 3312 Dennison street, Los Angeles Harbor. He was accused of stealing a barometer, sextant, gig and other accessories of the four-masted barkentine of Capt. J. H. Porteous, 524 West Seventeenth street, Los Angeles Harbor.

Capt. Porteous stated if he had not made an inspection of his ship before sailing it was likely he would have suffered an accident at sea.

Willie admitted, according to probation officers, that he took the ship's sextant, but he denied purloining the other equipment. It was said he had made his way out to the barkentine in the ship's gig, which he found tied to a dock.

TAXI DRIVER REPORTS HOLD-UP BY HIS FARES

L. A. Denton, taxicab driver, reported to Hollywood police yesterday that he had been robbed of $6 in currency by two men who had engaged his cab Sunday night and had ordered him to drive them to Hollywood from Pico Boulevard and Vermont avenue. The men stopped the cab at Carlton Way and Gordon street, the driver said. Denton told police he had suspected the two men and hid the larger part of his money under the seat.

AUTO DEATH CONVICTION FOR CONLIN

Ex-Police Chauffeur Held Guilty of Manslaughter in Mata Stoddard Case

Hal J. Conlin, former police chauffeur, was found guilty by a jury in Judge Jamison's court yesterday of a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death in an automobile accident on February 8, last, of Mata Stoddard, artist's model. The jury was out one hour. Conlin will be sentenced Thursday.

Miss Stoddard was injured fatally when an automobile in which she and Conlin were riding crashed into a telephone pole at First street and Commonwealth avenue. According to testimony introduced by Dep. Dist.-Attys. Ryan and Ostrom, who prosecuted the case, Conlin and the girl were both unconscious when the wreck was found.

Defense attorneys contended that Miss Stoddard was driving the machine at the time of the accident.

COMMITTEE STUDYING TRAFFIC MEETS TODAY

A meeting of the special committee appointed by officers of the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce to study the major traffic plan prepared by Harland Bartholomew, Charles Cheney and Frederick Olmstead, is scheduled for this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Hollywood Security Building. The committee has been asked by Paul G. Hoffman, president of the Los Angeles Traffic Commission, to select the improvements proposed in the plan that are needed immediately. The meeting will be held in the offices of J. B. Irsfeld, chairman of the committee. It is expected that a discussion of the proposed 200-foot boulevard between First and Hoover streets and Sunset Boulevard and Cahuenga avenue will be a feature of the meeting.

TROLLEY TRAIN HURLS YOUTH HUNDRED FEET

Oscar Berg, 21 years of age, a machinist of 251 Fifth street, Los Angeles Harbor, was struck and hurled 100 feet yesterday by a Pacific Electric train at Watson Station. Berg suffered a fractured skull. He was attended by Dr. Guy Shirey, Wilmington police surgeon, and sent to Angelus Hospital. Dr. Shirey said the youth has a good chance to recover.

HOT MOTOR CAUSES FIRE

An overheated motor, firemen say, caused a fire, which early Sunday morning damaged the store occupied by the Platt Music Company at 6614 Hollywood Boulevard, to the extent of $3000.

Veteran Uses Safety Blade to Slay Self

Ralph M. Guthrie, 33 years of age, a World War veteran, yesterday killed himself by slashing his throat with a safety-razor blade, his act being the result of suffering which he had undergone since he was gassed during the war.

The veteran and his wife lived at 1319 Cleminson street, Gardena, next door to the home occupied by Guthrie's parents. Recently his condition grew worse and he suffered intensely. A few days ago he attempted to end his life with illuminating gas. His wife, however, interrupted the attempt.

Yesterday he eluded her for a few minutes, stole out to a shed in the rear of the house and there ended his life.

ORPHANS TO SEE FILM AND EAT ICE CREAM

Several hundred children from various orphan homes in Los Angeles will be entertained with a party at the Hunley Theater, 5115 Hollywood Boulevard, Friday at 2 p.m. Through W. W. Whitson, manager of the theater, and the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, the children will see a special showing of "The Covered Wagon." They also will be given ice cream by the Globe Ice Cream Company and will take a sightseeing tour through the courtesy of several bus companies.

COUPLE ARE HELD UP

Jewelry valued at $127 was taken by three hold-up men from Miss Olda Segara, who was riding with J. A. Cress, when they were robbed Sunday night at Hyperion and Childs avenue, according to a report to Hollywood police. In addition to jewelry, the bandits obtained $1 in cash from Cress.

Will Gland Secretions Prolong Youth and Life?

Probably one of the greatest news "scoops" in years was accomplished when the report on gland experiments by Dr. Serge Voronoff, the eminent French authority on glands, was published before its reading to the Paris Society of Surgeons. As a result of his experiments Dr. Voronoff believes that men who have arrived at the age where their intellectual and physical faculties commence to diminish, or their memory becomes unreliable, their thoughts tardy, and their efforts more difficult, or where the ardors of life slacken and decline, and even end—these men will find in glandular treatment a means whereby they may combat these infirmities to prolong equally their will power and their lives.

Since the recent discovery of Glandogen, it is a simple matter to take glandular treatment. Glandogen is prepared in convenient tablet form and combines the important elements of the vital glands of healthy, young animals with other efficacious ingredients. It comes in two different forms — one for men and one for women.

Glandogen is obtainable at the Chambers Drug Co., 1st and Broadway; Henderson-Chambers Drug Co., 3rd and Main; Blaney-Chambers Drug Co., 7th and San Pedro and 5th and Los Angeles; in Long Beach at Oakford Drug Co., 211 Pine Ave.; in San Pedro, Wilmington and Torrance at Beacon Drug Stores.

BALBOA CAR IS GIVEN PREMIER

Motor Capable of Developing Hundred Horsepower

Deliveries to be Started by End of Sixty Days

Southern California's latest industrial product, the Balboa automobile, is on display in the East Indian room at the Ambassador this week. Like the intrepid explorer bearing the same name, the Balboa is seeking renown in the West first, the designers later planning to invade the eastern markets.

This new addition to western automotive circles is to be assembled in a factory at Fullerton. Deliveries will start by the end of sixty days. A quota of 1000 cars has been set by factory executives for the first year.

Organizers of the Balboa Motor Corporation, a $1,000,000 corporation, formed under the laws of the the State of California, are O. W. Heinz, president, and W. H. Radford, vice-president and chief engineer, both formerly of Detroit, where they have been active in the automotive business for the past fifteen years, and Fred G. Mott, Jr., of Los Angeles, vice-president and sales manager.

All units of the new motor car are manufactured in the East and the local plant is to serve as the main office and assembling shops. The factory is situated on six acres of ground and is of one-story sawtooth construction, 250 by 280 feet in dimension.

A vertical type 8-cylinder supercharge motor is the principal feature of the Balboa. A fortune has been spent in developing the patents covering the engine, and it is asserted that the power plant will assure 100 horsepower, thirty miles an hour in low gear and eighty miles an hour in high gear. A guarantee of twenty-five miles to a gallon of gasoline is provided with each vehicle.

Sixteen dealers on the Pacific Coast will introduce the Balboa after the car's world premier this week at the Ambassador.

PLEA FILED FOR SCHOOL OF PSYCHICS

Association Would Float $300,000 Stock to Found Arcadia Research Center

That there are approximately 25,000 members of various psychic organizations in Southern California—more than anywhere else in the country—was given as one of the chief reasons in an application of the California Science and Research Association yesterday to the State Corporation Commission for permission to issue stock for the purpose of building a psychic research school at Arcadia.

The association asks authority to dispose of $300,000 worth of stock and to utilize at least a portion of the proceeds to acquire six acres of land on which an option has been obtained.

It is proposed in the application to establish a school for "scientific research along psychic lines" at Arcadia and to erect and maintain a hotel, clubhouse and camp grounds in the district.

W. Heinlein, 1105 Black Building, is named as president of the association, Charles E. Hobart, secretary, and Rose F. Gilardoin, vice-president. The directors, according to the application, are D. J. Gessler, Christ Volz, Lillian V. Gessler, Anna Volz, Loris V. Cady and Alfred W. Hare, besides the officers.

Angeleno Falls From Mountain Trail; May Die

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Aug. 25.—Wesley P. Tallis of 977 Fifty-fourth street, Los Angeles, lies in Pasadena Hospital near death as a result of injuries suffered late yesterday when he fell fifty feet from a near-by mountain trail. He is suffering from a fractured skull and body bruises.

Tallis fell while endeavoring to take a short cut on the Sturdevant trail between Fern Lodge and Sierra Madre. His cries were heard by Dr. R. A. Krouse and J. G. Flournoy, Los Angeles residents, who, after administering first aid, brought him to the Pasadena hospital.

LEGION MEN PLEASED

Appreciate Ruling Assuring Work on Flood Projects

D. M. Clafin, director of the American Legion Service Department, yesterday expressed the appreciation of ex-service men for the ruling by County Supervisor McClellan that former service men and members of the American Legion are to be given first consideration on work in the flood control projects. Several hundred men will be employed in these projects, it is said.

Mr. Clafin stated also that the service department stands ready to supply able craftsmen to the contractors who call upon it.

TWO TAKEN IN DRY NET

Quantity of Liquor Also Seized by Federal Agents

Federal prohibition officers and police yesterday arrested Antonio Vitgliana and H. W. Brown at 2657½ West Ninth street following a raid in which it was reported several gallons of liquor were seized. The defendants were released under bond.

Harry Cohen was held by the Federal officers following his arrest at the Glendale Tavern, Glendale. The officers reported liquor was found there and that an information charging violation of the Volstead Act is being prepared against others said to be connected with the tavern.

HERE TO BOOST BIRTH CONTROL

Sees Practice as Child Labor Panacea

Mrs. Anne Kennedy

IN ORDER to stimulate interest in birth control and to organize a local league, Mrs. Anne Kennedy, national secretary of the American Birth Control League, arrived in this city yesterday for an indefinite stay. She has been in San Francisco for the last few weeks, where she organized a branch of the league.

Mrs. Kennedy stated yesterday that it is the desire of the league that families be regulated by intelligence, so that a family be only as large as can be taken care of properly, as far as food, clothing and education are concerned. She stated that in her opinion, if birth control is exercised child labor would be reduced to a minimum, for it is only when the family is large and the income small that the children are forced out to work at an early age.

In March of next year the first International Birth Control Conference will be held in New York City, according to Mrs. Kennedy. Then delegates from practically every country in the world will meet for conference and discussion. Holland and Australia are at present the two foreign countries which have adopted this idea.

Mrs. Kennedy intends to lecture before both the men's and women's clubs during the fall and winter, and will confer with physicians and scientists while here. Members of the league do not carry on an aggressive campaign, she said, but ask that birth control information be given out in the public health work and also be mailed on request.

PLEAS MADE FOR VISIT OF SCOUT BAND

Many Towns on Route to State Fair Wire in Concert Requests

A deluge of telegraphic appeals for concerts by the Boy Scouts of Los Angeles Band has followed the announcement that these young musicians are to leave here Thursday by automobile to participate next Sunday in State-wide band contests at the California State fair at Sacramento.

Every effort will be made by Scout Executive E. B. DeGroot and Band Leader Philip Memoli to permit communities to hear the boys play but a definite schedule has been arranged by Mr. DeGroot and Rex Budeller, chairman of the Boys' Welfare Committee of the Los Angeles Rotary Club, which is sponsoring the journey.

Assembling early Thursday morning at Pershing Square the fifty-piece band will board two new Moreland Motor Company trucks, donated by Will R. Forker, of this corporation, and in charge of E. A. Epperson, manager of transportation. Barring occasional stops for brief serenades, the band will proceed directly to Bakersfield where there is to be a public reception and concert, jointly arranged by the Bakersfield Rotarians, the Bakersfield Scouts and representatives of the Moreland Company. The musicians and their adult leaders will remain there over night and on Friday noon give a concert at Fresno and another that evening at Modesto.

Stockton Rotarians and Scouts will welcome the boys for a midday concert on Saturday and the following day the Scouts will attempt to win high awards at the fair.

Playing at Oakland on Monday, the Scouts will journey to the University of California for a brief visit and then south to the Leland Stanford, Jr. University. King City will have a concert Tuesday night and Santa Barbara at mid-day Wednesday.

An insurance policy of $250,000 has been donated for the boy musicians by Jack Negley of Burton & Co., a Rotarian active in boys' work.

Papers Signed in Spreckels Deal for Hill Corner

Papers were signed yesterday for the purchase of the Seventh and Hill Building by Claus Spreckels, general manager of the Spreckels interests in San Francisco, for a reported consideration of $2,500,000. Announcement of the initial negotiations in the transaction was made public several months ago.

This is the first extension of the Spreckels interests in the downtown district of Los Angeles and the preliminary step in the acquisition of other valuable holdings here.

According to Benjamin W. Whitmarsh, local representative for Claus Spreckels, final details in the deal were completed yesterday when Mr. Spreckels personally signed the documents prior to his departure for the north.

Merchants Seek Absolute Ban on Street Parades

A petition was presented to the City Council yesterday, signed by virtually all the merchandising and manufacturing concerns and organizations in the downtown area, asking that parades be prohibited absolutely in the congested district.

The Council took the petition under advisement.

An ordinance is now being considered, prohibiting parades except with the consent of the Council. The new proposal would not allow them with even Council permission.

BALDWIN'S DAUGHTER FILES SUIT

Asks Partitioning of Land She Deeded for Founding of Girls' School

In a suit filed yesterday in Superior Court, Anita M. Baldwin, daughter of the late E. J. ("Lucky") Baldwin, asked a decree partitioning approximately 200 acres of land of the Rancho La Merced, deeded by Mrs. Baldwin to the late Charles A. Canfield in 1913 for the establishment of a school for girls.

The suit was directed at Daisy C. Moreno, formerly Daisy Canfield Danziger; Florence E. Whitney, Eileen Canfield Himes, formerly Eileen E. Canfield; Caroline C. Spaulding and Dorothy Canfield Cheseldine, formerly Dorothy Canfield, both as individuals and as trustees of the trust estate created by Canfield in his will.

Mrs. Baldwin deeded the property in question to Canfield in May, 1913. Canfield died the following August and, according to Mrs. Baldwin, he bequeathed the property in trust for the purpose of founding a girls' school as set forth in the deed previously executed by Mrs. Baldwin.

Mrs. Baldwin brought a suit for reconveyance of the property last year on the ground the school had never been built and she was granted a one-half undivided interest in the property by Judge Crail.

Mrs. Baldwin is represented by Attorney Garret W. McEnerney.

PHOTOPLAY CONCERN DECLARED BANKRUPT

RECEIVER APPOINTED FOR GLAVEY-DUNAWAY COMPANY

Frank Honn filed a petition in bankruptcy with the United States District Court yesterday against he Glavey-Dunaway Productions Company, a motion-picture concern. Ernest U. Schroeter was appointed receiver. The petitioner's claim is for $1652, which, he says, was assigned to him by John J. Glavey, to whom the money was due as salary at the rate of $100 a week. According to the petitioner the Glavey-Dunaway company committed an act of bankruptcy last May by removing its assets from Los Angeles to New York.

BODY IDENTIFIED AS PEETE'S

Identification of the body of a man who shot and killed himself Saturday in a Tucson (Ariz.) hotel as that of R. C. Peete, husband of Mrs. Louise Peete, convicted as the slayer of Jacob C. Denton, was made by police there yesterday on description of Peete furnished by the local police, dispatches from the Arizona city stated.

Police here sent the description following receipt of a telegram stating that R. C. Peete or R. C. Patterson had committed suicide. No identification marks were found, except a knife with the partly worn inscription and initials R. C. P. on his clothing. All letters of identification had been removed, the dispatches stated.

CLEWS ON BODY

When the message was received, the police here expressed the belief that the body was that of Peete, because of the clews and because of the fact that shortly after Peete's wife was sentenced to life for the slaying of the millionaire mining man, Peete went to Arizona seeking relief from tuberculosis.

Peete had registered at the hotel under the name of R. C. Patterson of St. Louis. His body was found yesterday morning. The Coroner at Tucson pronounced the wounds self-inflicted. Chief of Police Ford at Tucson announced that the identification had been verified by the Los Angeles description.

The body of Jacob C. Denton, for whose death Mrs. Peete was sentenced to a live term in San Quentin, was found buried in the cellar of his mansion at 675 South Catalina street on September 23, 1920. For many months thereafter the authorities of Los Angeles county were confronted with the most baffling murder mystery of recent years.

WAS HOUSEKEEPER

Mrs. Peete had been Denton's housekeeper. The mining man was last seen alive three months before the finding of the body. His extended absence aroused a few of his friends who, after fruitless searches for him, eventually visited the Catalina-street house in quest of some clew that might lead to his whereabouts.

In the basement of the house the investigators found a rudely constructed room, recently built from shipping boxes. The lock was broken from the door and within the little room a pile of earth was revealed. This was removed and the body of Denton was found.

Mrs. Peete had returned to her home in Denver several weeks prior to the ghastly discovery, but the last shovelful of earth had not been removed from the corpse when her name was linked with the tragedy. She was found in Denver and, though she admitted she had lived for three months in Denton's house, she denied all knowledge of the crime.

At the time of the tragedy, a divorce suit filed by Peete against his wife was pending in the Denver courts. When Mrs. Peete was extradited to Los Angeles, after the accumulation of a mass of evidence against her, Peete withdrew his divorce suit and resolved to fight for his wife's freedom. For many months thereafter Peete was constantly beside his wife, caring for her 4-year-old daughter Betty, while the mother was passing through the ordeals of the grand jury investigation, while she was held in the County Jail and during her long trial on the murder charge.

The couple were married in Denver in February, 1915. Early in 1917, when their daughter was less than a year of age they became temporarily separated. They were reconciled, only to experience a second separation. Peete went to China on a business trip. He returned in broken health and his illness again drew them together. Their third separation took place when Mrs. Peete came to Los Angeles in May, 1920, at which time she first met Denton.

At all times after the launching of the murder investigation Peete remained loyal to his wife and repeatedly expressed a belief that she was innocent of the murder of Denton. But Peete's battle for the exoneration of his wife was a hopeless one. She was tried in Judge Willis's court and found guilty of murder in the first degree on February 5, 1921. Peete, as usual, stood beside her as she received the verdict of the jury.

SAYS LEAGUE HALTED WARS

Japanese Member of Secretariat at Geneva Asserts Body Has Averted Four Possible Conflicts

The League of Nations already has been instrumental in averting four possible wars, according to Ken Harada, Japanese member of the secretariat of that body, attached to its headquarters at Geneva, Switzerland.

Mr. Harada, now a guest at the Clark here, is on his way to Geneva after a several months' leave of absence spent in Japan. He was formerly one of the secretaries connected with the Japanese Department of Foreign Affairs. Upon the organization of the League he was appointed a member of its secretariat, which post he has held for four years.

VALUABLE SERVICES

"The League has had many obstacles to overcome," said Mr. Harada. "The failure of the United States to join has interfered somewhat with its functioning. Nevertheless it has performed valuable services, not only in a political way but outside of politics."

The four controversies in which Mr. Harada is of the opinion that the League has prevented hostilities include the difference between Sweden and Finland over the Aaland Islands, the quarrel between Lithuania and Poland over the city of Vilna, the difficulties of Jugo-Slavia and Albania over fixing the boundary, and the comparatively recent trouble between Italy and Greece relating to the island of Corfu.

"In all these cases an amicable settlement has been effected through the offices of the League," Mr. Harada said. "In addition, the organization has taken a leading part in furthering relief work in Russia and other regions where want prevailed, and its work along the line of curbing the narcotic evil, which led to an international conference on this subject last year, has been the most important ever accomplished in this direction.

NIPPON LESS BITTER

"The importance of the League as a factor in world politics is growing constantly. Where the first sessions were attended chiefly by politicians of minor importance, an active part in its operations is now taken by the Premiers and leaders in politics of the different countries numbered among its members."

Speaking of the present relations between the United States and Japan, Mr. Harada stated that the bitterness against this country among the common people of Japan is subsiding.

"The recent Exclusion Act created much excitement among a certain class," he said. "On the part of reasonably well-informed Japanese, however, the attitude of the United States was better understood and the enactment of the exclusion law was not so much resented. Of course, trade relations between the two countries will be continued, and in my opinion, the whole matter will soon be forgotten."

LOTTERY IS SUSPECTED IN KILLINGS

Two Japanese Declared to Have Had Trouble on Gambling Activities

The theory that Kachemi Igarashi and M. Yoshioki were done to death by hirelings of a giant lottery ring whose enmity they had aroused was advanced by witnesses yesterday at the preliminary hearing of two Japanese charged with the murder of the men.

The men on trial are T. S. Tanohe and F. K. Kimoto. Three others are being sought in connection with the murders. The hearing is in progress in Justice Russell's court.

Yesterday Dep. Dist.-Atty. Vobayda, who is prosecuting the case against the two suspects, summoned Iwaji Fachuwakie to the stand and quizzed him at length regarding the slain men's gambling activities. The witness stated that the two victims were members of a semisecret organization and that there had been considerable trouble between the members over gambling. He said further that there was some gambling at the headquarters of this organization and more drinking.

The witness intimated that the men may have been killed by other gamblers and Vobayda announced that he would fully investigate this angle of the case.

WHISKY IN GARAGE SEIZED BY POLICE

Fifty-nine cases of asserted Scotch whisky were seized by vice-squad officers yesterday in a garage at the rear of 990 South Oxford street. C. H. Phillips, 32 years of age, a mechanic who lives at that address, disclaimed any knowledge of the liquor and said he rented the garage to another man. Although Phillips asked the officers to let him aid them in locating the owner, he was booked at the City Jail for asserted violation of the Wright Act. The liquor, with the exception of a small quantity saved for evidence, was destroyed.

GOLFER HIT BY CLUB ON COURSE FILES SUIT

Earl Hamble of Long Beach has a golf story that seldom is told. He recounted it yesterday in the form of a suit for $6413 damages against C. J. Colby, also a golf fan of Long Beach. Hamble, according to his complaint, went out to the Long Beach Municipal Course September 29, 1923, to engage in a round. As he was awaiting his turn at tee No. 1, he said, a driver which Colby had been swinging came flying through the air and struck him in the mouth. As a result, Hamble continued, he suffered a broken jaw, lost a tooth and experienced pains.

IRISH TENOR TO SING

Lovers of Irish music will be treated to a series of recitals this week when the Irish tenor, William A. Steffen, will sing each evening, beginning tonight, at Westlake Park. Typical Irish melodies and popular ballads made famous by John McCormick and John Steele will compose the programs. The evening recitals will begin at 8:15 o'clock and a special Sunday afternoon concert will be given at 2 p.m.

UNITED VETERAN MEETING

The regular meeting of Los Angeles Unit No. 107 of the United Veterans of the Republic will be held tomorrow evening, Commander H. J. L. Atwood announced. He urges members to be present in the Disabled Veterans' Hall at 246 South Hill street. Meetings heretofore held on Thursday will be called on Wednesday evening, he says.

RAIL CONDUCTOR FINED

H. W. Ickes, charged with violating the Interstate Commerce law, pleaded guilty yesterday before Federal Judge James and was fined $100. Ickes and Miss Madge Burnham were arrested recently on information that the latter had traveled from Las Vegas, Nev., to Los Angeles on a pass issued by the Union Pacific Railroad to Ickes, a conductor, for the use of Mr. Ickes. The charge against Miss Burnham was dismissed.

FANNY HERSELF

MISS BRICE KNOCKOUT IN NEW CHARACTER SONGS

By Grace Kingsley

The Orpheum management is certainly wrapping up the regular jewels and sending them west these days. There is no paste on the bill this week.

Fannie Brice with her bobbed hair and her new bobbed nose is with us as away-up-at-the-top headliner. Her new songs get the silver loving cup, especially the burlesque Russian number and the song about the movie kid. Fannie's new nose certainly does improve her looks. She gives us some more drama—Fannie just can't be happy unless she does a tear-teaser—and while I suppose that the critic should rave over her artistry, I must say that I hate her wasting the time she uses up in making us cry. She does, but after all, what of it? After the drama is out of her system she gives us another helping of the Yidd'sher Indian maid, which is welcome as flowers in spring.

Jack Clifford brings us another deaf rube, this time the house detective, and is funnier than ever. Jack's former pretty girl partner has left him, is married and living in this city, I believe, and he has never annexed another lady to his act, his piano player acting most capably as feeder. His voice is the same sweet old tenor as of yore.

For hoofing, Gene Morgan has the most of the steppers who show themselves looking like snails with the hookworm. He reaped the noise yesterday.

Henry Regal and Company step on it in the novelty casting act, doing some dangerous stunts that make the women in the audience scream. They are on the amen spot, and you had better not leave.

Charles Kaley is a nice-looking boy with a jazz band and a nice voice. Jazz bands are getting so thick these days that they have to be something uncommon to get our attention. Kaley's band used to tickle the toes of dancers at the Rendezvous Cafe, and at present they are just another jazz band, even though an excellent one. The lighting effects are negligible, the boys somehow don't come out of their background, and they need a dancer or another vocalist for high-light effect.

Opening up is the Radio Robot, a novelty radio act presented by Messrs. Bayley and Simmons, which registers a real hit.

The charming Blossom Seeley remains over to enchant with her rhythmic jazz dancing, and Neville Fleeson and Ann Greenway, with songs and characterizations, again prove what very fine artists they are.

PORTER OPUS CALLS DOWN AT MISSION

There isn't an unnecessary leg nor a bit of jazz in it, but if you would hark back to your days spent in the Sunday-school library, when all the emotions you were permitted to read about were painted in joyous pink and white and loyal blue, with never a smattering of red pigment or purple, why, go down to the Mission and view The Girl of the Limberlost." It won't hurt you a bit. In fact, maybe it will bring back a remembrance of your own poignantly youthful emotions, which you experienced, wondering all the while why they weren't like those of the heroine in the Sunday-school books.

Gene Stratton Porter is a naturalist, not a romancer. Yet her books have sold by the hundred thousand; so who am I to say that she can impale a butterfly but not a plot?

In "The Girl of the Limberlost" there is the poor young heroine from the country, who catches butterflies for a living and who is just too clever and cool and witty for anything; the catty young rich lady from the city; the boy beloved of both girls; and the extra male in love with the catty young lady for her to fall back on when the young heroine cops the hero.

Some excellent acting is done by the cast. Gloria Gray as the subdeb butterfly-catcher, gives a good characterization and looks pretty. Gertrude Olmstead as the mean girl, plays it to the life. Why, Gertie, we didn't know you could be so catty! Raymond McKee and Cullen Landis as the cake-eater heroes are nice, pleasing youths. The honors, it seems to me, really are carried off by Emily Fitzroy, who brings real drama in as the half-crazed wife who had seen her husband sink into the quicksands.

Larry Semon's art is something we don't bother about discussing, because he doesn't bother about talking about it himself, I suppose. He just makes us laugh, that's all—laugh every minute. His comedy "Lightning," is a knockout.

Beverly Bayne Comes Back

Due to the very fine work she has been doing, Beverly Bayne has signed a long-term contract with Warner Brothers and will appear in a number of important productions.

Julanne Johnston Heard From

Julanne Johnston, the graceful screen artist and dancer who played opposite Douglas Fairbanks in "The Thief of Bagdad," has left Paris post-haste for London. In the English capital she is to play the lead in one more foreign production before returning to this country.

With her mother, and accompanied much of the time by Mae Marsh and her mother, Julanne has been enjoying a combination vacation, shopping tour and sight-seeing month in Paris. Previously she had spent over a month playing the lead in a German, Berlin-made production, "Garragan," under the direction of Europe's most famous director, Dr. Wolff.

Latest advices received here do not state the title of the new picture, nor the producer or director, but it is of English financing and is to be made in Switzerland and England. Julanne's many friends had expected her to return on the same ship with the Marshes, with whom she and her mother spent nearly all their time abroad this year—and indeed, Julanne has a contracted screen engagement to begin this fall locally—but evidently the Princess of Bagdad decided to take advantage of her trip and remain as long as possible.

Musical Comedienne Is Back Again

Fannie Brice,

PROGRAM MOVES SLOWLY

Something has happened at the Hillstreet this week, for it seems that a greater portion of the acts are lacking in pep and entertainment. If it were not for Ernest R. Ball, who has been seen here many times, and the Kelly sisters, the program as a whole would be below average. Probably the trouble lies in the fact that there is not sufficient variety, because several of the acts are composed of one or two persons dancing or singing.

Ernest Ball, musical composer, seems to be a hit wherever he goes. Every time he plays his song sensations there is a burst of enthusiasm from the audience. He has a new song, which he introduces with fairly good success, considering that the song has only been played for about two weeks. The Kelly sisters have a lively group of song numbers presented in an attractive manner. Both girls have a pleasing personality, which is the main feature of the skit.

Donald Kerr and Effie Weston have a combination of acrobatic maneuvers, smart songs and dances in their presentation that are effective, but rather slow. A final wind-up puts the act over fairly well. Joe Weston and Grace Eline have a conglomeration of foolish chatter about nothing at all. If you like a line of continual chatter in an almost funny way you will like this act. Claude Anderson and Leona Yvel have a clever offering featuring roller skating.

The Stewart sisters and their musical organization of jazz instrumentalists have an act that is rather draggy. While the dancing numbers of the two sisters are creditable, the musical arrangements of the Golden West's Girls' Band is below standard. With a better score, the band might be passable.

RUDY IN PICTURE WITHOUT EXTRAS

There are no "extras" in "Monsieur Beaucaire."

In the usual costume photoplay the general policy has been to have several groups of players serving merely as background for the star and the featured players. But in this picturization of Booth Tarkington's famous story which stars Rudolph Valentino, Forrest Halsey, who adapted it has given almost every one of the large number of characters parts to play which have an important bearing on the story. He did this, as he explained, as the nobility pictured are all real characters and he found it advisable to portray the more important incidents in the lives of these people so that the different turn of events in the story could be more easily understood. It is in the portrayal of these incidents that so many people in the cast received bits to play.

Valentino plays the dashing Duke de Chartres who, by reason of intrigue in which he becomes involved, becomes Monsieur Beaucaire, a barber. Sidney Olcott directed "Monsieur Beaucaire," which is now in its third week at Grauman's Million Dollar Theater.

NEW INGRAM PICTURE ON VIEW AT TALLY'S

Rex Ingram, producer of "Scaramouche" and "The Four Horsemen," has made another fine photoplay in "The Arab," the Metro-Goldwyn picture which is now showing at Tally's Theater. Ramon Novarro and Alice Terry have the principal roles, that of a sheik's son, and a missionary's daughter. The young Bedouin falls in love with the Christian girl, and through his tribe saves her and her father from intended massacre by the Mohammedans.

The story, taken from the stage play written and acted by Edgar Selwyn, is ideal for the famous trio, for Ingram shows his genius in an entirely new form of picture, and Miss Terry and Mr. Novarro look and act better than ever. The film was made in Northern Africa.

A. B. Stewart is Accused of Fish Laws Violation

"Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Aug. 25.—Alexander B. Stewart, millionaire president of the Curtis Corporation, fish packers, today was arrested on a warrant charging violation of the fish and game law. He gave $50 bail for appearance Friday before Police Judge Helwig. It is understood the charge is for buying short fish.

Stewart also was arrested March 22, 1923, in a raid on the Curtis plant by dry officers, who said they found him driving an automobile containing five cases of whisky. This case still is pending in Federal court.

MICHIGAN PICNIC PLANNED

Announcement was made yesterday by S. O. Beery, president of the Michigan State Society, of the fall picnic Sunday, September 7, at Sycamore Grove. The Park Department has issued a permit giving the society the use of the park on that date. Sacred hour services will be conducted.

LAST FOUR CONCERTS

Hollywood Bowl Season Will End Saturday Night

The first of the four last concerts on the Hollywood Bowl program for the 1924 season will be given tonight.

Conductor Alfred Hertz has arranged three especially pleasing numbers with an eye to variety. Beethoven's Fifth Symphony, one of the greatest works of all time, will open the program.

The next number will be given for the first time in the West. Hertz will conduct Deems Taylor's suite "Through a Looking Glass." This is said to be a beautiful, rythmic piece and will undoubtedly be one of the hits of the program.

To close the program Stravinsky's "Fire Birds" suite will be given.

Thursday night's program will probably draw the biggest audience of the week as it is to be Young Artists' Night in honor of the three winners of the recent young artists' concert in the Bowl. Lois Rutlitz, Violet Stallcup and Hans Wippler will appear, and because of their excellent work in the contest are certain of being warmly received.

Wagner's music will fill Friday night's bill, with the final concert of the season on Saturday being given over to the works of such favorites as Beethoven, Tschaikowsky, Kreisler, Wagner and others.

GRAUMAN PROLOGUE AT GROVE TONIGHT

The Cocoanut Grove will be a veritable "City of Dreams" tonight when the Sid Grauman prologue of that name will be moved from the Egyptian Theater to the Ambassador Hotel.

The event bids fair to become one of the outstanding social events of the season and the first time any Sid Grauman presentation has been offered outside of the Egyptian. In addition to the regular prologue, which is being offered as a prelude to Douglas Fairbanks's "The Thief of Bagdad," the entertainment will number specialties by Lewis and Kellogg, Scheffer and Losee, Edward Abdo (Arabian tenor,) the twenty Nautch Dancing Maidens, the Bagdad pageant and other features. This was arranged by courtesy of Sid Grauman before that eminent showman left on his European sojourn.

CHINESE FOOD EXPERT TO SPEAK HERE TODAY

WILL BE LUNCHEON GUEST OF PAN-PACIFIC UNION CHAPTER

The honored guest of the Los Angeles Chapter of the Pan-Pacific Union, Wu Lien Tu, representing the Republic of China at the Pan-Pacific Food Conservation Congress at Honolulu in September, will speak at the luncheon of the union at Hotel Clark at noon today. Mr. Wu also is a director of the Manchurian Plague Prevention Service and physician extraordinary for the Republic of China.

Members of the Chamber of Commerce, the World Traders, the China Club and the Japan Society have been asked to attend the meeting as guests of the Los Angeles chapter.

Lorrin Andrews, president of the chapter, will be presiding chairman of the meeting.

Two Laugh Acts Features of New Pantages Bill

The laughs have it. Meaning that the two comedy acts on the current Pantages bill just about run away with the applause, and that with the remaining offerings registering well above the average mark.

Dan Downing is the heart of the show. Dan, with his zippy songs, clever lines and musical assistance from Buddy, the boy with the violin. Dan calls the act "The Cheerful Pessimist and His Pal," but there isn't any pessimism at all. It's just humor all the way through. This young comedian doesn't rest on his laurels, either, but highlights a couple of other presentations on the bill.

Jarrow, the mystic, offers his novelty, "Sawing a Lemon in Half," which sounds like comedy, but is more than that. Jarrow has a good line, which he pretends is not getting over, which gives rise to a few more comic situations. And his magic appears really a bit puzzling, as well as merely skillful.

"Forgive and Forget" holds the screen, starring Estelle Taylor, Pauline Garon, Philo McCullough, Wyndham Standing, Raymond McKee, Joseph Swickard, Vernon Steele and Lionel Belmore, among others. Jack Dempsey's latest, "All Swell on the Ocean," is the remaining attraction.

DUSKY STARS DUE IN PHILHARMONIC REVUE

"Steppin' High," one of the newest and one of the few attractions of its kind to visit the Pacific Coast comes to the Philharmonic Auditorium for one week, starting September 8. According to all advance notices received, the show holds the promise of lots of peppy entertainment for fun and jazz-loving audiences. It is a musical melange built along the revue lines with much dancing, singing and comedy that is put over with a punch by a clever troupe of colored players.

The company is traveling in two cars carrying special scenic and lighting effects, combined with special musical numbers making the show one of great attractiveness. The cast is headed by Hazel Meyers and an organization of over sixty-five players including Dike Thomas, Strawberry Russell, Mary Richards, Richard Courtney, Leonidas Simmons, the "Steppin' High" Quartet, Three Black Aces, The Seven Strutters, Thurston Briggs and a large chorus of thirty dusky maidens who can step high, wide and fast.

CARROLL REVUE HAS TWO SCREEN PLAYERS

Two artists who have been prominently identified with the screen will be in the company which presents "Harry Carroll's Pickings" at the newly-named Orange Grove Theater, when that house opens September 4.

Eddie Lambert is one. While lately he has been going over the Orpheum Circuit in his comic act with "Miss Minnie Fish, late of the New York Aquarium," he formerly was one of the chief comedians with the Century Comedies.

Another is Miss Billye Beck, who is now at the Christie studios with a two-year contract. She also was a former Orpheum star. She was here two years ago in an act with that organization and was taken ill with appendicitis. After the operation she remained here, and soon became identified with the movies, first at the Hal Roach studios.

"SINGLE WIVES" WILL RETURN TO ALHAMBRA

Greater Movie Season "promised bigger and better pictures," and as a result one of the season's triumphs has been booked to hold forth next week at the Alhambra Theater. The picture is "Single Wives," which stars Corrine Griffith and Milton Sills with the substantial support of Kathlyn Williams, Lou Tellegen, Henry B. Walthall and others of prominence.

As an added attraction the playhouse has placed upon the same program Harry Langdon's newest riot of fun, "The First Hundred Years."

LONG BEACH WITHOUT DETECTIVES AT NIGHT

"Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Aug. 25.—Crime committed after 5 p.m. during the remainder of this month and in September, at least, will have to get itself detected by policemen in uniform. Capt. J. B. Worley of the detective bureau issued orders today closing the bureau at 5 o'clock. The action came after the City Council had cut the safety fund of the budget to the appropriation of last year, a reduction of $101,000 from the figure asked for. Capt. Worley said the action was taken because of lack of men. He found himself today with two men for night duty, he said, one on the desk and one for detail work.

HIGH LICENSE SOUGHT FOR TENT EXHIBITIONS

A high license tax for all circuses and other entertainments under canvas was asked yesterday of the Finance Committee of the City Council by the Motion-Picture Theater Owners of Southern California, the suggested fee being $175 for the first day and $100 a day thereafter. The committee took the request under advisement. It was pointed out that such a tax would virtually prohibit most of the charity entertainments given under canvas.
